By Fred Lockley.

Not long ago I met Josiah C. Nelson, one of the original settlers of the Chehalis valley. He is still living on his original Donation land claim in West Chehalis. He came here in 1845, the year the valley was first settled. "Uncle Sam" tells an interesting story of the changes that have occurred during the more than 70 years he has lived here.

In talking today with Mrs. Jesse Edwards she told me the history of the founding of Newberg. "We came here in the fall of 1880," said Mrs. Edwards. "At that time there was a little postoffice not far from the present town of Newberg. The name of the postoffice was Newberg and the postmistress was a widow named Mrs. Haines. Her name was Mulkey and she is still living here. In 1883 Mr. Edwards made a plot of 50 acres and because the name of the postoffice was well known he called his proposed town after the postoffice—Newberg. Later he platted 50 acres more and since then four other additions have been made, so today Newberg has about 400 acres in the city limits."

Saloon Was Barred.

Mr. Edwards belonged to the Friends' church and when the town was dedicated a clause was inserted forbidding the use of any lot for saloon purposes. Newberg has never had a saloon and has always been a clean, home town. Two years after Newberg was founded, when but a few people lived here, the Friends' church established a school here—Pacific academy.

In 1891 the academy became a college and students from all over the state came here. In January, 1895, the college was incorporated with a capital stock of $40,000. Eleven years later the joint stock company was abolished and the form of management was changed to the Pacific college corporation.

