

News of Women's Clubs BYVELLA WINNER

THE Association of Collegiate Alumnae, of which Mrs. Robert C. French is president, will give its annual tea to college women and to high school girls who will next fall enter college, Saturday of this week, between the hours of 3 and 5 at Reed college.

Baker MacDowell Club Busy.—The MacDowell club of Baker has announced the complete act arranged by the club for the "Fourth of July Follies." In addition to Miss French and Miss Hoberg, there will be vocal numbers by Mrs. Leland Finch and Miss Helen Biggs, both well known to Baker music lovers.

Central Union to Meet.—The meeting of the Central W. C. T. U. will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at 1714 Eleventh street for important business. The amendment to prohibit the importation of intoxicating liquor and the one to allow the manufacture of beer will be discussed by Mrs. Minnie Hyde and Mrs. M. M. Sleeth. Mrs. Mary L. Maljet will give an address on "Beer vs. Health and Morals." The meeting will be open with visitors welcomed.

FRATERNAL NOTES

Knights Templar Special Car to Los Angeles Next Friday.

Knights Templar Special Car.—Next Friday afternoon a party of Knights Templar will leave Portland for Los Angeles on a special car attached to the Shasta limited, to attend the Centennial Conclave of the order. They expect to arrive in time to attend the ceremonies attendant upon the reception of the officers of the supreme commandery on Sunday morning and to hear services celebrated by eminent Sir Knight William Wallace Youngson of Portland, Or., supreme prelate of the order. Among the party will be W. F. Laraway of Hood River, deputy grand commander; James F. Robinson of Portland, grand recorder; C. Taylor and wife, past grand commander; Portland; Ralph D. Robinson and wife of Portland; Frank S. Ballie and wife of Baker, E. E. Kiddle and wife of Island City, W. H. Savage of Corvallis, John F. Robinson and wife of Pendleton, J. T. Rorick and wife of The Dalles, Chris Fraley and wife of The Dalles, R. B. McClung and wife of Portland, W. T. Farnham, wife and daughter of Grants Pass.

New Moose Lodge.—The organization of a new lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose will take place next Saturday night under the authority of T. J. Ratcliffe, state director of organization, assisted by A. J. Eyth. Portland lodge will attend with a large delegation of officers, members and the degree team, and confer the secret work and install the officers. This charter list had reached 125 last Sunday, with more coming in every day. It is expected to number 150 before the officers are installed.

Sons of Norway at Astoria.—The district conventions of the Sons of Norway and of the Daughters of Norway were held in Astoria last Saturday and delegates attended from California, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Alaska, Washington and British Columbia. Steps were taken which it is believed will result in a consolidation of the two orders. The next grand lodge will be held in Tacoma. Thomas Kollerup of Seattle, was selected president. Emil P. Silovap of Portland was one of the delegates elected to the supreme lodge, to meet in Duluth, Minn., in the latter part of next month.

E. T. Reception Toast.—Washington commandery, Knights Templar, will confer the order of the Red Cross tonight at East Eighth and East Burnside streets, upon a large class of applicants. The visiting delegation of the Boston, Massachusetts, commandery, is expected to be present. An informal reception will be tendered to Supreme Prelate W. W. Youngson, who has been appointed to that office from Oregon, and is prelate of Washington commandery.

Eastern Star Social Friday.—Rose City Chapter, Order Eastern Star, will give a social next Friday night at the Masonic temple, which will be attended by a large number of members of that chapter, as well as Masons and visiting members of the order.

Eureka Council Met.—Eureka Council, Knights and Ladies of Security, met last night in closed session and initiated a class of candidates. Committees were appointed to present the social program at the open meeting next Monday night at W. O. W. temple. A large attendance was present.

Fraternity Outings Next Sunday.—The Foresters of America will hold a picnic and excursion next Sunday, with Bull Run as the destination. The Macabean organizations of Portland will do the same for Bonville. The big Wabfoot excursion on the Columbia highway will require 100 automobiles.

Youngson Leaves Tomorrow.—Rev. William Wallace Youngson, who has been appointed as grand prelate of the grand encampment of Knights Templar of the United States, leaves this evening for Los Angeles to be in attendance at the triennial convocation. At Salem he will be joined by a party of seven Knights Templar and at Albany by Curtis B. Winn, past grand commander of Oregon, and one of the prominent members of the grand encampment.

Osauk Mason Visits.—W. H. Stark, customs collector of Winnipeg, Canada, will be in Portland this morning on his way to the triennial convocation at Los Angeles. He will visit the grand recorder of Oregon and will accompany the Knights Templar party leaving Friday afternoon. He is a member of King Edward preceptory, Knights Templar, of Winnipeg, Manitoba.

I. O. O. F. Library Officers.—The I. O. O. F. Library association has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: W. P. Lewis, president; Charles Christianson, vice president; W. W. Dugan, Jr., secretary; Charles Jenne, treasurer.

Smart Mason Will Visit.—In response to letters of invitation sent by Grand Secretary James F. Robinson, Alfred G. Pinkham, grand master of the grand lodge of Minnesota, and A. M. Lewis, visit Portland to see the far-famed Columbia scenery and premises his friends to be here on June 29, returning from the Los Angeles Knights Templar convocation.

