

HUNDRED LACKING ONE MAY GRADUATE FROM OREGON UNIVERSITY

Prospective List May Be Reduced by About Twenty When Roll Is Called.

IS AN AVERAGE CLASS

Course in Education Was Most Popular During the Term, According to Late Compilation of Figures.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., May 20.—Eligibles for graduation from the University of Oregon in June lack one of being a hundred, which is a medium sized class. This list is merely the prospective list, from which probably 20 will lose out in the shuffle.

Of this number 89 will receive the degree of bachelor of arts, seven the degree of bachelor of science, two the degree of bachelor of music, and one the degree of bachelor of science in electrical engineering.

Eugene leads in the number of graduates with 28 seniors. Portland is second with 20. States other than Oregon represented in the class are Washington, California, Idaho and Iowa.

PRINEVILLE WELCOMES TEAM

Prineville, Or., May 20.—The schools had a part holiday and the stores and business houses practically suspended business for the time being to extend the glad hand to the high school debating team and the trainer, for their victory in the State Debating League. The debaters are Orville Yancey and Bernard Ramsey, and the trainer is Professor H. C. Baughman. This is the first year that the state championship has been won by the Crook county high school. The high school work in this time has been divided in Oregon into two districts, eastern Oregon comprising one district and those counties west of the Cascades comprising another district. In eastern Oregon, representatives from all the leading high schools met in joint debate, according to schedule, in the various towns in this section of the state, the winners in each instance being later pitted against the winners in other towns, until, through the process of elimination, there evolved two or three leading teams which were eventually matched for the championship of eastern Oregon.

The winner at this final contest for this section was then sent against the winners of the western section of the state, which joint debate occurred at Eugene last Friday. The judges of the final contest were Father O'Hara, William A. Marshall and George Nagler, of whom two voted the Prineville team the winner, the third judge favoring the Jefferson high school team. On the arrival of the victors in Prineville, speeches were made by the mayor and several professional men, and a general justification prevailed.

One atrocious murder, the act of a fiend of indescribable state of mind, has been committed with regularity in Portland or the vicinity on an average of once a year for the last five years. The killing of Mrs. Helen Jennings on her farm near Sherwood last Monday night can not be called the culmination for the nature of the act could be better termed than the butchery of the Hill family, of Barbara Holzman, of John Lindn or of Mrs. J. R. Hinkle last February at Salem.

But in Portland or its environs alone since 1910, there have been nine unsolved homicides, seven with the deplorable mystery attached, four the undoubted work of degenerates.

The first of these was the killing of Barbara Holzman, the 5-year-old daughter of a working woman, who was found dead March 15, 1911, in a rooming house at Mississippi avenue and Russell street. The child was attacked and afterwards smothered to death. Several suspects were arrested, but none was ever convicted.

Ardenwald Murder Recalled. The city had not recovered from the shock of this crime when the appalling Hill family tragedy occurred. William Hill and his wife, and their two children were slain as they slept in their beds near Ardenwald station, east of Sellwood on June 3, 1911. One was arrested, but not convicted and to the guilty person, the police have not the slightest clue.

On September 17, 1912, Harry Barr, driving his automobile from a Linnton road house, was shot through the head by an unknown assailant. No suspects were ever arrested in this case. The automobile was found next morning at Firat and Taylor streets.

William Lindn, a native of Sweden, was murdered the night of November 17, 1915, in a lodging house at 407 Stark street. The body was placed in a green trunk and thrown in the river at the foot of Flinders street. By chance the green trunk was found almost immediately and good descriptions were secured of the supposed murderer, a man who has been called "George" and "Holmes".

The others were crimes committed in the heat of passion or because of harbored grudges. The slayers were not captured, however. Of these may be mentioned the following: Assailant Never Caught. G. F. Marty, while intoxicated, assaulted a woman at First and Columbia streets. Her escort struck Marty, causing a riot, and he fled. He was never captured. This was January 10, 1913.

When a highwayman held up the W. W. Chappell saloon at 575 Sherlock avenue, November 8, 1910, Chappell and William Harvey resisted. Both were shot dead and the highwayman disappeared.

On July 9, 1911, a party of Russians gave a picnic in Macleay Park. An altercation started a general fight, in the melee shots were fired, and three persons were killed. The police paid comparatively little attention to this tragedy, it is recalled.

A killing out among thieves was the cause of another mysterious homicide. Joe Barrone, alias "Yellow Bill," a notorious ex-convict, was shot by one of his brother highwaymen who held up the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company limit in Selkirk's gulch, August 19, 1913. None of the robbers was arrested.

Revolver of Wrong Caliber. To this list may be added the mysterious shooting of Riosaku Kohinata, a Japanese, during an entertainment in Arion hall, December 6, 1915. Akonaka Nakano was arrested immediately afterwards and the police asserted that the case against him was a "dead end" and shut one. Everything went swimmingly until the trial came up. The mortification of the prosecutors was intense when it was shown that the bullets that had killed Kohinata were of .38 caliber, while the gun taken from the defendant was only .32. Nakano was acquitted and no other defendants were arrested.

