Just how extensive the improvement TRAIN CRASHES. INTO and how costly the building to be erected will be determined largely by the negotiations that may be closed with prospective tenants and the ideas that the members of the lodge finally agree upon as to the conveniences that the lodgerooms themselves should afford. A building to cost $100,000 is being discussed at the present time.

The lodge owns 100 feet on Fourth street and 80 feet fronting on Taylor street. The ground floor will be arranged for store purposes, and already One Other Member of a San several bids for the space have been received. Tentative plans and a perspective have been drawn for a threestory building, the two upper floors of which will be used exclusively for the purposes of the order.

The building committee which has the plan under consideration consists of George M. Orton, B. W. Sleeman, Harry Anderson, A. Shapiro, Dr. Theodore Fessler, George R. Funk, Henry E. Reed, C. A. Houghtaling, William Adams, B. E. Youmans and P. L. Proctor, secretary of the committee.
