Guardsmen Will Get Valuable Experience Doing Patrol Work in Mexican Situation

In Period of Ten Weeks Soldiers Would Receive From 250 to 300 Hours of Drill, Declares Expert in National Guard.

The National Guardsmen of Arizona, Texas and New Mexico, serving on the Mexican line, will receive more drilling in a week than the average of them would receive in the National Guard, said a well known O. N. G. man recently.

"It is this way," he continued. "The average term of service in the O. N. G. is six months. The enlistment is for three years, but the guardsman has a living to make and he leaves town, and is thereby entitled to a discharge, or is dropped from the rolls.

"In his whole three years of service he will not attend over 120 drills of an average of an hour each. "In six months he will not attend more than 20. Let us assume that he will put in some extra time at first and gets in 30 hours of drill. He will receive that much the first week he is in camp when called out. He will receive in ten weeks from 250 to 300 hours of drill.

"The enlisted man must drill and gradually he becomes so accustomed to obeying orders in response to commands that he does so without thinking about it, and carries out the movements desired by his officers as part of one organism. Then he is a soldier in camp when called out. He will receive in ten weeks from 250 to 300 hours of drill.

End of Junkerdom Is Purpose of War

Lord Cromer Declares Arms Cannot Be Laid Down Until Germans Realize Present Policy Is Course to World.

London, May 13.—(I. N. S.)—"What we are fighting for" is a popular subject of discussion in all the belligerent countries. Here is Lord Cromer's idea: "My own views as regards the main object for which we are fighting may be embodied in three simple propositions. The first of these is that there can be no prospect of a durable peace so long as uncontrolled Junkerdom reigns supreme in Germany. The second is that any change in the direction of bringing Junkerdom under effective control must be the work of the Germans themselves. Even if the Germans were completely vanquished, it would be a fatal error to endeavor to impose from without any internal reforms on Germany. The capital er-