To these might be added all the Chinese tong war slayings of the last six years. In some instances the gunmen have been arrested, but more often they have not. In the shootings of February 21 and February 23, an alleged gunman has already been acquitted as innocent. The others have not and probably never will be tried, for the identification of the alleged slayers is far from positive.

On top of all of these is the Jennings tragedy of last Monday night, and the almost certain killing of Fred Ristman, the jitney driver, who is thought to have carried the slayer to the murder house southwest of Tugatin. Bennett Thompson has been arrested for the crime, but the formal charging of him with the offense is being postponed while certain necessary steps are being taken to obtain positive identification as established.

ALBANY DEBATERS WIN. Virgil A. Parker and Miles H. McKey, Albany College debaters.

Albany, Or., May 20.—In the first intercollegiate debate for both colleges this year Albany college won two to one decision over Pacific college on the question, "Resolved, That the essential features of the Swiss military system should be adopted in the United States." The affirmative was upheld by Virgil Docket at Oregon City Increased by Women Who Allege Cruelty and Inhuman Treatment.

Oregon City, Or., May 20.—Three divorce suits were filed in the office of County Clerk Harrington Saturday as follows: Mary Steel against John Steel. They were married at Centralia, Wash., in 1913. Mrs. Steel wishes to resume her maiden name of Mary Schuita. Desertion is charged.

Elsie M. Rutherford against David W. Rutherford. Cruelty and inhuman treatment are alleged. The Rutherfords were married March 30, 1915. She asks to resume her maiden name, Elsie M. Critser.

Margaret E. Williams against Clarence R. Williams, to whom she was married in Portland January 1, 1911. There are no children. Mrs. Williams alleges that her husband has an un-governable temper.

Has Lost Fingers. Oregon City, Or., May 20.—Joseph Haas, who rides near Oregon City in the Maple Lane district, met with a painful accident today while operating a feed cutter. His hand became caught, and two of the fingers were severed. The injured man, who is about 63 years of age, was brought to this city, where the injuries were attended to by Dr. M. C. Strickland.

Mangum Sues Kerbs. Oregon City, Or., May 20.—Through his attorney, O. W. Eastham of this city, W. C. Mangum filed suit today in the circuit court of Clackamas county against Henry Kerbs & Son for the payment of a bill of goods purchased from the firm on Mangum, the bill of goods amounting to $376.45. He also asks interest at the rate of 6 per cent, together with cost and disbursements.

Two Suits Dismissed. Oregon City, Or., May 20.—The suit of Florence White against the Portland Gas and Coke company was dismissed today by order of Judge J. U. Campbell, without cost to either party. The suit of William C. Mangum against Henry Kerbs & Son for the payment of a bill of goods purchased from the firm on Mangum, the bill of goods amounting to $376.45. He also asks interest at the rate of 6 per cent, together with cost and disbursements.

John Day School Year Successful. Eight Pupils Graduate from Eighth Grade and One Finishes High School Course—School on Accredited List.

John Day, Or., May 20.—Thursday marked the closing of a very successful year in John Day. Eight pupils were graduated from the eighth grade and one from high school, Henry Foster, who completed last week in the university athletic meet at Eugene, the first person to graduate from the John Day high school.

The school was placed on the accredited list last fall. At a recent meeting of the school board the present teaching force was engaged for next year. These are: E. B. Moore, principal; Mrs. Jennie Glass, Mrs. Lillian Russell, and Miss Mable Muldrick teachers. Prof. Moore will work for the forest service during the summer, but will be largely absent from the school. He will be located on the Umatilla unit of the Malheur forest.

Herbert S. Bolton Dies at The Dalles. The Dalles, Or., May 20.—Herbert S. Bolton, a prominent young business man, died yesterday. He was a native of Oregon and had been in the Dalles for some time. He was manager of The Dalles Abstract company, and a brother of Mrs. Grant Wags, Trinity Place, Astoria, and of Mrs. E. C. Olinier of this city. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Bolton of The Dalles. Funeral will be held tomorrow.

Tomorrow's baseball game has been postponed.

Bird Day Proclaimed. Salem, Or., May 20.—Governor Withycombe issued a proclamation Saturday morning designating May 26 as Oregon Bird day and urging that each boy and girl in the state on that day try to become better acquainted with the bird life of the state and, if possible, do something toward promoting interest in the activities of their feathered friends. The proclamation was issued on petition of a large number of school children of Oregon.

Flax Operation at The State Prison

Figures Showing Results of Manufacture and Sale Are Compiled Following Fire at Plant Thursday Night.

