Club Women Talk Clothes

In Biennial Session.

New York, May 27.—(U. P.)—Wonderful new dresses, from chic novelties and simple gowns to veritable creations are being shown in the home economics department of the National Women's Club's national convention in session here.

One of the important features of the biennial conference is the presentation of suggestions for a sensible but becoming and attractive dress for club members.

Mrs. W. K. James of St. Joseph, Mo., is showing her thousands of club sisters a brand new idea in costume. She is wearing a dress of her own design made entirely of squares of cloth.

Mrs. James can build the most wonderful creations out of old squares. You use squares for the skirt and a square drape for the waist, and more squares for the Grecian sleeves.

The club women want to demonstrate that it is not necessary to adopt a uniform. They are seeking something unusual and becoming and at the same time economical. They don't want to look as if they belonged to an institution.

"We want something that is suitable for all occasions," said Mrs. Mary Garrett Hunt, board member. The sartorial program includes also the creation of a dress on the stage before the eyes of the spectators.

Assisting Miss Johnson is Mrs. Edna H. Derrison, at one time president of the General Federation. The program deals with the "Meaning of the Home," the "Woman in the Home," the "Man in the Home" and the "Child in the Home." Some of the speakers presenting these various subjects are Miss Kathleen Norris, Burgess Johnson, Mrs. Josephine Dodge Hanson, Mrs. Honora Williams, Mrs. Albert Duer Miller and Frank Crowninshield.

Others presenting their ideas on dress and the home are Mrs. Genevieve Thompson of New Orleans, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison of East Orange, N. J.; Mrs. Robert Burdette of Pasadena, and Mrs. Frederick Nathan.

Suffragists Plan Political Party

At Chicago Meeting.

Chicago, May 27.—(U. P.)—All readiness for the women who will attend the Woman's party convention here, June 5, 6 and 7, in answer to the call of the Congressional Union Suffragists from all enfranchised states will determine how they can throw their votes in the next election in order to best serve the cause of national suffrage for women.

The last day of this convention will be the first day of the Republican campaign. The union has just completed an invasion of the west undertaken to consolidate the Congressional union branches in the already enfranchised states.

The work of organizing the convention, being pushed in every district in Chicago through the women's clubs, societies and industrial organizations. Miss Alice Paul, national chairman, and a notable group of militant speakers are in charge. The activities are directed from "field" headquarters on Michigan boulevard.

Miss Mabel Vernon of Delaware, who organized a militant group of enfranchised states in support of the federal amendment will arrive soon to direct a campaign of street meetings. National Organization Band.

Miss Doris Stevens, head of the national organization department, is in charge of the open air demonstrations and mass meetings that will punctuate the suffrage calendar between now and convention time.

Miss Elizabeth Elder of Philadelphia has taken charge of the information bureau and will later enroll all delegates. The work of directing the out-of-door publicity is in the hands of Miss S. Ada Fleming of London, England, one of Mrs. Jankhurst's lieutenants in the early days of the militant movement.

The program will be mainly in the hands of the voting women. Among the speakers will be Miss Maude Younger, member of the national advisory council of the union; Mrs. Sarah East, field worker from the Woman Voters' convention in San Francisco, and Mrs. William Kent, member of the national executive committee, all of California. Miss Anne Martin of Nevada, member of the national legislative committee, and Mrs. Lora Phelps Biell, state factory inspector of Colorado and member of the national advisory council of the union, hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Clifford Wells, a prominent society woman, is in charge of the work of securing accommodations for the visitors who will begin to arrive in a few days. Unable to secure rooms in the fashionable hotels, the committee has leased a number of small suburban hotels.

Contrary to reports that the union is a partisan organization, Miss Alice Paul, the national chairman, declared today that the organization is strictly nonpartisan and is working solely for a nation wide enfranchisement of all women.

A review of the suffrage situation in the house shows, suffragists say, that the Democrats have blocked the amendment. Miss Paul is explicit in giving reasons for the formation of the new party. "If women who are Republicans simply join the Republican party, and women who are Democrats simply help the Democratic party," she said, "women's votes won't count for anything. We must have a party of our own. We must be a group of independent women voters who are standing together. It will make suffrage an issue."

Among the women who will head delegations from the "free" states are: Mrs. Eleanor S. Coit of Montana, Dr. Caroline Spencer of Colorado, Mrs. George McDaniel, executive committee member of California, Mrs. Anne Martin of Nevada and Mrs. Lilla Day Monroe of Kansas.
