UMPIRES LEND THEIR HELP

All Close Decisions Go to Visitors; Neither Guthrie Nor Finney Neutral in Their Rulings.

By R. A. Crohn.

Ping Bodie, the hoop-shaped burrah bitter of Harry's hired help, broke up a terrific pitchers' battle between Charley Baum and Byron Houck in the tenth inning yesterday with a home run, and the Seals made it three straight, 3 to 1.It was the best played game of the season, and although both pitchers were hit quite hard, more brains were applied in the box than in any contest Portland pitcher has been in so far this season. Houck not only bucked the nine men on the Seal club for 10 innings, but he had to put up with the worst exhibition of umpiring seen in these parts since Jack O'Connell strived, flickered and blew out.Seals Get All Close Decisions.
All of the close ones on both sides went to the Seals, and Big Bill Guthrie pulled one on Spauls in the sixth inning which was the only one in the memory archives of even the most conservative fans. One pulled by Ed Finney on Billy Nixon in the fifth innings just as bad, for it cost the Beavers a run, too, and prolonged the game.However, this gentle toasting of Al Baum's boys in long pants, can't take away from the aforementioned Mistor Fulton, the honor of being here of the game.

Ping Bodie Smiles the Ball.

Justin Fitzgerald was on first base with two out. It was not good baseball to pass Bodie, even though he hits a homer now and then, so they concluded to pitch to him. Ping was still smarting under the deliberate passing of him with two on in the eighth, and he cracked the first one that looked good. It went out of the lot and it was a homer. Bodie smiled and said "That's a good one, Justin." He then cracked a home run, and the Seals were on their feet.

Seals Off in the Lead.

San Francisco got off in the lead, when, with one down, Schaller hit against the right center field fence that was good for three bases. Bodie gave an inkling of what was to come later, when he rammed the ball to center field, and Schaller raced home.

Portland tied it up in the third, when Baum had a sudden sinking spell.

Vaughn singled, but was forced by Guthrie, who stole second when Houck struck out the big fellow. Nixon knocked one to Sheehan and beat it.

That youngster picked up the ball and threw into the ground in front of Guthrie. By the time Chick located it and winged to the plate, Guthrie galloped across.

Double Plays Save Seals.

Three double plays saved the Seals a lot of trouble and Houck pitched grand until the unexpected transit of the ball from Bodie's wrists to the regions beyond the left field bleachers.

In the sixth, the first of these twoples was the cause of a burning sensation around the ears of Mr. Guthrie.

Spauls walked and Houck tried to hunt him, but the ball bounded up and struck him in his portly breadbasket. This was followed by a stolen base for Spauls and when Ward walked, Billy not away with a steal of the third.

Pits Throws Wild to Plate.

Houck hit a fly to right field and Fitzgerald made a throw to the plate.

It was off the oblong considerably and Ward slid around. He was called out.

Walter McCredie, who says he is honored words to the Baum bluecoat, hit his fine barytone in a fassetto wall.

Spauls played like a stuck panther, and the fans rose up en masse and gave a Comanche warwhoop.

Big Bill, it is said, was seen to grow pale where the girls ought to be, but, he didn't care.

BRINGING UP FATHER

FOR GOODNESS SAKE—WHAT ARE YOU DOING?DOES IT TAKE ALL EVENING—I KNOW BUT IT'S SO DARK
I COULD HARDLY SEE—BESIDES—I THINK HIS EARS ARE FROZE—I COULDN'T GET THE COLLAR
OVER THEM—EARS ARE FROZE?YOU IDIOT—
THAT'S A COW IN
THERE!IM TRYIN' TO PUT THE COLLAR ON
THIS HORSE—A diagnosis later revealed it was just a stiffening of the headrest and an optical delusion as to the coloring. Big Bill is game at any rate.

Seals Dangerous in the Eighth.

Houck's scariest period was in the eighth when Brooks left off with a single to Ward. Baum filed to Spauls and Guthrie kissed one to right, putting Clarence on third and taking second himself on the throw across the diamond. Schaller grounded down to Ward and Houck was headed at the plate, being finally run down at third by Fisher, who kept Schaller at first in the meantime. Houck walked Bodie purposely to get at Vaughn Sheehan, but Harry the Wolf crossed them up by sending in Downs. Downs crossed Harry by breezing.

That brings us down to Chief Gun-ner's Mate Bodie and his wapakete, whatever that may be. Mayhap it should be spelled wop-kete. The
