

SPANIARD IS SUNK, 445 ON HER MISSING

London Hears That Spanish Steamer Principe de Asturias Has Gone Down and That Many of Her Passengers and Crew Are Lost.

BRITISH STEAMER, THE MASUNDA, TORPEDOED

All Those on Board Her Reported Saved, Including 2 American Passengers; She Was Traveling in the Mediterranean Sea.

London, March 6.—(I. N. S.)—Four hundred and forty-five persons are believed to have met death in the sinking of the Spanish steamship Principe de Asturias after striking a rock, according to a dispatch received here today by Lloyd's from Santos.

The Principe de Asturias registered 8271 tons and plied between Buenos Aires and Barcelona. The liner struck a rock east of San Sebastian, Spain.

Another Spanish steamer rushed to the scene of the disaster and is now searching for survivors.

The fact that Lloyd's information came from Santos, Brazil, leads to the belief that the wreck occurred off the Brazilian coast, somewhere near Buenos Aires.

The Principe de Asturias was built in 1914, and had only been in service a few months. It was a twin screw vessel of 8170 tons, 459 feet long with a 58 foot beam.

CONGRESS HOPES U. S. CITIZENS WILL STAY HOME, STATES MANN

McLemore Resolution Is to Be Considered Tomorrow Morning by the House.

Washington, March 6.—(I. N. S.)—"Our main hope is that our citizens will be so advised that we want have about the British steamer Masunda, sunk in the Mediterranean.

This is the attitude of a majority of members of congress on the belated armed merchantmen controversy, according to Representative Mann of Illinois, leader of the minority in the house.

Man's declaration provoked a spirited debate. "A large number of gentlemen on both sides of the house," said Representative Gardner, "are moving their heads and hands to prevent consideration of the McLemore resolution."

"Fake Resolution Opposed." "We don't want a fake resolution," said Representative Gardner, "setting to rights while some fool who has no right for Americans to travel on armed belligerents, it is the sense of this house that it would be best if"

WOMEN'S WAGE FIGHT IS BEGUN BY EMPLOYERS

Protests Against Proposed Changes in Rulings of Industrial Welfare Commission Made at Meeting.

MAY LAUNCH PLAN TO REPEAL PRESENT LAW

Statute Permanently Fixing Minimum Wages and Hours Contemplated.

This afternoon employers are meeting at the Chamber of Commerce to protest against the suggested changes to the rulings of the industrial welfare commission.

It is contemplated that this meeting will launch a movement to repeal the law which created the Industrial Welfare Commission and enact in its stead a law permanently fixing a minimum wage for women employees.

Employers stated this morning that they had such a move in contemplation, but it was not decided whether the proposed law and repeal of the industrial welfare commission act would be initiated and submitted to the voters or be taken before the legislature.

Changes Meet Opposition. The meeting this afternoon is being held by the Industrial Association of Oregon, which was organized since the protest arose against suggested changes to the commission's present rulings.

Changes to the commission's rulings, which are being presented to the commission for adoption, were suggested by a sub-committee of a conference appointed to codify the present rulings of the commission.

In its report to the conference of nine persons, representing equally the employers, the public and the employees, the committee suggested amendments limiting the hours that women may be employed to nine hours a day and 48 hours a week.

COMMITTEE IS TO DRAFT NEW LAND MEASURE

Chamberlain-Ferris Bill to Be Basis of Substitute O. & C. Grant Measures Now Pending in Congress.

Recommendations of Interior Department Are Looked to for Policy.

Washington, March 6.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)—Now that Secretary Lane has submitted to congress the views of the interior department as to what should be done with the Oregon & California land grant, all cards are upon the table and the house committee on public lands, using the Chamberlain-Ferris bill as a basis, will soon carve out a substitute for all the proposals offered.

First came the attorney general, who stated the law of the case, as he believes it to be. He suggested numerous amendments to the Chamberlain draft, which the Oregon senator accepted, and which are embraced in the bill as it was introduced in the house by Ferris of Oklahoma, chairman of the committee.

Railroad View Presented. Then the Southern Pacific company, through J. P. Blair, its general counsel, presented the railroad view of the effect of the supreme court decision, renewing the claim that the railroad is entitled to the timber as well as $2.50 an acre for the land, and has certain other so-called equities. The railroad view has no support in committee.

Secretary Lane, for the interior department, suggested still other changes, not fully in harmony with the department of agriculture. He approves the Chamberlain draft in the main, but holds it would be unwise to allow timber purchased by the government to be cut up and have their own time for cutting. He suggests that the secretary of the interior

BAKER PACIFICIST IN THEORY, SEES REIGN OF LAW IN FUTURE

He Has Accepted Position; Twice Refused Earlier Cabinet Offers.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 6.—(U. P.)—Newton D. Baker, former mayor of Cleveland, announced today that he had accepted President Wilson's offer of the secretary of war's portfolio.

Baker said: "I have accepted. I do not know when I will go to Washington, but it will be within a week. The expression of President Wilson's confidence in me carried by the appointment is certainly most flattering. Of course, I know nothing of the duties of the office and have all to learn."

"I am still a member in good standing of several peace societies," he was asked. "But you believe in President Wilson's preparedness policy?" he was asked. "Yes, I believe in all his policies, as far as I know them."
