

MANAGER CONVICTED OF UNDER-READING A 'TEST OF CREAM'

Head of Hazelwood Company Fined $75 by Judge Dayton Today.

STATE PLAINTIFF IN CASE

Tests of Food Commissioner Shows Greater Amount of Butterfat Than Had Been Reported.

Carl Schallinger, president and general manager of the Hazelwood company, was convicted today in district court of under-reading the Babcock test of cream shipped to his company by W. M. Sanders Jr. of Hermiston. Judge Dayton assessed a fine of $75.

Prosecution was brought by the state on complaint of J. D. Mickle, dairymen and food commissioner, after he had made his own test of nine different shipments of cream to the Hazelwood company, and in each instance found that this test showed a greater percentage of butterfat than the percentage reported by the Hazelwood company.

As the price paid to the farmer and dairymen for his cream is based on the amount of butterfat it contains, the conviction in this case is considered by Commissioner Mickle to be of much importance to the farmer.

The particular test named in the complaint was made by the Hazelwood company May 12. The Hazelwood company reported 39 per cent butterfat, while Mickle's test showed 42.5 per cent butterfat, or a difference of 3.5 per cent.

JOHNS CHAIRMAN OF G. O. P. RATIFICATION SESSION IN PORTLAND

Bearer of Olive Branch Is Selected as a Compromise Candidate.

Charles A. Johns has been selected as the official dove of peace to bear the talismanic olive branch prior to and during the big Republican ratification meeting which is to be held shortly after the delegates to the national convention return to Portland. He was selected as chairman of the committee on arrangements at a meeting held at the Imperial hotel yesterday afternoon.

The Republican county central committee, headed by its chairman, J. L. Day, started out right after the nomination of Hughes on Saturday last to work up a ratification meeting. The announcements were made, committees were appointed and things started off in good shape.

After Mr. Day and the central committee had swung into their stride a call was issued by the Oregon Republican club, the head men of which do not fraternize very freely with the leaders of the central committee, preparatory to working up a ratification rally of its own.

Pursuant to this call various men met at the Imperial hotel yesterday while Chairman Day and some members of the central committee also attended. There was a good deal of discussion not entirely of a harmonious nature. It was contended that since the central committee was the official organization of the party, and had displayed some initiative ability by starting the republican club ought not to butt in on the game. It could come in and help if it wanted to, but it ought not to hog the show. It was decided that the central committee, being in charge of the central committee's rally, ought to be at the head of any joint movement that might be carried out.

HANEY CALLS COMMITTEE

Chairman of Democratic State Group Issues Invitation. B. E. Haney, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, has issued a call for the organization meeting of the committee, to be held at the Portland hotel Saturday, June 21, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The meeting is called for the purpose of organizing the committee and electing a state chairman and other officers, and for laying plans for the inauguration of the presidential campaign in the state.

With a united party, peace and prosperity, the election of president Wilson is in all human probability an assured fact; but we must overlook no effort to place Oregon again in the "Wilson column," the call for the meeting states in urging a full attendance.

To Decide Question of Double Standard

Censors Stop Film Production for Men After Permitting Women to View It, and Court Is Appealed To. San Francisco, June 14.—(P. N. S.)—Police Judges Sullivan and Fitzpatrick today are being called upon to decide whether a local board of censors is justified in establishing a double standard of morals for men and women, when the men are the ones whose morals it is sought to protect.

Reversing the usual procedure, the censors have declared by their actions that the film "Light Siders" is not a fitting spectacle for men, although proper for women. The film ran at a local theatre to an audience of women last week, without interference. This week, when it was put on for men, the censors stopped it and caused the arrest of the producers. Judge Sullivan and Fitzpatrick this afternoon are witnessing a private production of the film, after which they will conduct a hearing.

been willing to become friends with false masks. The result is inevitable—"divided they fall." We are proud in the thought that "united we stand." We welcome the new spirit of Americanism of the real progressives individually to our ranks, offering them a haven in principle. Their leader has abandoned them with crass cruelty. "This is a crucial hour in the history of the world. It is an hour when every man should take stock of himself and his principles. This is an hour when everyone should see whether in his inner consciousness, he squares with the ideals of 1776 and the later periods of dramatic episodes when this country resolutely maintained peace with dignity. The Democratic party, in the face of scandalous and vicious attacks, has maintained this great American ideal. While for the past several years it has steadily and surely worked for sound and powerful preparedness. It has maintained a solemn, calm dignity in the face of circumstances which might have drawn it into the vortex of a world destruction. Though vilified by self-seekers, it has maintained friendly relations throughout the world. It has been true to the spirit of America. It has been true to the great principles of Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Lincoln. It has allowed no selfish interest to blind it to the fundamentals of its faith and the country has found that its confidence has been well bestowed.

