By Fred Lockley.
Elmore Park, Or., May 29.—Oregon has a wonderful asset in her coast line. It is an asset that at present we do not appreciate. As yet we have failed to realize that we can sell our scenery and climate. The time is not far distant when we will realize that health and recreation are two of our most valuable commodities. The beauty of it all is that year after year and generation after generation we can continue to sell our scenery, our recreation and our health restoring climate without in any way diminishing the supply. Seaside, Cannon Beach, Nehalem Beach, Garibaldi Beach, Bayosan, Netarts, Nye Beach, Newport, Bluslaw Beach, Winchester Bay, the Sandon beach and the Curry county beaches will in days to come be the Mecca toward which many an inlander and city wearied person will eagerly look for renewed health and vigor.

Beaches Are Visited.
During the past week I have visited Wash-Kah-Nie Beach, Manzanita Beach and the beaches at Manhattan, Lake Lytle, Rockaway, Elmore Park, Baitair, Oceanlake and Barview. Why we do not have more all-the-year-round cities along the Oregon coast is a problem I cannot solve. There is everything here that should make a city—a mild climate, a rich and fertile soil, an abundance of raw materials such as timber and coal, and off shore, halibut and cod banks. Tillamook county could supply the market with early vegetables, with butter, cheese, lumber, fish and other products.

Transportation to Improve.
With a country as rich as our coastal region we are bound to have more transportation. Some day the logging road that now runs from Clatskanie back into the foothills of the coast mountains will push on over the mountains into the Nehalem valley and come down the Nehalem valley to the coast. Some day the Southern Pacific branch road to Tillamook will push out a branch road from Buxton to Seaside and another branch across the Grand Mountains by a low pass that will utilize the old Forest Grove-Tillamook trail and go by a direct route down the Wilson river to Tillamook. Some day the Southern Pacific-Coos Bay branch road will be pushed southward from Marshfield along the Oregon coast line to a junction with the road that has already been built up the line of the California coast to Eureka.

Better Things Ahead.

Yes, some day the rich coastal region of Oregon will come into her own. As I write this I am sitting in the sunny front room of the Elmore hotel, which looks out upon the ocean. Off-shore about an eighth of a mile the surf is dashing up on the black basaltic sides of Profile rocks or Twin rocks, as they are locally called. The waves are rushing through the arch in the Southernmost rock like whiteman chargers. Just before lunch I went out for half an hour in a row boat on Clear lake and caught five black spotted trout with a No. 1 Wilson spoon. They ranged in size from 10 to 12 inches. Frequently 18 inch trout are caught in Clear lake and occasionally one that will measure 24 inches and tip the scales at from 3 to 4 pounds. Some years ago 20,000 trout fry were liberated in the lake and today there is splendid fishing in several of the lakes along the shore. Among the principal lakes are Lake Marie, Clear lake, Lake Lytle, Trout lake, Ocean lake and Barview Smith lake. Marie lake and Trout lake have not been stocked with trout. Ocean lake has been stocked with bass. Clear lake at Elmore Park, Lake Lytle and Barview Smith lake are all full of trout and at present afford fine fishing.

Some day we will have on the Oregon coast more hotels of a character to attract and cater to the tourist trade. Once in a while the round peg gets in the round hole and the square peg finds its complement in the square hole. Unfortunately, however, too often the square peg gets in the round hole and neither the peg nor the hole are happy.

Haven of Rest.

The Elmore Park hotel is not large nor is it pretentious, but it is certainly a haven of comfort and rest to the weary traveler who is sick of the unvarying monotony of the typical hotel. Its host, C. L. Lindsay, is a blue eyed, red cheeked, gray haired, square jawed Scotchman, who for many years traveled out of Portland. Before that he was a newspaper man. Whether it was the experience thus gained or the good judgment he exhibited in getting a helpmate I am not prepared to say, but this I do

Albany, Or., May 30.—Albany is celebrating Memorial day in fitting style. At 10 o'clock a parade formed at the public park and moved through the principal streets of the city, ending at Riverside cemetery, where exercises commemorating the dead soldiers and sailors of the Civil and Spanish-American wars were held. In the line of march were members of the G. A. R. and the W. R. C. in automobiles, headed by the Albany city band. Following came the Fifth company of the coast artillery corps, members of Camp Phillip, Spanish war veterans, school children and other organizations.

This evening will be held the big preparedness parade, in which all organizations participating in the morning parade will enter, besides the lodges, all patriotic, military and semi-military organizations and hundreds of individuals from all walks of life, registering their approval of the movement that will make for the greatness and safety of the nation.

know that here is a hotel which radiates the spirit of hospitality and service. The point is that the right shades of brown, the clam fritters are just right, the cracked crab is fresh from the sea.