Miss Edythe McElhiney, who will give fancy dances at the reception to be given tomorrow evening by the State Women's Press club at the home of Mrs. E. H. Ingham in Woodstock.

Tip-Top Show at Pantages.—A GLIMPSE of the wild west is seen in the headlines of the new bill at the Pantages. It's more than a glimpse. It's a miniature Pendleton Round-Up, with bucking horses, expert roping and trick riding all done with the same dash that might be expected if horses and riders were out on the range.

Through a strong streak of comedy there's the act, with a very fat and funny sheriff as the butt of it. The act is beautifully staged, and the one woman, Adele von Ohe, looks like an illustration for a western best seller, drawn by Remington.

There's plenty of other good things on the bill, however, among them a oute business of a "detrimental school," and about the best comedy, a "basic act that has come along this season. Knapp and Cornalls, two young fellows who do a little of several things, and do it all well. Knapp is the acrobat and Cornalls the comedian—both the real thing.

Scanlon and Press, man and maid, are whirlwind dancers, and sing well. Both are "good lookers," and they make an attractive duo.

Lillian Watson is very wee, and sings songs about it. She does Yiddish character songs very cleverly, and is a competent little vaudeville person. Opening the bill are four beautiful hunting dogs in a splendid posing act. This week's episode of "The Iron Claw" is called "The Saving of Dan O'Mara."

Lyric Has Fun Maker. Harry L. Stone's Alhambra musical comedy company opened the fifth week of its engagement at the Lyric theatre yesterday by presenting "Lena Rivers." Director Raymond Bell, who managed the initial appearance with the company by playing the leading comedy role Joel Slocum, caused many hearty laughs by his droll witicisms. Chloe Bell, the dainty ingenue, won many smiles by her clever portrayal of the title role. Lena Rivers, Bertha Scott, as Mrs. Graham, was all that could be desired, and Carol Van appeared as Carolina Livingston. Val made an excellent John Livingston, and Jack Ownbey was cast for Durward Belmont. Walter Deleair, as Granddad Nichols, handled the role excellently. The musical numbers are all successful. Tonight professionals and amateurs will be "tried out." Tomorrow night the usual profit sharing will be indulged in by the audience.

Drink Struggle Is Shown. "The Craving," now being shown at the Sunset, shows the bitter struggle that men must undergo to unfasten themselves from the grip of the liquor habit. In this picture the long and strong drink is depicted as an inherited weakness. There is a good love story, with the villain, knowing the hero's weakness, disgracing him in the eyes of his sweetheart by getting him drunk. He goes to work and continues his downward course. There's no hope, it seems; but finally he takes a turn, and with the aid of a friend, rid himself of the habit, goes back east and marries the "coolie" sweetheart. A girl who turned him down when she learned that he drank.

Fairbanks Has Birthday. Douglas Fairbanks, who will be seen here soon in "Rasputin," gave a number of his friends a surprise in celebration of his thirty-third birthday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. De Wolf Hopper, Mr. and Mrs. Allah Dwan, Charles Chaplin, Edna Purviance, Dustin Farnum, Winifred Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. William Farnum. Dustin Farnum once more did his masterpiece from "The Virginian." Bill Hopper recited "Cover with a White Sheet," and William Farnum assumed the role of the noble Anthony, and Charles Chaplin told of the night he danced at the Sixty club in New York. All in all, it was a nice little party from reports.

Julia Sanderson Bride. Julia Sanderson, actress, and Lieutenant Bradford Barnett, U. S. N., were married June 6 at Greenwich, Conn. Lieutenant Barnett is head of the United States Bureau of Fish and Game. Miss Sanderson does not intend to quit the stage.

PERSONAL MENTION. J. N. Grant of The Dalles is a guest at the Carlton. Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Judd of Pendleton are at the Portland. John Dawson is registered at the Perkins on Athena. D. G. Cruikshank is a Hood River visitor at the Oregon. A. E. Brewster of Walls Walla is at the Norton. G. F. Brown and family of Condon are guests at the Cornells. Marion Jack of Pendleton and C. F. Stone of Klama Falls are at the Perkins. W. H. Andrews is a Wasco visitor at the Perkins. Judge A. C. Hough, Grants Pass attorney, is at the Portland. W. C. Young is a Seattle visitor at the Norton. Frank Cunningham is registered at the Carlton from Hammond. W. D. McNary of Pendleton, superintendent of the Eastern Oregon State hospital, at Imbros, is at the Perkins. Isaac Bland is registered at the Perkins from Mitchell. J. L. Kingsbury of Carrolls, is at the Oregon. Roy Wisecarver is a McMinnville visitor at the Cornells. Major U. G. The Journal Woman's Calendar

By Vella Winner. INSISTENT SPORT TOGS. One cannot look into a window nowadays without receiving the impression that the sports hat has things all its own way in the world of dress. The same is true in regard to sports clothes all along the line. There may be clothes for other occasions but they are actually afraid to show themselves, it would seem. You would suppose that every woman in the world were mad about golfing, tennis, hiking, or some other sport more or less violent. And the most striking thing about it all is that farm women buy sports clothes no matter whether they sport or not. I'll wager that many who fit themselves out with sports coats, sports skirts, sports hats, sports shoes and whatever else "sports" they can discover, have never touched a racket, would not know a caddy of the golf variety from one Howland's, and if a civil service exam were held, and if a civil service exam would not be able to tell tea from tea. But who cares! Sports clothes are modish; and that is all that is necessary. Tonight a girl declared to me that she really must have a new hiking suit for she was a great walker. She said she often walked as much as a mile at a single stretch, when at a little milk to discover, when she walked around the block before breakfast, if she happened to be up in time.

