Case Instigated by State on Article Attacking Police Officials on the Dry Law.

Albany, Or., May 5 .- E. M. Reagan, editor of the Albany Evening Herald, was found not guilty of the charge of libel brought by the state in the circuit court here.

Reagan made a campaign against Anthony Austin, former chief of police, and Griff King, formerly special officer, claiming that they were incompetant and that they knowingly allowed blind pigs to flourish,

An especially bitter attack was made in an editorial printed May 17, upon which the grand jury brought a charge of criminal libel. The case was heard before Judge Skipworth of Lane county, ex-U. S.