"The Democratic party has proved itself a party of principle, a party of constructive ability, a party of performance. It has proven that ideals can be realized. United we stand for America."

"Ladies and gentlemen of this great convention, the elephant is dead, the Moose is dead. Long live the American eagle!"

COUNCIL TO REPEAL ORDINANCE CREATING PUBLIC GOLF LINKS

Opposition to Measure With Emergency Clause Causes Body to Allow Referendum.

NEW BILL REPLACES IT

Next Wednesday Set for Taking Action to Meet Demands of Those Opposing Municipal Links.

The city council is to repeal the ordinance passed several weeks ago providing for the establishment of municipal golf links on the Ladd estate near Reed college and pass an ordinance giving 30 days' time in which those opposed to the project may invoke the referendum.

Such was the decision today when it was explained that complaint had been made by John H. Stevenson, Isaac Swett and others that the original ordinance had been passed without allowing the people to express themselves on the municipal golf links idea. Commissioner Baker informed the city council today that unless the money was forthcoming, it would be necessary for the city to get rid of all the small animals requiring artificial heat until such a time that the city could rebuild the zoo. The council, however, filed his report without taking action.

ZOO, NEEDS MORE MONEY

PRESIDENT DEFIES FOREIGN DISLOYALISTS TO DO THEIR WORST

test. That is the reason that I come to remind you of—and I want to ask you are you, yourself, going to see to it that no man is tolerated who does not honor the flag?"

The speech of the president in respect to his reference to the disloyalists was greeted with prolonged applause.

"If you could have gone with me through the few years just passed," said the president, "you would have realized with me the subtle intrigues and sedition that have been going on."

The president was introduced by Secretary of State Lansing, who referred to him as "one whose every thought, word and deed manifests true Americanism."

The president said: "Mr. Secretary, ladies and gentlemen. Spectacle Moving On.

"I have not come here this afternoon with the purpose of delivering to you an elaborate address. It seems to me that the day is sufficiently eloquent already with the meaning which it should convey to us. The spectacle this morning has been a very moving spectacle indeed—an almost unpremeditated outpouring of thousands of sober citizens to manifest their interest in the safety of the country and the sacredness of the flag which is its emblem.

"I need not remind you how much sentiment has been pounded out in honor of the flag of the United States. Sometimes we have been charged with being a very sentimental people, fond of expressing in general rhetorical phrases, principles not sufficiently defined in action and I dare say, there have been times of happiness and careless ease in this country when all that has been necessary to do for the honor of the flag was to put our sentiments into poetic expression with words that for the time being satisfied our thoughts.

Not Day of Sentiment.

"But this is not a day of sentiment. Sentiment is a compulsive power, but it does not propose in the way that is serviceable to the nation unless it has a definite purpose behind it. This is not merely a day of sentiment, it is a day of purpose.

"Apparently this nation is again, and again and again, to be tested, and always tested in the same way. The last supreme test that this nation went through was the test of the Civil war. You know how deep was that test. And you know how that ended. While it seemed a time of terror, it has turned out a proof of the validity of our hope. Did you not see the Blue and the Gray mingle this morning in the procession? Did you not see the sons of a subsequent generation walking together in happy comradeship?"

"And yet again the test is applied, my fellow-countrymen. "A new thought of a division of feeling has sprung up amongst us. "You know that we are derived in our citizenship from every nation in the world. It is not singular that sentiment should be disturbed by what is going on on the other side of the water but while sentiment may be disturbed locally it ought not to be.

"I believe that the vast majority of these men whose lineage is largely derived from the nations at war are just as loyal as the men of the United States as any native citizen of this beloved land, but there are some men of that extraction who are not, and they not only in past months but at the present time are doing their best to undermine the influence of the government of the United States in the interest of matters which are foreign to us and which are not derived from the questions of our own politics.

"Disloyalty Must Be Crushed. "There is disloyalty active in the United States, and it must be absolutely crushed. It proceeds from a minority, but a very active and subtle minority. It works underground, but it also shows its ugly head where we can see it, and there are those at this moment who are trying to levy a species of political blackmail, saying, 'Do what we wish in the interest of foreign sentiment, or we will break our vengeance on the polls.' "That is the sort of thing against which the American nation will turn with a might and triumph of sentiment which will teach those gentlemen who are trying to levy a species of political blackmail, saying, 'Do what we wish in the interest of foreign sentiment, or we will break our vengeance on the polls.' "That is the lesson that I have come to remind you of on this day—no mere sentiment."
