Cleanliness First.
LETTERS which reach me indicate that many middle-aged women are much annoyed by enlarged pores which give them a poor complexion. In many instances, I am sure, they are suffering from indications or ignorance.

You will usually find that women who are troubled with enlarged pores make generous use of face powder. They attempt to cover the blemishes by filling the pores with flesh-colored powders. And who can blame them? But they should not permit the pores to become clogged with powder. Very often the liberal use of powder without the frequent cleansing of the skin leads to the annoyance of extended pores.

Uncleanliness is one of the primary causes of enlarged pores. It is an statement which may prove offensive to those who are annoyed in this way—but it is a fact. If a majority of those who are afflicted will go over their daily schedules they will learn that I make no misstatement of fact. Of course, there are various causes for enlarged pores. They range over wide territory. One of the most common, however, is uncleanliness. The washing of the face is an important operation. It is intended to remove all

Today's Aid to Beauty

An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be made at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling later. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also of fine mass which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleasure. (Adv.)

Bears on Coast Become a Pest

Marshfield, May 16.—Bears have become so numerous and damaging to the stockmen of the Flores Creek country of southern Coos and northern Curry counties that the farmers have organized hunting expeditions in the hopes of exterminating the bear or at least checking them to some extent. Many sheep have been killed on the ranges, where it is said the bear are more numerous than ever before. Already a number have been killed, and the stock men think that if they if they keep up their hunting in an organized way they can prevent further losses.
