Addresses at Park. At 4 p. m. addresses and ritualistic services will be held at Park and Jefferson streets. Harry E. Allen, exalted ruler of the Elks, will preside and the principal address will be delivered by K. K. Kuhl, past ruler. The tribute to the flag will be given by Frank Longman and W. A. Burke will give the history of the flag. The day's festivities will continue in a concert by the Elks' band at Park and Jefferson streets at 8 p. m. The parade will be featured by the participation of high school students and band, and a human flag composed of children from Sunnyside school. Another feature will be a Betsy Ross flag, which has been secured by the Elks. The observance of flag day is under the auspices of the Portland Elks. Elks all over the United States have long observed flag day and Grand Exalted Ruler Nicholson asked that tomorrow's services be held for the public if possible. All visiting Elks will be asked to join in the Portland parade. All local Elks are requested to march in the parade. Those who march will receive a souvenir silk flag. The meeting hour will be 2:30 o'clock at the lodge room. There will be automobiles for the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of Elks. The committee in charge of the plans for the day is composed of Fred W. Wagner, George L. Baker, E. D. Curtis, Judge C. U. Gantenbein, A. W. Orton, Ray Harknurt, John W. Baker and John Price. These men are endeavoring to make tomorrow's celebration the greatest that Portland has ever seen on flag day. Other organizations observing the day are the Woodmen of the World and the Sons of the American Revolution.

M'COMBS WIRES AN INVITATION TO PROGRESSIVES

contain much to appeal to Progressives.

Will Not Comment. He refused to comment on reports that some of the conservative Democratic leaders had attempted to check the efforts to win over the Progressives.

A national child labor law and recognition of the woman suffrage movement may be two of the leading planks in the Democratic platform. The child labor plank is to be the principal feature of the social welfare clauses. Those urging this plank desire it to show Progressives that the Democratic party is willing to abandon its historic states rights stand on this subject. A canvass of strength, Progressive Democrats claim, has shown that southern Democrats here have not sufficient strength to block this plank.

Plan Is Popular. Effort to enter into harmonious relations with the Progressive party meets general approval of Democratic leaders and the initiators of the plan are at work lining up support. Many big Democrats as fast as they reached the city were enlisted in the movement. Secretary of Agriculture Houston was one of these. The plan has been working out many of the ideas advanced by the Progressives four years ago, he said, and there is room for the Progressives in the party. Homer S. Cummings, the national committee's choice for national chair, man, joined immediate definite action and the extending of an invitation to the Progressives to offer suggestions before the platform is completed.

Definite Action Urged. Urey Woodson, Kentucky national committeeman, joined the forces urging definite action. "Why not?" said Woodson. "It's a long call from the Republican platform, adopted at Chicago, to what the Progressives stand for. We come nearer to having what they want. Most Bull Moosers would be good Democrats merely by changing their name. We ought to get the rank and file of the Progressive party," said Cato Sells, Texas committeeman. W. W. Marshall, Iowa national committeeman, said he wanted to see plans worked out for taking over the Progressives.

Opposition to the plan has grown out of the fear that it would bring a big radical element into the party that would be hard to handle, so the would-be kidnappers charged today. They say the fear is unfounded. Definite Understanding Urged. "If the Democratic party organization is to be more important than the party membership," said one of the leaders, "we haven't anything to offer the Progressives, that's true. That is why they left the Republican party and that is why their new party has been wrecked. If we're going to invite them in, let's not do it under false pretenses. Let's bring them in on a real understanding of what we propose to do. The first step in that direction would be to have as many of them as possible here while we work out our own platform and program."

Opposition to the combination program was voiced today by Senator Hardwick of Georgia, one of the conservative group in the senate. "If we win we'll win as Democrats on historic Democratic issues," said Hardwick. "The so-called Progressives, I believe, will get checked up short if they attempt to override states rights on child labor and similar measures."

