MOLALLA CENTER OF RICH FARMING AREA RAPIDLY DEVELOPING

Teazel Farm One of Novelties, With Ginseng Paying Owner Handsome Returns.

RAILROAD BOOSTS TOWN

Progressive Methods Resulting in the Breaking Up of Vast Wheat Fields Into Small Diversified Tracts.

By Fred Lockley.

Molalla, Or., June 13.—Few sections of Oregon are showing greater activity or more marked progress than Molalla. Pioneer Oregonians know Molalla best by its old name, "Four Corners."

Uncle Billy Vaughn, who settled in the Molalla valley in 1843, waited 70 years for the railroad to come to Molalla. At last it came. In September, 1913, Molalla saw the long hoped for realization of her dream of adequate transportation when the Portland, Eugene & Eastern railway ran its first train from Canby on the main line of the Southern Pacific to Molalla. The road is to be extended to Silverton and eventually electrified.

New Rail Line Comes.

In February, 1915, Molalla secured additional transportation facilities through the completion of the Willamette Valley Southern railway. Its northern terminus is Oregon City and it traverses a fertile and beautiful section of the Willamette valley, connecting with the branch line of the Southern Pacific at Mount Angel.

Molalla was incorporated a month after the "iron horse" had replaced "Old Buck," the buckskin stage horse that was almost as well known by travelers as Indian Henry, the last of the tribe of Molalla Indians. At the celebration held in Molalla in September, 1913, when the first train pulled in from Portland, "Old Buck" and Indian Henry were very much in evidence. Indian Henry, the last of his race, wore his suit of buckskin and the beautifully woven spruce root hat surmounted with flicker feathers that had been left to him by his grandfather. Three days later Indian Henry had taken the long trail to the Happy Hunting Grounds of his people.

Population Has Trebled.

When Molalla was incorporated it had within its corporate limits 240 residents. Today it has over 600.

The first city election was held September 22, 1913, W. W. Everhart being elected mayor. Since Molalla was incorporated, a city water plant has been installed at a cost of $10,000, and two miles of mains have been laid. A 25,000 gallon tank with good pressure furnishes excellent protection against fire. Two and a half miles of sidewalk have been put down and over $2000 has been spent in grading and graveling the streets. A new school house costing $14,000 has been built and several new store buildings, as well as a score or more of substantial and well built residences.

Logical Trading Center.

Molalla is the logical trading center for the Molalla valley or Molalla prairie, as it was formerly called, which consists of over 5000 acres of level land once largely devoted to wheat raising, but now devoted to diversified farming.

Liberal, Monitor, Union Mills, Scotts Mills, Marquam and Wilhoit are all well known places not far distant from Molalla.

Wilhoit, eight miles to the southward of Molalla, has been a favorite summer resort of the pioneer Oregonian for many decades. The old hotel there, which has been owned and run by F. W. McLaren for the past 25 or 30 years, burned down not long ago and has been replaced by a commodious hotel built on the plan of the Forestry building, of unhewn logs and having wide and ample porches.

Small Farms Developing.

The old time wheat farms of the Molalla valley are being broken up into smaller units and are being changed into dairy ranches, clover fields and orchards. Clover, alfalfa, kale, vetch and corn are being extensively grown. The raising of hogs has become one of the profitable industries of the valley.

One of the largest ginseng farms in the west is located near Molalla and it makes big money for its owner. Another unique industry is Molalla's teazel farm, owned and operated by George H. Gregory, and is the only commercial teazel farm west of the Mississippi river. In fact, it is claimed that Mr. Gregory is the only commercial teazel grower in the United States outside of the state of New York.

Teazels Big Asset.

He has 60 acres in teazels and his product won a medal at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Teazels, it may be explained, are burrs which, when properly cut and dried, are used by woolen mills to comb up the blankets and other woolen products and make them soft and fluffy. He markets his teazels all over the world but his principal market is in London.

W. A. Shaver, one of the largest breeders of cattle in Clackamas county, lives in Molalla valley. He has a 500 acre farm and finishes and markets about 100 head of Durham and Hereford grade steers each year. He also raises Lincoln and Cotswold sheep and blooded horses.

Boys Are Progressive.

