ASSOCIATION MAINTAINS AN OFFICE IN WASHINGTON TO CARRY ON ITS PUBLICITY WORK

Washington, May 1.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL).—The Water Power Development Association, which maintains an office in this city, has just received word from its headquarters in Washington, D. C., that it has been successful in upholding the bill which provides for the establishment of a federal water power commission. The bill, which was introduced by Senator Charles McNary of Oregon for the past 11 years, has now become law.

The Water Power Development Association has a membership of about 100,000, and its headquarters are in Washington, D. C. The association's main object is to secure the enactment of a law which will give the federal government the right to develop water power on public lands.

The bill, which is known as the McNary bill, provides for the establishment of a federal water power commission, which will have the authority to issue licenses for the development of water power on public lands. The commission will also have the authority to regulate the use of water power on public lands.

The McNary bill is a landmark piece of legislation, and its passage is a great victory for the water power development industry. It will ensure that the federal government will have the authority to develop water power on public lands in a manner which is in the best interests of the nation.

COUNTY CLERK COFFEY REPLES TO CHARGES MADE BY A. A. BAILEY

Official Prepares Statement to Show Cost Per Case Is Less Under His Regime.

ECONOMY HIS LIMITATION

Number of Jury Cases Filed and Work Imposed on Office Not Within Power to Control.

John B. Coffey, in answer to the charges made by A. A. Bailey, before the Lincoln Republican club regarding the conduct of the county clerk's office, has compiled and furnished the following statement:

The number of cases filed and tried in the probate and circuit courts of Multnomah county has greatly increased in the last three years over the preceding years. Mr. Coffey points out that the cost per case for jury trials has been less than it was in 1912, when a record number of cases for the period preceding the incumbent John B. Coffey as county clerk were tried.

During 1912, 300 jury cases were tried at a cost of $158.10 per case, while in 1913, 300 jury cases were tried at a cost of $141.80 per case. During the first period the largest total cost was $47,428.95 for jurors. Almost as many cases were tried during the first six months of 1914, and also during the first six months of 1915, but the cost was considerably less. During the first half of 1914, 258 jury cases were tried, which cost $30,767.25, and during the first half of 1915, 238 cases were tried, at a cost of $28,593.60. For the first half of 1915, the number of jury cases is only 20 less than for the entire year of 1912, yet the cost is approximately $1,000 less.

PLAN TO PUT NAVY OF U. S. IN SECOND PLACE IN NEXT THREE YEARS

Naval General Board Working Out Program to Hurry Up the Work.

MOVE IS NON-PARTISAN

Representative Butler, Quaker, Originated Idea to Speed Preparations Following Naval Developments.

Washington, May 1.—(I. N. S.)—A program to put the American navy in second place within three years and a fleet built upon a definite, well-balanced plan designed to produce and maintain a fighting naval force of a size to meet any emergency—a real preparedness program—will be offered to the country within a short time.

It will have the approval of Admiral Dewey and the naval general board. The board, of which Admiral Dewey is president, has been working on the plan for the last 10 days. Representative Thomas S. Butler, ranking Republican member of the house naval affairs committee, decided after a conference with his associates that a five-year building program was too long, as even at the end of that time the United States navy probably would be third or a poor fourth among the fleets of the world.

SOCIALISM IS SCORED AS A FUNDAMENTAL 'DENIAL OF CREATOR'

Movement Does Not Come From Working Classes, Declares Peter W. Collins.

GIVES DEBS CHALLENGE

Divorce Denounced as Social Cancer, and Child Labor as Striking at Foundation of Civilization.

Peter W. Collins of Boston, speaking under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, drew a large audience at the Lincoln high school auditorium last night to hear his lecture, "What Is Wrong With the World?" Wallace McCamant presided and introduced the speaker.

In reply to a question from Tom Burns after his lecture, Mr. Collins said that he had debated with all the leading socialists of the country, except Eugene V. Debs, "and I have never been able to corner 'Gene' and get him on the platform with me," declared the Boston orator.

"There is a guarantee of $500 to Debs for expenses to meet me anywhere at any time," he continued, "and I will give the gentleman who asked about a debate $100 if he will make the arrangement and secure the appearance of Mr. Debs."

The speaker declared that Socialism was fundamentally the denial of God, and was a movement that did not come from the working class.

"Socialism has two languages," said Collins, "the language of the university and the language of the soapbox." He contended that socialism stirred up strife and dissatisfaction and was one of the things that had brought the world to its present state. He pointed out that the remedy for existing social injustices, many of which he mentioned, lies along the line of arbitration, conciliation and organization, and that much has already been accomplished in that direction in better laws for the regulation of labor and capital, better laws for the securing of employment and better understandings between labor and capital.