TENTATIVE DRAFT OF DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM IS O. K'D BY WILSON

St. Louis, June 13.—(U. P.)—Secretary of War Baker will arrive in St. Louis tonight with the draft of the Democratic platform approved by President Wilson himself. In fact the chief executive is credited personally with writing a number of planks. He has talked the whole document over with Senator Stone of Missouri. The latter has the principal direction of putting together of the words and pledges on which democracy will make the race this year. The great bulk of the delegates were arriving today. Lobbies of the Jefferson and Platters hotels show more of the convention spirit—but up to this morning exactly one band has blared its way down town. The delegates put in their time alternately dodging and talking to woman suffrage workers; several scores of movie operators are on the job from dawn to dark and several hundred newspaper men are in town. St. Louis has done herself proud on convention weather. The days have just been warm enough to make summer clothing comfortable, but not enervating. William Jennings Bryan arrived today. Twenty years ago the silver-tongued orator came to the 1896 Democratic convention as a reporter, thrilled Democracy with eloquence and departed as its presidential candidate. In the 1916 convention Mr. Bryan will be a reporter—just as he was 20 years ago. He is officially accredited also as an alternate. Bryan will probably address the convention, but is not expected to take a prominent part in the proceedings of the convention. The convention will adjourn early on Wednesday, probably immediately after the keynote speech of ex-Governor Glynn, out of respect to the memory of the late Thomas J. Pence, secretary of the Democratic national convention. One other thing which led to the decision to cut short the session was the discovery that if the usual program were adhered to, three out of four of the big speeches of the convention would come on the same day.

Victory for Roosevelt. St. Paul, Minn., June 13.—(I. N. S.)—Minnesota Progressives are likely to support Hughes. C. W. Halbert, state chairman, said today: "It is to be borne in mind that the selection of Mr. Hughes by the Republicans is not a victory for the reactionaries, but really a victory for Mr. Roosevelt, who put them in a position where they had to nominate such a man."

Candidates to Withdraw. Omaha, Neb., June 13.—(I. N. S.)—Progressives are so pleased over the nomination of Charles E. Hughes that they are at work lining up support. Many big Democrats as fast as they reached the city were enlisted in the movement. Secretary of Agriculture Houston was one of these. The plan has been working out many of the ideas advanced by the Progressives four years ago, he said, and there is room for the Progressives in the party.

Progressive Party Disbands. Des Moines, Iowa, June 13.—(I. N. S.)—With the nomination of Charles E. Hughes for president by the Republican party, the Iowa Progressive party is disbanded. This was the consensus of opinion among leading Iowa Bull Moosers today. Casper Schenk, Iowa Bull Moose leader, issued a long statement in which he returned to the Republican party and pledged support to Hughes. Other Progressives said Schenk speaks for them and, they believe, for most of the party.

Two Men Dynamite Power Wire Towers. San Francisco, June 13.—(P. N. S.)—Two men are being sought by detectives today as the dynamiters who blew up three big steel towers of the Sierra & San Francisco Power company, carrying power from the mountains for the use of the United Railroads. The towers, located on the top of San Bruno mountain in San Mateo county, were wrecked early Sunday. Three distinct explosions were felt by people for miles around, the first at 3:34 a. m. and the last at 4:10 a. m. Mystery surrounds the dynamiting. The two men sought by the police were seen walking near the towers carrying a large, heavy valise. This is supposed to have contained the explosive used in wrecking the towers. Railroad detectives are cooperating in an effort to find the men and unravel the mystery surrounding the affair. The damage now is being repaired rapidly. Immediately after the explosion, the steam auxiliary plant of the United Railroads was put into use and the car service was not interrupted.

Fulton Park's Tots Have Own Festival. A young friend of The Journal who has the instinct of a news reporter, sends in the following account of the Fulton Park rose show: "The small girls of the Fulton Park school had a little floral parade all of their own last Saturday and had their doll buggies as well as themselves decorated and marched around the block and school house with a little band in the line. Genevieve Dornier, aged 6, was the queen, and her little sisters, 5 and 4 years old, were the attendants. Then they had a fine little picnic dinner to wind up with. Please put this in your next paper. Now don't forget. From one of the little folks."

REPORT ON BRANDEIS SHOWS OTHERS HAVE SUFFERED CRITICISM

Moorfield Storey, Who Fought New Justice, Also Attacked Elihu Root.