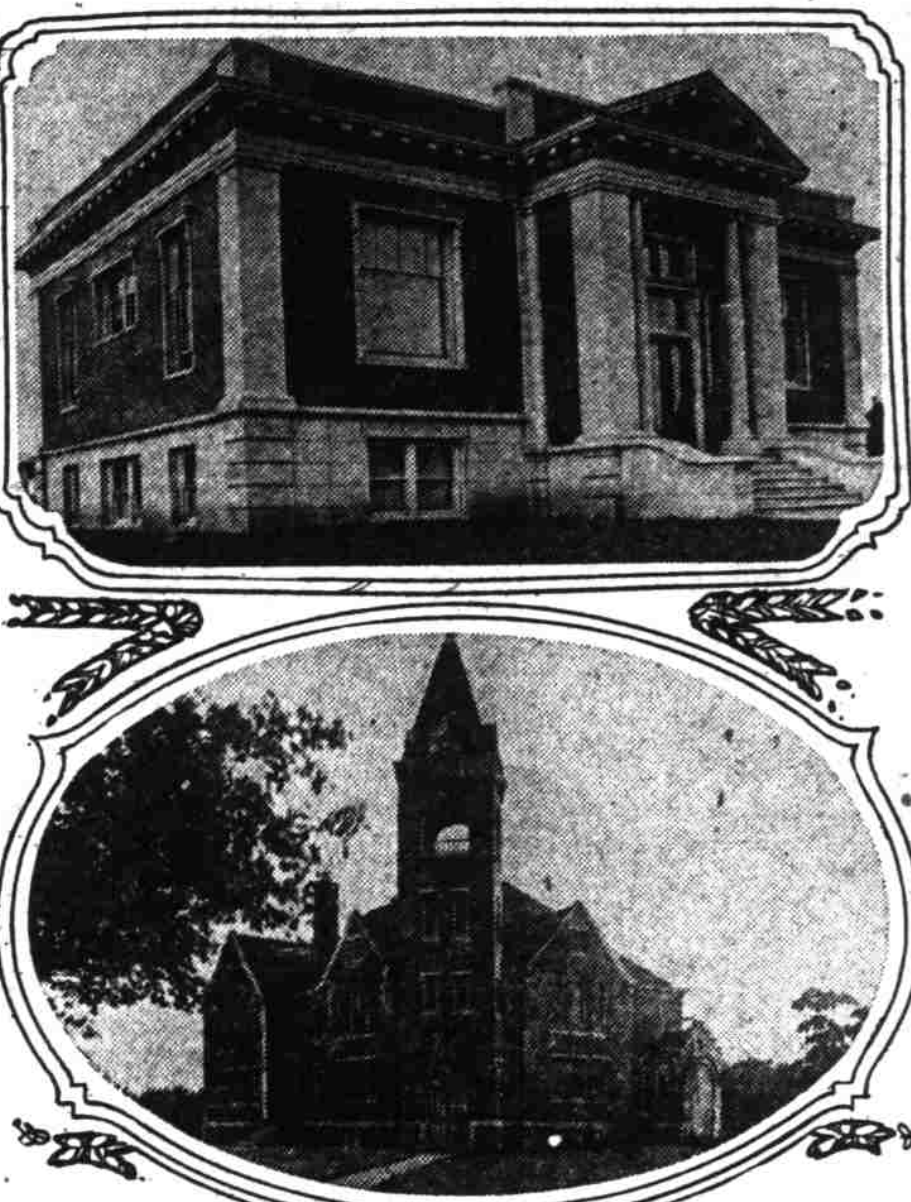

It is under the control of a board of managers consisting of the following members: Jesse Edwards, E. H. Woodward, Amos C. Stanbrough, C. O. Whitley, M. P. Elliott and Evangelina Martin, all of Newberg; H. A. Hinshaw and O. J. Sherman, of Portland; W. E. Crozier, of Salem; J. H. Rees and A. R. Mills, of Springfield; C. J. Edwards, of Tillamook; and Levi T. Pennington, the president of the college.

Newberg Founded in 1883.

Newberg was founded in 1883 and was incorporated in February, 1889. The first city officials were: F. A. Morris, mayor; J. T. Smith, recorder; A. T. Haworth, marshal; N. Hobson, treasurer; L. M. Smith, street commissioner; N. E. Britt, surveyor; and B. C. Miles, Noah Heister, J. Hodson, N. C. Morris, R. Pottsborne and H. Cooper, aldermen, or councilmen as they are now called.

The Friends are the strongest denomination in Newberg, as well as in Chehalis valley. The second church to locate in Newberg was the Presbyterian church, which was organized in March, 1887. Today Newberg can justly lay claim to being a city of churches and schools.

Newberg is a homelike and "homey" looking city.

On the side streets leading into the main business street are hedges of roses now in their glory of full bloom. The lots are large and the houses are built for homes.

Chehalis valley took its name from the old Indian word, "Che-am-lis." This was the Indian term for the hills northeast of Lafayette. The river was called Che-am-lis or Yamhela, and sometimes it was referred to as Yellog river. Finally out of the confusion of names it became the Yamhill river and the valley became the Chehalis valley.

Tree Nearly 60 Years Old.

Yamhill county has probably the oldest cherry tree in Oregon. It is now nearly 60 years old and is 9 feet 4 inches in circumference. It has produced as high as a ton of Royal Ann cherries in a season.

Newberg has several large and profitable industries located here.

The Charles K. Spaulding Logging and Lumber Co.'s mill cuts 100,000 feet of lumber a day and in the mill and in the logging camps approximately 100 men are employed.

The Newberg Condensed Milk Co. spends about $60,000 a year here for milk and about $12,000 a year for labor. Their annual output amounts to about $125,000.

The Newberg Creamery pays the farmers about $40,000 a year for butterfat and $2500 a year for labor. Last year it paid $6800 for poultry and $7500 for eggs.

H. S. Gile & Co., who handle prunes and other fruits, paid $60,000 for green and dried prunes, and $10,000 for other fruits and labor last year.

The Newberg cannery, which was burned down about two weeks ago, is being rebuilt. It is 60x132 feet. Machinery has been ordered from San Francisco. It will soon be ready to handle fruit. The early varieties contracted for are being sent to Forest Grove to be cared for.

The Chehalis valley mills turn out about $75,000 worth of flour a year.

The Oregon Handle Co., located here in Newberg, is the largest handle manufacturing company in the west. It has a payroll of $20,000 a year. It pays $5000 for its raw materials and turns out over $30,000 worth of ax handles, singletrees and similar products a year.