Divorce he denounced as a social cancer, and child labor as "striking at the foundation of civilization." On his declarations he made was that there are more jobs now than there are men to fill them, but that men and women flock to the large cities and do not know of the jobs demanding them or how to reach them.

Remedies Are Suggested.

Constructive social service in harmony with the Ten Commandments, the recognition of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, the adjusting of social inequalities along the lines of the encyclical Pope Leo XIII on the condition of labor, were the remedies for the existing conditions of labor and capital.

He praised Oregon for its progressive laws regarding child and women labor, and Portland for its harmonious and progressive spirit of unity that does not allow religious bigotry and antagonisms to creep in and absorb its energies.

"We have only one country and one flag no matter what country we are in," he said, "and we must all be united in this European warfare." He said, "The love of God and the love of country are one and inseparable. The man who denies God denies his country."

Commented Referred to.

The speaker declared that the commandment, "Love thy neighbor as thyself," commanded by Jesus, the working man as the sum of all the law, was directly opposed to the principles of socialism, which would rob the neighbor who had something accumulated for the benefit of those who wanted the substance.

Asked as to the presence of Socialism in the American Federation of Labor, the speaker declared that the Socialists only sought to wreck organized labor, and he quoted some organizations to sustain his contention. He commended the A. F. of L. as proceeding along the proper lines to secure the betterment of conditions and the contentment of the workers.

Sufferings Drive Ship's Crew Insane

British Steamer Suffolk, Frozen in the Ice of the White Sea, Loses All but Three of Her Crew of Twenty-Seven.

Halifax, May 1.—(I. N. S.)—The story of the hardships that overtook the crew of the British steamship Suffolk when she was caught in the ice of the White sea shortly before Christmas, to which all but three members of the crew of 27 succumbed, was told here today by the crew of the Newfoundland steamer, Bellevalente, arriving from Archangel.

"There is a guarantee of $500 to Debs for expenses to meet me anywhere at any time," he continued, "and I will give the gentleman who asked about a debate $100 if he will make the arrangement and secure the appearance of Mr. Debs."

The speaker declared that Socialism was fundamentally the denial of God, and was a movement that did not come from the working class.

NATIONAL DEFENSE IN THE PLATFORM OF THE REPUBLICANS OF KING

Suffrage, Tariff Commission and Opening of Alaska Also Given Place.

Seattle, Wash., May 1.—(U. P.)—Demands for defense against foreign aggression, a general condemnation of the Wilson administration and the advocacy of woman suffrage and a tariff commission were the salient features of the platform adopted by the King county Republican convention here today.

Hiram E. Hadley, former chief justice of the state supreme court and a brother-in-law of Governor Linhart, of Bellingham, was permanent chairman. William T. Laube, formerly secretary of the state senate, now chairman of the King county Republican committee, was made King county's member of the state platform committee. The "country" members agreed to support W. C. Weeks of South Bend as a candidate for delegate to the Republican national convention. The King county sentiment is for an instructed delegation to the Chicago convention.

The platform condemns the national administration for its failure, according to promise, to make free tolls for American coastwise vessels through the Panama canal; favors the enlargement of the federal navy; favors a non-partisan tariff commission; favors the opening up of Alaska resources; condemns the Democratic administration of the affairs of this state; declares for a constitutional convention; denounces the attempt to do away with party organization, and indorses the principle of national woman suffrage.

Japanese Youth Is Permitted to Stay

Court Rules There Is No Special Law Governing Immigration of Japanese Into U. S.; Appeal May Be Taken.

San Francisco, May 1.—(U. P.)—Holding that there is no special law governing the immigration of Japanese such as regulates the entrance of Chinese into the United States, Federal Judge Maurice T. Dooley today dismissed the deportation proceedings started against Maysuata Nakao, 17, by the port authorities of this country under the law that permits entrance of relatives of well-to-do Japanese. He declared, he said, to become a student. The immigration officers declared that he was very likely to become a public charge, as his father here cannot support him.

After questioning the lad, Judge Dooley asserted that Nakao, who had been in this country for some time, was fitted to earn his own living better than many American born Japanese. The immigration authorities may appeal to Secretary of Labor Wilson.

Joint Rates on Sash and Doors

Washington, May 1.—Through joint rates on sash and doors are just as simple and necessary as such rates on lumber, shingles and other commodities to eastern trunk line territory. Such is the argument implied in the petition of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, the California Redwood association, and numerous other lumber interests of the Pacific coast, filed with the interstate commerce commission by Teal and McCulloch, of Portland, Or.

Through joint rates formerly were granted, but on October 21, 1915, the railroads put in rates based on combination of through rates to St. Louis and Chicago, and locals from these points to destination. The resultant increase ranged from one fourth of 1 per cent to 22 per cent of the former rates.