CONCLUSIONS ARE QUOTED

Telegram From U'Ren to Senator Chamberlain Urging Brandeis Confirmation by Senate in Report.

Washington, June 13.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Appended to the final report of the senate judiciary committee on the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis as a member of the supreme court, made public when the vote was taken on confirmation, are a number of letters and telegrams received by members of the senate. Among these is one addressed to Senator Chamberlain, signed by William S. U'Ren, reading as follows: "Urge the confirmation of Brandeis because he is able, just and progressive. One of the best appointments president could have made. No one opposing here but reactionaries, special-privilege beneficiaries and big business representatives. Opponents here include all who were appointed in advance nomination of Taft (as supreme court justice) as the graceful thing to do."

Storey Is Hit Hard. In this report reference is also made to the severe criticism which eminent American jurists and public men have received in other years, when partisanship has been rampant. One of the hardest-hitting observations of the report is that dealing with Moorfield Storey of Boston, who led the onslaught on the whole Boston crowd that fought Brandeis. The report says: "Take such an eminent man as Elihu Root, now the president of the American Bar association. We take it that practically everyone who has protested against Mr. Brandeis would gladly accept Mr. Root as the kind of a man and the kind of a qualified lawyer who should adorn the supreme bench. Yet it is the irony of the present situation that in a report published in 1902, entitled, 'Root's Record in the Philippine Warfare,' Moorfield Storey, who has been most prominent in fighting the nomination of Mr. Brandeis, joined in summing up conclusions, among others, as follows: 'Criticism of Root. That the statements of Mr. Root, whether as to the origin of the war, its progress or the methods by which it has been prosecuted have been untrue. That he has shown a desire not to investigate and, on the other hand, to conceal the truth touching the war, and to shield the guilty, and by censorship and otherwise has largely succeeded.'"

That Mr. Root's prominent position as a citizen," proceeds the committee report, "is a guaranty that nothing which we quote now from Mr. Storey in 1902 can possibly do any injury, but if he had had less prominence and power, and disappointed railroads and other special interests had so desired."

A Smooth, Hairless Skin for Every Woman (The Modern Beauty.) With the aid of plain delatone paste it is an easy matter to rid the skin of unsightly hairy growths. The paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs not wanted and after 2 or 3 minutes rubbed off and the skin washed. When every trace of hair will have vanished. When you go to your druggist for delatone, be sure you get the genuine article. (Adv.)

the above quoted report would be certainly a substantial foundation upon which to build a structure of doubt as formidable, in any view of the situation, as is the one which is now sought to be interposed against the nomination of Mr. Brandeis."

CAMPAIGN TO STAVE OFF PROPOSED ARMOR PLANT BILL IS MADE

Washington, June 13.—The government armor plate provision in the naval appropriation bill divided the Oregon delegation in the house. McArthur and Hawley voted against it, Sinnott for it. Sinnott thinks it may never be necessary for the government actually to manufacture armor for its battleships, but he believes it a good thing to have in reserve, so the armor plate interests will not be able to do as they please.

The bill appropriates $11,000,000 for establishing a government plant. Ever since Senator Tillman, early in the present session, began to urge this appropriation, and sentiment appeared strong for it, the armor makers have conducted a systematic campaign. For days a time congressmen and newspaper correspondents have received in their mail neatly prepared and well written arguments from the Bethlehem Steel company protesting against a government plant.

The plea became almost tearful in declaring that a plant owned by the government is almost the sole customer for armor plate. At the same time members of congress and newspaper correspondents have received in their mail neatly prepared and well written arguments from the Bethlehem Steel company protesting against a government plant.

Crater Park Booklet Out. Washington, June 13.—"Forests of Crater Lake National Park," is the title of a publication by J. F. Perrot, just issued by the department of the interior. This describes the principal tree species and is well illustrated by cuts of characteristic types. "The traveler who makes only a fleeting trip to the park, sees the lake but once and then passes on, will overlook much of the best that the region can offer," says the department. "It is better to remain longer within the borders, to camp beneath its hemlocks and firs, to explore its peaks and forests, and look often and long upon its lake, whose blue waters and wonderful tree and cliff setting leave memories that never can be lost."