Wideview Farm, owner by C. Daugherty and his sons, Fred G. and Otis R. Daugherty, is one of the show places of Molalla valley. This farm won two gold medals at the Panama-Pacific exposition, one on spring oats, the other on spring wheat. Both Fred and Otis are O. A. C. boys and they are firm believers in "book farming." They raise "pedigreed seed." The hit-or-miss, dark-of-the-moon methods of farming do not appeal to them. They analyze their soil, build it up and plant the crop best adapted to that particular type of soil. Their seed cleaning plant is operated by water power and they are demonstrating that brains pay on the farm as well as in the counting house.

There is a large amount of timber tributary to Molalla which will eventually be handled through Molalla. Molalla and the other towns along the line of the Willamette Valley Southern have a bright future and in time to come the Molalla valley and its surrounding foothills will be thickly settled and intensively cultivated.

SUICIDE THEORY STRENGTHENED IN ORPET TRIAL

parents about her relations with Orpet after she was dead.

Girl Feared Gossip.

"'Don't tell my father and mother,' she answered. 'It would only start a lot of gossip.'

"Frequently I had told Marian that I proposed to tell her mother about her trouble and the confidence she had placed in Orpet and every time that I told her this, she replied in this manner:

"'If you tell my mother one word of what I have told you in confidence, I will deny your accusation and my parents will believe me.'"

Under cross examination Josephine said Marian had made this remark after she had learned that Will and Miss Youker were to be married.

"I'll Fix Him," Is Threat.

"'Josephine, I wonder if there is any truth to the report which Dorothy Mason told about the engagement? If Will is engaged to marry Celestia Youker, I'll fix him.'"

Asked by Josephine the meaning of the threat "I'll fix him," Miss Davis said Marion replied: "Oh, never mind, you'll find out."

When court adjourned Mrs. Davis rushed up toward the witness stand to meet her daughter and they met at Attorney Dady's desk.

"Josephine, Mr. Dady is sore because you are telling the truth," said Mrs. Davis.

Attorney Dady protested to the court but the judge declared he did not believe the remark improper.

Spite Undergoes Change.

The prosecution, which had expected the Davis girl to be its star witness, jumped on Josephine with both feet when she first took the stand this morning.

She testified that the spiteful feelings she entertained toward Orpet after her last interview with the prosecuting attorneys three weeks ago, had undergone a change.

"Before that time," she said, "I was so nervous, sorry and partial that I could not give fair testimony. I was partial to my chum, and gave unfair testimony against Will Orpet.

"Then I talked with my mother, and she said I was too much under the influence of the prosecuting attorneys and was ready to say anything to harm Will.

Ready to Tell Truth.

"But now I am here to tell the truth."

"You say," asked the prosecution, "that you were so nervous, partial and wrought up that you were unable to tell a true story?"

"I was so much under the influence of the prosecution that I could not do a fair thing," was the answer.

"You heard the oath given you by the coroner's jury?"

"Yes. I shook hands with Prosecutor Dady and he told me he would not say a word about what I had said; but the next day my story appeared in all of the newspapers. Then I decided to keep my mouth shut, knowing that if I told anything I knew there would be a worse scandal."

The witness testified that she and Marian Lambert got up a letter which Josephine wrote to Orpet a fortnight before Marian's death.

"I congratulate you," the letter to Orpet read, "on your engagement to Miss Youker. It was announced yesterday in the girls' locker room by a member of the prospective bride's family."

This testimony was considered to be materially helping the defense.

SUMMER MILITARY TRAINING MAY GET THE BUSINESS MEN

Busy Man Who "Can't Get Away" May Have His Bluff Called, It Is Said.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Able Men Between 18 and 50 Are Eligible to Join Encampment at American Lake.

The business man who says, "I can't go to the summer military training camp—I can't get away from town," may have his bluff called.

Dr. E. A. Pierce, chairman of a committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday to aid in recruiting Portland business men for summer military training, outlined this morning a plan, for which approval will be asked, to muster business men for evening drills and setting up exercises and Sunday marches. Multnomah field might be utilized.

Men to Be Recruited.

"We shall, of course, give our first efforts to the recruiting of men for the summer military training camp at American lake," said Dr. Pierce in advance of a meeting of the committee at noon in the Chamber of Commerce. "But many men have an entirely valid excuse for not leaving the city and the time might come when the people of this nation would be very glad if they had been given training."