After an evening spent with a good book before a wide mouthed fireplace one goes to dreamless slumber on one of the rarest things found in a bedroom—a well made, comfortable bed.

Beach Is Attractive.

The Garibaldi beaches are fortunate in having a splendid stretch of beach and as a consequence surf bathing is an ever popular pastime here. They are doubly fortunate in having a chain of fresh water lakes stretching along the shore a few hundred yards back from the ocean's shore line. A few hundred yards back of the fresh water lakes the fir-clad foothills rise abruptly. During the summer blackberries, huckleberries of three varieties, red, black and light blue, and salal berries which make splendid jelly, are abundant. With boating, fishing, surf bathing, clam digging and hiking to nearby points of interest the summer vacationist finds plenty to occupy his time both pleasurably and profitably at the Garibaldi beaches.

SUIT FOR RECOVERY OF $10,500 LOANED ALBANY BANK STARTS

Is to Make Members of Linn-haven Orchard Co. Equally Responsible for Note.

Albany, Or., May 30.—Judge William Galloway Monday convened court in department No. 2 of circuit court to hear testimony and arguments in the case of W. H. Davis and Worth Huston vs. the First National bank of Albany, a corporation; the Linnhaven Orchard company, a corporation; Alfred C. Schmitt, F. C. Roberts, Charles H. Wiedler, George H. Crowell, Owen Beam, F. J. Fletcher and J. M. Hawkins.

The suit is to make the defendants equally responsible for the payment of a note for $10,500 and interest which plaintiffs gave the bank June 30, 1910.

Plaintiffs claim the act an accommodation and that the note given them made all parties equally responsible for the payment of the sum borrowed.

Defendant A. C. Schmitt claims that he was not a member of the company at this time and that some names were written into the records after the latter part of 1915. Defendant claims to have a copy of the records between September and December, 1915.

Business Men Vote For Preparedness

Statistical Survey Has Just Been Completed by Chicago Firm—Seventeen Questions Asked.

An effort has been made to get a statistical survey of "American opinion as affected by peace and preparedness." Its results are shown in the composite opinion of 1700 American business men as compiled by Harris Winthrop & Co., Chicago.

Seventeen questions were asked and categorical replies of "yes" or "no" were solicited. Some who answered the questionnaire also made more or less extended comments. The replies have been tabulated for the whole country and separately for different sections. One section includes the replies received from Oregon, Washington, California and Nevada.

On the questions dealing strictly with preparedness and peace the following figures are given, the first numbers indicating the number of replies from the entire country and the second figures show the sentiment of the four states mentioned:

One question was "Is public sentiment in your section opposed to or in favor of special provision and expenditure for 'preparedness' by the national government?"

For the United States 78 answered "Opposed to," and 139 answered "In favor of." For the Pacific coast states the replies were 5 "Opposed to," and 147 answered "In favor of."

Another question was, "Has the war in Europe increased the sense of civic responsibility and American nationalism among the people of your section?"

For the United States 1310 answered "Yes" and 135 answered "No." For the Pacific coast states the replies were 128 "Yes" and 13 answered "No."

Bishop Thanks God For Gunners' Fire

Copenhagen, May 30.—(I. N. S.)—(Via London)—The Schleswig-Holsteiner Sonntagsbote publishes a remarkable article by Bishop Kaftan, general superintendent of the clergy of the province of Schleswig, entitled "The Present Situation and We Christians," in which the bishop calls upon the Germans to thank God for directing German torpedoes shells and air bombs. He says in part:

"Let us thank Him, who is not only the God of the German, but also the God of the other nations, for his merciful support if he allows our submarines to torpedoed American vessels carrying supplies to our enemies, quite regardless of how many and how impudent Americans are on board."

Some day you'll hit on a Sensible cigarette

And as soon as you smoke it, you'll at once know that it's sensible:

(1) It will please your taste. That goes without saying, otherwise it would not be sensible for you.

(2) It will be comfortable to your throat and tongue—not hot or bity as some cigarettes are.

(3) And it will not leave you feeling "over-smoked" even after a long-smoking day.

We would like to have you match Fatima against each one of those three points for a sensible cigarette. Then try any other cigarette made on those same points.

So many other men have found Fatimas the most sensible cigarette for them that Fatimas now outsell every other cigarette costing over 5c.

Doesn't it seem reasonable that you will like Fatimas best too?
