HANS PEDERSON TO PROCEED WITH THE AUDITORIUM

Seattle Contractor to Ahead Despite Failure to Get Release of Council,

ATTORNEY SERVES NOTICE

My Client Is Not a Quitter, Although He Bid Too Low for the Job," Declares the Counsel.

Hans Pederson, Seattle contractor. will build the public auditorium for is original bid of $317,400, according o information given the city council oday by Harrison Allen, his attorney. Work will begin as soon as the excaation is completed, which will probbly be before the end of this month. The acceptance of the contract omes after numerous attempts had been made to have the council allow im to withdraw his offer. While Mr. Pederson's bid is far too ow," said Mr. Allen this morning, "he s not a quitter, but will go through with it. We tried in every honorable way to get out from under, but as the council has seen fit to hold Mr. Peerson to his original offer, he will go have meant only litigation and a delay constructing the auditorium." The contract was drafted yesterday y City Attorney La Roche, and Mr.

New York Times—"It is a grave crisis, the atmosphere at Washington is charged with passion and excitement. There are indiscretions of utterance, and when words are attributed o the president of the United States which he never could or would have spoken. But there must be an end to it, it will come promptly, it can * come in only one way. Democrats Must Support Wilson.

"The Democrats of congress will * support the president in his resolve * to maintain the honor of the country, the rights and liberties of its people. The Democratic party is about to appeal to the country for a renewed vote of confidence. Let it desert the president now, let it show a craven heart and an alien spirit in the vote which the president demands of congress, and the indignant people will sweep it from power as unworthy of trust, as incompetent for the duties and responsibilities of government."

Syracuse Journal (Independent)-"With the situation as it is today in Europe, it is almost absurd to specuate over the possibility of the United * States not becoming a belligerent in 🛊 some form against the central powers in the event of a break."

Wilson Knows the Facts

Syracuse Herald (Democratic)-"The executive knows all the inside facts of our latest controversy with Germany. and congress does not. Aside from that, any attempt by congress to conduct the foreign policy of the government in detail or in whole would not only be a usurpation of the executive's constitutional power, but also repugnant to common sense."

Street's Chance to Solve the Riddle

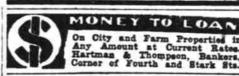

On Division street in the 1700 block there lives a man whose initials are H. L. L. He is extremely happy because he broke away from an ancient habit. For 28 years he has resided in Portland, and for 23 he subscribed to only one newspaper. Then one day he added his name to The Journal's big list.

The man in question owns a modern house out on East Sixty-second street, In November his tenant departed. The place remained empty, and he hurried to the office of the newspaper he had read since a young man and inserted a two line ad. Still the house remained empty. A few days ago he happened read about the hustling character of Journal want ads. "Ten words for 15 cents," said he, "that's nothing, and I'm going to take a chance." "I received 34 replies to that little ad," he confessed yesterday. "Better still, the first man who answered it took a year's lease on my house. The Journal ad got me the business -all the other ad got me was a bill, and the bill was just three times the amount I paid for The Journal ad."
