Dr. Henry F. Cope, general secretary of the Religious Education Associa-tion of America, is spending this week in Portland to attend the Pacific coast convention of the Religious Education association which is meeting here and the annual conference of Social Agencies to be held at Ree's college Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week. He arrived in Portland last night after making addresses at Whitman college and Willamette university. He will speak tonight at the meeting of the Religious Education association at the Lincoln high school auditorium, which is open to the public. Friday night he will speak at the conference of Social Agencies at Reed college, dealing with the inade-quacies of criminal legislation. His next engagement during his stay in the northwest is at the University of Washington. Dr. Cope was for eight years editor of the Chicago Tribune, and is now editor of the Religious Education Magazine. Previously he spent five years as a pastor in one of the frontier towns of Montana, and has written a number of stories of his life there. Since then, in connection with his present position, he has visited every state in the union.

OAKS PARK CHA

RING the children to Oaks Park on opening day, Saturday, May 13. They will have the time of their lives on the new Steffens Miniature Railway, just installed in the grounds. This feature is more than a toy. It is scientifically correct in every detail. It is a one-sixth reduction of a standard gauge road from eilburning mogul locomotive to the rails.

The ride through the grounds passes among flower beds, across lawns and skirts the Trail. The train is quite safe in the hands of a skilled mechanic, the engineer. Many details of railroad travel are reproduced, including a tunnel and way stations. The cars are of steel construction, finished in nickel plate. Each coach has a capacity of six children or three grown-ups. Yes, fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers are enthusiasts, too, for it recalls vividly the childhood fascination for working models and even the Opening day will be marked by a well-balanced program in the Auditorium. Band music and specialties will be among the entertainment features with all concessions running at full blast.

It will be a great day ! !
