

GOVERNOR ISSUED A CALL TO ARMS TO HIS LOYAL COHORTS

Headed by Private Secretary Putnam, the Field Is Taken Against Ben Olcott.

NEWSPAPERS LINED UP With a Hip-Hip-Hooray the Commander-in-Chief and Army Go Into Action at Second Verdun Battle.

When Governor Withycombe and G. Palmer Putnam, his secretary, and H. J. Schulderman, his corporation commissioner, and Joseph G. Richardson, his assistant corporation commissioner, and Mark McAllister, his bookkeeper in the corporation department, and Harvey Wells, his insurance commissioner, and the rest of the little cabinet ministers started out to still hunt for a "harmonious" candidate for secretary of state with whom to bump Ben W. Olcott into the political discard.

When Mr. Moores announced his candidacy there was an immediate and widespread acclaim raised from some 43 separate and distinct points of the state, and at once where the publicity batteries of the governor and his organization had been placed. As the campaign progressed these verbal batteries hurled ready-made shells forward from the headquarters in Portland onto the front porches of their subscribers day after day, as fast as the managers picked up the yards. The list of the names of the papers which were delivered over by the governor and his little ministers, as per program:

Albany Herald, Bend Bulletin, Brownsville Times, Corvallis Gazette-Times, Cottage Grove Sentinel, Eugene Register, Grants Pass Observer, Gresham Outlook, Jefferson Review, Lebanon Critterion, Marshfield Record, Medford Sun, Newberg Graphic, Oregon City Enterprise, Roseburg News, Salem Statesman, Salem Messenger, Salem Pacific Homestead, Springfield News, St. Helens Mist, Silverton Appeal, Stanfield Standard, Tillamook Headlight, Harrisburg Bulletin, Stayton Mail, Clatskanie Chief, Condon Times, Klamath Falls Herald, Rainier Review, Banks Herald, Newport Enterprise, Burns News, Pendleton Tribune, The Dalles Chronicle, Woodburn Independent, Toledo News, Seaside Signal, Silver Lake Leader, Huntington News, Heppner Gazette, Grass Valley Journal, Silverton Tribune and Ontario Argus.

After this heavy artillery had been given the range and had bombarded the trenches and assaulted the entanglements of the Olcott camp, the governor, as the constitutional commander in chief of the war forces of the state, ordered the aide arm soldiers into the field. There Harvey Wells, insurance commissioner, who is a Spanish War veteran, and H. J. Schulderman, corporation commissioner, who is a political veteran, and Joseph G. Richardson, assistant corporation commissioner, who is a good political organizer, who made good officers, all commissioned.

Army Goes Into Action. After the artillery and the officers were working well together, the commander-in-chief called out the foot soldiers. Stated orders to the employees of the fish and game commission, and to the employees of the other boards and departments who could be controlled by appointment of the governor, and they were told to attack in force, and using as many captives votes into the Moores camp as the portent of political punishment would induce them to do.

Radium Screen May Help Blind to See

Pittsburg, May 24.—(I. N. S.)—After experimenting three years and spending a fortune Nathan I. Dodds, a Pittsburg chemical engineer, has invented a radium screen which, he believes, eventually will enable the blind to see. Where the retina of the eye is not entirely destroyed, he says, it will yet be possible to carry an object to the brain through the optic nerve, by means of the screen. Dodds says he will give the world the benefit of his discoveries. Dodds today blindfolded a man to demonstrate his theory. Radium valued at $20,000 was spread on the white cloth; the room was dark, and an electric bulb was used in the experiment. Although the man's eyes were closed and bandages shut out all light, he could distinguish the outline of objects passed between his face and the electric light.

Husband Preferred Liquor to His Wife

San Francisco, May 24.—(P. N. S.)—Mrs. Mabel Hazel Maher today holds an interlocutory decree of divorce from Thomas F. Maher, rich mining man, granted her after testimony that he spent $20,000 in 16 months for liquor, consuming most of it himself. He spent as much more on races. Mrs. Maher refused alimony, telling Superior Judge E. P. Mogan that she had no need of it. Mrs. Maher is in Juneau, Alaska. Mrs. Maher testified when she took the witness stand. The Mahers were married in Seattle on July 23, 1914. Five weeks later at El Paso, she said, he disappeared. The wife retained detectives fearing he had come to disaster through his devotion to the Juarez races, which she declared he carried to the point of insanity. He was located in San Francisco, and she came here.

MARINE ENGINEERS WANT 10 PER CENT INCREASE IN WAGES

Eastern Association's Plan of Prorating Increase on Various Vessels Is Adopted.

The Marine Engineers' Beneficial association, which has been in convention here since last Saturday, yesterday went on record as demanding from the ship owners what will in effect be a 10 per cent increase in salary, the same to take effect about June 15. The association, as a result of its deliberations, does not demand a flat 10 per cent increase, but adopted the eastern association's plan of prorating the increase on the various vessels. The association had practically decided to ask the ship owners for a flat 10 per cent guarantee for each individual belonging to it, but the arrival in Portland yesterday morning of Charles Pollett, of Seattle, secretary of the executive board, caused a readjustment of the various phases of the demand. Pollett has just returned from the east, where he took part in the deliberations of the Atlantic coast branch.

Carroll Makes Statement. Secretary Vincent Carroll, who is also president of the San Francisco branch of the coast association, last night gave out the plans of procedure. "There are three engineers on each steam vessel and instead of demand a flat increase of 10 per cent for them, we have decided to take up the case of each one separately," said Carroll. "It will average about 10 per cent in the long run, some receiving more by the new adjustment than others. "We tried to legislate so that everything would be equitable for both engineers and shipowners and I do not anticipate any serious objection on the part of the shipowners. It is obvious that a third assistant engineer on a small vessel will not get the increase of a man in the same relative position on a large steamer. Every boat of American registry will be affected. "Another matter we took up was that of overloading of vessels, thus placing the lives of crew and passengers in peril. We intend to draft a bill which we will ask the next congress to enact into a law preventing overloading. In view of the fact that there are so many laws to be considered by the present congress we considered it an inopportune time to present our proposed measure at this session. In the meantime we shall institute a campaign of education in regard to the dangers from overloading."

Organization of County Central Committee Aim of the Gathering.

G. H. WATSON ISSUES CALL

Meeting Is Called in Accordance With the Law to Assemble at Room F of the Central Library.

The newly elected precinct committeemen of the Democratic party have been called together for the organization of the county central committee by George H. Watson and Secretary Frank Lee. The meeting will be held this evening at room F of the Central Library. It is required by law that the county central committee meet within five days from the primary election for organization and election of officers. The meeting tonight has been called more for the purpose of compliance with the law than with the idea of permanent organization, owing to the fact that the county clerk has not yet completed the work of issuing election certificates to the newly elected committeemen.

Wilson League to Meet. The Woodrow Wilson league will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at Central library hall. The address of the evening will be given by Mrs. C. C. Van Orsdal, grand guardian of Women of Woodcraft, whose subject will be "Woodrow Wilson and His Problems." In addition to the address there will be a baritone solo by Dan Wilson, accompanied by Miss Catherine Barrett.
