German Ambassador Believed to Be Caught in a Trap as Result of Confiscation of Von Igel's Documents.

HE MUST REPUDIATE OR ADMIT THEM OFFICIAL

Situation May Result in Von Bernstorff Being Handed His Passports.

Washington, April 21.—(U. P.)—German Ambassador von Bernstorff has been caught in a trap from which he cannot escape if the interpretation placed here today on the last few days' developments proves correct. The situation was brought about by the arrest of Wolf von Igel, former secretary to Captain von Papen, recalled German ambassador, on a bomb plot charge in New York, and the seizure of his papers by secret service agents.

Washington has concluded that the German embassy faces the necessity of admitting a serious plot against it. Whether von Bernstorff can show that Washington is wrong remains to be seen.

Eight Demands for Papers.

Von Igel's papers form the principal basis for this belief.

The confession of this secret agent, now in custody in this country, is another element. The cabinet has considered the situation. The department of justice and the state department have been considering it for several days. How seriously the German embassy viewed it was shown when eight demands were made for the papers today.

Holtzendorff Supports Divers Says Break Insanity, However

Chief of German Admiralty Staff Says Germany Has Agreed Not to Torpedo Liners and Has Lived Up to Her Promises to the United States.

By Carl W. Ackerman.
(Copyright, 1918, by the United States Association, Copyright in Great Britain.)

Berlin, April 21.—(By wireless to Puckerton, N. J.)—Germany can go no further in her submarine concessions to America, Admiral von Holtzendorff, chief of the admiralty staff, declared today in an interview with the United Press.

But the naval head said later in the course of the interview:

"We have no desire for a break with the United States. That would be insanity. We shall not bring it about despite our desire to push vigorously our submarine warfare."

"Many of our submarines have returned from rounding up British vessels. They sighted scores of passenger ships going to England and America but some were touched, although we knew every one was carrying munitions for the allies."

Have Warned Liners.

"We have definitely agreed to warn the crews and passengers of passenger liners. We have lived up to that promise in every way, but we cannot be asked to regard freight ships in the same manner."

"I speak in a straightforward manner. We could have destroyed hundreds of thousands of tons of enemy ships since the beginning of the submarine war except for promises we gave the United States, but we cannot go further."

"Five months more will see what we can do to British shipping. The ring around the British Isles will grow tighter and tighter. Then we will see whether England will still maintain that she cannot make peace until Germany is destroyed. The allies could have had peace long ago, but they still cling to the idea of starving Germany into submission. The longer they prolong the war, and the greater will be their bill."

Neutrals All Are Warned.

"What I said about freight ships applies only to enemy freight ships. We are not going to torpedo and have not torpedoed without warning or without examining the ship's papers of any neutral ship, despite reports the enemy is spreading. We are not out to torpedo without warning neutral ships bound to England. Our submarines have respected the enemy's neutrality in the North Sea, the English channel and the Atlantic."

"If diplomatic relations with America are broken, our submarines can attack any enemy ship without warning. French assaults were defeated with slaughter."

VILLA LOCATED AGAIN IN MOUNTAINS WEST OF DURANGO, REPORT

Report Villa in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Cal., April 21.—(U. P.)—Major E. Goldbaum Padilla reports that he is here searching for Francisco Villa, who he is supposed to have been hiding in this locality since the Columbus raid.

Padilla is head of the Sonora state police. He refused to reveal the object of his visit here. He admitted, however, that it was of the utmost importance to his government.

When asked if he was investigating movements here of two known active Mexican juntas to institute a new revolution, he reiterated his statement that he was pledged not to talk.

Special Agent E. M. Blanford of the department of justice here stated today that he put no credence in the statement to him yesterday by Mrs. Rose Coburn, who he said saw Francisco Villa on the street here.

Columbus Camp Quiet

Columbus, N. M., April 21.—(U. P.)—The still in the American expedition's Mexican operations extend to the local camp today. Few supplies were sent forward. Only hospital supplies and ambulances came in from El Paso.

The Americans are testing five new military aeroplanes. Only two of the original eight planes which entered Mexico are still in condition. They will be condemned as soon as new machines arrive for the airmen.

Thaw to Marry a N. Y. Schoolma'am

CAPTURED SPY TELLS BRITISH OF PLOTS TO TERRORIZE CANADA

Horst von der Goltz Says Captain von Papen Gave Him Money for Expenses.

London, April 21.—Horst von der Goltz, German secret service agent, implicated 18 persons in the United States in a plot to terrorize Canada and prevent sending of Canadian troops to England, according to a sworn statement given out by the British government. Among those mentioned, besides Ambassador von Bernstorff, Captains von Papen and Boy-Ed, are the German consuls at St. Paul, Chicago, Baltimore and El Paso, and the vice-consul at New York. The list also includes one "Schudmacher, Eudenberg River Farm, Oregon." Von der Goltz is now merely awaiting the trial here, after his arrest in England. The statement says in part:

"On August 3, 1914, I left the Mexican army to leave and arrived at El Paso, where Consul Kuick directed me to report to Von Papen."

"I visited Vice Consul Kraeke at New York. He suggested that I avoid the press."

San Francisco, April 21.—(U. A "suffrage special" will arrive here Monday, carrying many women prominent in the vote fight.