Salem, Or., May 20.—Following Thursday night's fire at the state prison flax plant, the following flax figures have been compiled:

Flaxseed sold at $2 per bushel to the Portland Linseed Oil Works brought $1900; 15 bushels of flaxseed was sold to the Roseburg Commercial club for $3; 237 bushels of flax was sold to the Eugene Commercial club for $714; 130 bushels of flax was sold to the Eugene Commercial club for $520; 3440 pounds of excelsior was sold to the Garman Manufacturing company for $34.40.

A contract has been made with the California Cotton Mills company of Oakland for the delivery of the following products made from the flax straw, at the minimum price named: Six tons of fiber and six tons of No. 1 tow at $240 a ton, and 32 tons of No. 2 tow at $200 a ton, f. o. b.

An offer of $340 a ton has been received from a New York firm for all the product from the flax straw, including a sample of fiber forwarded. This is said, will include much of the un-manufactured portion of the crop.

Sisters Meet After 35 Years Apart. Mrs. Willis Jones and Mrs. Abbie Rankin Spend Week-End Visiting at Oregon City and Portland.

Oregon City, Or., May 20.—After 35 years Mrs. Willis Jones and Mrs. Abbie Rankin, sisters, met and spent the week-end here and in Portland.

Mrs. Jones and her daughter, Mrs. Clinton Sheldon, came here three or four weeks ago for the benefit of Mrs. Sheldon's little son, Maxwell, who is recovering from an attack of diphtheria. Mrs. Rankin lived somewhere in this part of Oregon, she used the telephone, tracing Mrs. Rankin from McMinnville to Willamina, Linnton, Portland, and finally located her at Nehalem.

Mrs. Rankin and her two youngest sons, Whitely and John, came over and spent the night Saturday and then Sunday went to Portland and spent the day with an uncle and aunt in Astoria. William Thompson, who reside near Fourteenth and Davis, and whom they had not seen since leaving Elk River, Minn., 35 years ago, at the same time that Mr. and Mrs. Jones moved from that point to Larrimore, N. D.

Statement Is Made. Among the charges made against Mr. Reynolds, as stated by Mr. Logan, is one that the former has sold $194,000 worth of property, the affairs of the company were almost alone so far as his own cause was concerned, in a meeting of 25 bondholders of the company and attorneys representing other persons who have invested in the securities of the company.

Mr. Logan acted as chairman and presented his case to the interested parties present. As Mrs. Reynolds was practically the only outspoken partisan of the one against whom the charges were made, Mr. Logan, and at times the attorney between the two, became heated and personal.

Roseburg Is Ready For I. O. O. F. Meet. Grand Lodge and Encampment of Rebekahs Will Be Held at Same Time, Beginning Next Monday.

Roseburg, Or., May 20.—Roseburg is in readiness for the reception of the delegates to the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, which convenes in Roseburg next Monday evening. The grand lodge of the encampment of the Rebekahs is held at the same time, and they will be in session until Friday morning. The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows will be held in the Armory, the encampment in the Odd Fellows temple, while the Rebekahs will assemble in the Elks' lodge rooms.

While the delegates number about 1200, it is expected that 2000 people will be in attendance, including visitors.

Oratorical Contest Not Yet Decided. The officers of the association are James Wilson, president. There is present no secretary, R. C. Nelson, the attorney for Mr. Reynolds, having resigned from that position a short time ago. A. N. Moore and B. H. Moore, both of whom are among the officers of the company.

Double Service for Victim of River. Eugene, Or., May 20.—Funeral services over the remains of Owen D. Whalton, university student drowned in the river here April 20, were held in Villard hall at the university this afternoon. Rev. E. C. Wigmore, pastor of the Christian church at Springfield, conducted services at the hall, and Eugene Wilson, president of the association, which Whalton had joined only a short time before his death, conducted ritualistic services at the grave. Simultaneously with the services here, services were held at Nampa, Idaho, the boy's home.

CHARGES OF HIGH FINANCE ARE MADE AGAINST REYNOLDS

Vice President and Manager of Mt. Scott Cemetery Association Accused.

TO-EXAMINE THE BOOKS. Special Meeting of Bondholders Will Be Held at Chamber of Commerce June 1.

Charges of high finance and mismanagement are made against H. H. Reynolds, vice president and manager of the Mount Scott Cemetery association. In order that all parties to the controversy may be heard, that the books of the association may be brought where the stockholders can have access to them and determine whether or not the affairs of the company have been mismanaged, a special meeting of the bondholders will be held at the Chamber of Commerce on June 10.

The call for the special meeting of the bondholders was issued by a preliminary meeting held in the law office of John F. Logan, in the Mohawk building, Saturday afternoon.

Meeting Is Called. The meeting was called by Mr. Logan, representing one of the dissatisfied bondholders. Mr. Reynolds was not present, it being stated that he was unable to come on account of ill health. Mrs. Reynolds, wife of the accused manager, was present, and was almost alone so far as her own cause was concerned, in a meeting of 25 bondholders of the company and attorneys representing other persons who have invested in the securities of the company.

Mr. Logan acted as chairman and presented his case to