Dr. Pierce's committee associates are Hamilton Corbett, General Charles F. Beebe, Colonel H. C. Cabell, Hilmer Papst and S. F. Owen.

Committee Is Named.

The appointment of the committee followed an address before the members' council of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by Colonel Cornelius Gardener in which business men were urged to enlist for summer training.

Uniforms, transportation and food, except for $10, are furnished by the government.

Men between 18 and 50 years of age, if able to endure camp life and marching and if they can learn to shoot straight, are welcome for summer military training.

RUSSIANS THREATEN TO INVEST LEMBERG IN THEIR GREAT DRIVE

conservative critics is two killed or injured for every prisoner. This would mean that a total of 360,000 Austrians have been put out of the fighting since June 4. The Austrian army on the east front has been variously estimated at from 700,000 to 1,000,000 men.

The new Russian line now makes a deep U into the region toward Kovel. Every mile here is a double gain. It drives the Austrian back and at the some time makes the positions of the Germans on the line toward Riga less tenable.

In the south the armies of the czar are knocking at the gates of Czernowitz and the rich country beyond. Unofficial reports are that Czernowitz has already been taken. This has not been confirmed.

Austrians Claim Success.

Berlin, Via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., June 13.—(U. P.)—Reporting minor victories at several points in the fighting to stop the advance of the powerful drive of the Russians, the Austrian official statement declares the losses correspond to the reckless use of mass formations by the Russians.

"On the height east of Wisniovczyk, Russian attacks were broken down by Austro-Hungarian artillery fire," said the statement, covering yesterday's fighting.

"East of Koslov, Austrian scout detachments captured a Russian advance post. Northwest of Tarnopol, violent fighting continues. Positions near Vorobiovka have changed hands several times.

"West of Kolki, yesterday Austro-Hungarians repulsed a Russian attempt to cross the Hereas."

Roumania May Join Allies.

London, June 13.—(U. P.)—The prospect of Roumania joining the allies in the war against the central powers is growing daily with the advance of the Russian armies into Bukovina, according to reports in diplomatic circles here.

Own Guns Turned on Austrians.

London, June 13.—(U. P.)—So rapid was the advance of the Russian armies in the region of Lutsk that the Austrians in several instances did not even take time to fire the guns they had loaded, according to a Petrograd dispatch today. In these instances the Russians appropriated the guns where they stood, turned them right about and poured their deadly hail into the fleeing men.

Bulgarian Ports Bombarded.

Rome, June 13.—(I. N. S.)—The allied fleet is bombarding Bulgarian ports from Port Lagos to Dedeagatch, according to a dispatch received here today from Saloniki.

New Ford Plants Planned.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 13.—(I. N. S.)—Appeals for lower freightage by representatives of the Ford Motor Car company before the classification agents of the southern railways disclosed plans for the establishment of new plants at Birmingham, Norfolk, Richmond and New Orleans.

Partly mechanical and partly electrical is a Chicago inventor's alarm that fires five blank cartridges in succession if a burglar enters or tries to wander around a building.

Out of Prison Now After Twenty Years

Frank Wade Granted Conditional Pardon That He May Be With Aged Parents Who Pleaded for Him.

Salem, Or., June 13.—In order that he may go to his aged parents at Central Point, Jackson county, and aid them, and comfort them in their last days, Frank Wade, committed from Jackson county 20 years ago for the murder of Frank Marlow, was granted a conditional pardon Tuesday by Governor Withycombe.

Wade for part of his term was confined in the state hospital for the insane, but he is rational now. He was convicted of murder in the second degree.

Wade's parents are very old and almost helpless and they have been pleading for his release for some time.

Wade agrees to return to the prison after his parents' death if the authorities want him.

Wade's brother was tried for the same murder and convicted. His sentence was commuted by Governor Lord and he was released in August, 1897.

Perrine Is Pardoned.

Salem, Or., June 13.—Virgil A. Perrine, who held up the cashier of the Milwaukie bank in Clackamas county single handed, and who was sentenced to serve 10 years in prison, was conditionally pardoned by Governor Withycombe Tuesday. Perrine was committed to the prison September 13, 1913, the charge being assault and robbery. He will go to his parents in St. Louis, his father having agreed to take care of him. In his behalf it was argued that he is a youth and had fallen into bad company.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. All leading druggists in this vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each large box. (Adv.)