Miss Mabel Vernon, one of the suffrage delegates to Washington, has left San Francisco en route to Nevada, where she will establish a six month residence and cast her ballot for the president in November. After the national election these women intend to return to their homes.

Shoes Didn't Fit

FRENCH EXPECT BIG OFFENSIVE TO BEGIN ON

Germans Admit Offensive of French at Verdun Has Resulted in Penetrating Caurette Woods Defenses.

ARRIVAL OF RUSSAINS TO MARK NEW ATTACKS

At Least an Army Corps Believed to Have Reached Marseilles.

Paris, April 21.—(I. N. S.)—All France was rejoicing today over reports of French gains in the vicinity of Verdun and the arrival of Russian troops to reinforce the allied forces on the western front. The blow which is expected to break the back of German militarism is about to be struck, French military critics say.

For some time there has been much impatience manifested throughout the nation because of General Joffre's failure to assume the offensive. It is apparent now, however, that he was merely awaiting the weakening of the fur which has characterized Crown Prince Frederick's attacks against the great French fortress of Verdun and this led to his withdrawal.

The French today were on the offensive everywhere and were striking hard and fast. Today's official communique reads:

German Trenches Penetrated

Berlin, April 21.—(U. P.)—German trenches in Caurette woods were penetrated by the French in a heavy attack, it was officially admitted today.

Elsewhere on the Verdun front all attacks were repulsed.

The Germans are hurrying strong counter attack against the French who occupy the Caurette woods, and the fighting continued with great ferocity. In the region of Deadman's Hill French assaults were defeated with slaughter.

Electricity Goes On Rampage at Kelso

Kelso, Wash., April 21.—When the top of Captain Albert Burcham's pile-driver became entangled in the high-voltage power line across the Cowitz river, a fire broke out in town yesterday afternoon, a serious accident was averted by the fact that no one was aboard the driver at the time. The wires are the main high-voltage wires of the North Coast Power company and connect the Kelso station with the plants to the north.

The pile-driver carried over 20,000 volts, and when this current was shorted down the steel cables of the pile-driver and into the machinery and over the wet deck, it created considerable display of fire and smoke. Burcham and his engineer, who were aboard the driver, quite a scare. The current had to be cut off before the boat could continue up stream.

FATAL ERRORS MADE BY GERMANY FAILING TO UNDERSTAND U. S.

French Historian Says Break Is Inevitable; U. S. Can Seize Merchant Fleet.

By Guyot,
French Editor, Financier and Historian.

Paris, April 21.—(I. N. S.)—Germany has committed another fatal miscalculation. The sequel to the Lusitania led her to believe the sentiment of America would always remain so completely divided that President Wilson would never be able to take strong action against her. She was entirely wrong and I believe nine-tenths of the nation will back the president at this moment.

A rupture is inevitable. Germany cannot disavow her submarine campaign because such action would plunge her into great trouble at home. After the seizure of the merchant fleet and the crews she is committed to this hideous form of warfare and cannot escape the consequence.

Once relations are broken off the United States will have several courses open to her. One of the first things she can do is to seize the German merchant fleet. The best methods of advertisement, of which Wilson is a master, wear thin in time. When the sword of Damocles remains too long unsheathed, we can see it is only a wooden one.

"We have heard enough of silly reproaches leveled at us by America's going citizens," said the Berlin Post. "If Washington gentlemen be

GERMANY GETS WILSON'S NOTE; PAPERS BITTER

German Press Prints American Ultimatum on Submarines in Full; Reply Not to Go Until End of Next Week

Berlin, April 21.—(U. P.)—President Wilson's note demanding the end of Germany's present submarine campaign was conveyed to the kaiser and the people today. Newspapers printed it in full.

Because this is Good Friday, it was almost impossible to obtain an expression of opinion from the foreign office. There is little likelihood, however, that a reply will be sent before the end of next week. It was indicated that there would be no public comment until the imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg returns from his Easter visit to the kaiser on the front.

Since the submarine controversy with the United States began it has been customary to summon into conference heads of the marine department, leading bankers and business men before replying. This will probably be done in the present case and leading members of the Reichstag may also be called in.

"Germany will never yield to America because of Wilson's bluff," said the Deutsche Tageszeitung. "The attitude of the American press is in complete contrast to the really effective power of that country. The best methods of advertisement, of which Wilson is a master, wear thin in time. ## Circus Midgets Wed in Odd Surroundings

Double-Bodied Man Performs Ceremony, Giant and Gigantesse Are Best Man and Bridesmaid, Callopie March.

New York, April 21.—(U. P.)—While the lion roared an accompaniment to the wedding of a circus midget, Francis Short and Miss Elsie Reinkeing were made man and wife in the most unusual wedding New York has ever seen. The pair are midgets, the bride being only 28 inches tall, and the groom being 40 inches tall. They were married in the center of the ring, with two witnesses on one pair of legs, the double-bodied man performing the function.

A giant six times the size of the bridegroom was the best man, and the bride came only to the knees of the bridesmaid, a gigantesse. The happy pair were wished well by circus entertainers, and were married in the center of the ring, with two witnesses on one pair of legs, the double-bodied man performing the function.