FISH AU GRATIN. A delicious way to utilize the fish left-overs is to make fish au gratin. Any kind of fish may be used, and the dish is very economical. Take about two cupsful of the fish, well boned, flaked and cooked. If you have some mashed potatoes in your ice chest, mix a baking dish with them, allowing them to extend over the edge of the dish slightly. Now lay the fish across the bottom of the pan. Cover with a layer of white sauce—the regulation cream dressing which is used on codfish and other dishes. Now cover again with the fish and a bit of chopped parsley. A layer of grated cheese around the edges of the pan. If you have any other cheese you have on hand should then be added. Bake in the oven until the cheese is quite brown.

POTATOES WITH CARROTS. Peel and boil six good-sized potatoes. When cooked, rub through wire sieve and season with salt and pepper and warm butter. Add a little milk to moisten them. Beat well and mound with knife in beehive shape on vegetable dish. Have tender sliced carrots warming in butter. Lay carrots in center of mound around potatoes, dot top with a few carrot slices and serve hot.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS. Apply a drop of olive oil to the door hinges. You will find it very good to keep them from creaking. Always boil a new clothesline before using it. This prevents the line from stretching and makes it last longer. New props should be soaked in cold water for a few hours, as this prevents them from splitting. These are inexpensive and are often just the thing for the kitchen, as well as other parts of the house. To tell from a pineapple a ripe, pull the leaves from it and if they do not pluck readily the pineapple is not ready to be used.

FOR THE INVALID. In case of stomach trouble, great care should be taken with the diet. Often a restful food is found in grapefruit. For oatmeal gruel, soak a handful of oatmeal overnight in water, pour off the water in the morning and add a pint of fresh milk.

AMUSEMENTS. SPECIAL concert programs will be given by the Columbia Ladies' Orchestra on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings, commencing at 2:30 and 8:30 P. M. respectively. The numbers played by the orchestra will be augmented by vaudeville specialties and the entire program will be changed weekly, commencing the new week with the Sunday afternoon concert.

Those who are interested in the production of sketches, tableaux or dramatic acts should remember that arrangements can be made with the park management for the use of the big stage in The Oaks Auditorium, with its complete equipment of scenery and the services of an expert stage manager. Many dramatic organizations have been invited to the use of small platforms when attempting to stage what might easily be made into acts of gripping interest but for the lack of proper setting. It is with a view to developing Portland dramatic talent that this decision has been made.

Then, again, there are those who have perfected an act and have been unable to find an opportunity to show it to the public for judgment. This difficulty can be overcome in cases where merit appears. The Oaks management will designate one night each week when acts of local production will be presented, in addition to the regular entertainment program. Further information may be obtained by telephoning the business office of The Oaks, Sellwood 230.

Forest Service Maps of Gorge Park Out

Assistant District Forester Tells Members' Council Guides to Campers Are Here for Free Distribution. Guide maps of the Columbia gorge park, which borders the Columbia river highway for some 22 miles between Warrendale and Viento, have been received by the forest service officials in the Beak building.

These maps are for free distribution, announced Charles H. Flory, assistant district forester, to the members' council of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, and may be had either from the forest service or the Chamber of Commerce. There are really three maps. One shows the gorge park in relief with Mount Hood in the background. The second is a contour map showing elevations. The third shows the relation of the park to Portland, and includes the route of the proposed loop road around the east base of Mount Hood, connecting the Columbia river and Mount Hood highways in a 175 mile tourist boulevard. The reverse side of the sheet carries text matter descriptive of the park, the waterfalls and streams, the camping spots and trails, the flora and the fauna, and suggestions to campers, as well as friendly words of warning in respect to campfires.

Sergeant Wounded Twice Within Year. David Wilson of First Canadian Expeditionary Force is Now in Hospital at Manchester. Sergeant Major David Wilson of the First Canadian expeditionary force, has been wounded twice within a year, and is now in a hospital at Manchester, England, hoping that his wounds will heal soon, so that he can get back to the front.

This information comes in a letter to his brother, G. Wynn Wilson of Portland. His last wounds were received May 5. He was in a trench on the Ypres front when hit. He was carried on a man's back through a mile of communication trenches to the "dressing station," and then two miles on a stretcher to the "clearing station," where the surgeons got to work, although it took them nine hours to get to his case. He was wounded by shrapnel in the leg and thigh, but does not expect any permanent impairment.