The Newberg Meat company puts up hams, bacon and other smoked meats.

Other Resources Named.

It distributes about $30,000 or more a year for hogs, veal, mutton and wages.

In addition to these companies there are several other important industries, among which are the Newberg iron works, the steam laundry, the Loganberry juice factory, and Chase & Linton, who handle sand and gravel.

Newberg has a beautiful Andrew Carnegie public library, which is well patronized. She also has paved streets, a live commercial club, two excellent newspapers—the Enterprise, owned by John T. Bell, and the Graphic, owned by E. H. Woodward—a most excellent hotel, The Imperial, good train service and river transportation, and the town is going steadily ahead. It has had a boom with the consequent inflation of values, but it has grown steadily year by year till it now has a population of from 2500 to 3000 people.

Democrats Organize Clubs.

Klamath Falls, Or., June 24.—The Klamath County Wilson and Marshall club has just been organized by Democrats of this city. It is the intention of the organization to carry on a campaign for the election of the Democratic state institutions and county tickets. Judge J. B. Griffith is temporary chairman and Oscar E. Willey is temporary secretary. Permanent organization is to be effected at a meeting to be held next week.

Many Want Service.

Klamath Falls, Or., June 24.—Now that the militia of the nation is needed for border duty, Klamath Falls men are making an earnest effort to have a militia organization formed here. A telegram was sent to Adjutant General White, commanding the Oregon national guard, asking if there is a chance for organization here in the infantry, cavalry or machine gun branches of service.

There are many former regulars, volunteers, national guard officers and non-commissioned officers who are anxious to join the company, and who, as "non-coms," could soon make the recruits proficient in tactics.

Governor Approves Plans by Portland

Salem, Or., June 24.—Governor Withycombe Friday night warmly commended the organized movement in Portland to provide for the families of the Oregon National Guard who may be in need.

"The generous spirit manifested by Portland's leading citizens should be emulated in all sections of our state," said the governor.

"While I do not wish to discourage in the least patriotic desire for an elaborate celebration of the anniversary of our national day, would it not be well in our present emergency to divert some of this money in channels suggested by our Portland friends? I cannot commend too highly the laudable movement in this direction. Let other sections of our state do likewise."

Will Smile of Progressive Peace Beam on John From Fulton, Bowerman and Williams?

When the Republican state central committee meets at the Imperial hotel on the afternoon of July 8 in response to the call of Charles B. Moore, there will be a merry scrap over the selection of a state chairman.

That is to say, there will be unless prior to that time E. B. Hermann of Roseburg has captured the majority of the committeemen, or unless the friends of Charles A. Johns of Portland have coaxed the potent majority into their camp in support of their candidate, or unless Ralph E. Williams, newly appointed in his progressive uniform, has been able to convince the committeemen of the future success of progressive doctrines, tenets and principles as now interpreted by Senator Fulton and himself demands the retention of Charles B. Moore as the progressive leader of the progressive campaign which is to come.

Herman Is Busy.

In other words, there will be a scrap unless the committee is framed before it gathers in Portland to trot through its paces, as per program.

Mr. Hermann has been in Portland for several days, longer than that, in fact, and his room at the Imperial are betaking to themselves much of the aspect of a campaign headquarters. He has with him several well known residents of Roseburg, and all are very, very busy seeing that the fifteen, or so, who might be able to see them, Mr. Hermann is right out after the chairmanship.

Rumor has it that Mr. Hermann does not want to be the guiding head of the state committee so much for himself, as for the benefit it might be to Louis J. Simpson, of Marshfield, who would like to be the instrument through which Willis C. Hawley would be reed to private life. To put it differently, Mr. Simpson is presumed to have a desire to represent the First congressional district in congress and would gladly have a friendly state chairman presiding over the state central committee.

Marsters Is Bitten.

It is also rumored that A. C. Marsters of Roseburg has been bitten by the gubernatorial bug, and that he is backing the Hermann campaign with an eye to what the future might bring.

Then there is another group of men, progressive in their tendency, by the way, who are urging Charles A. Johns to go out after the chairmanship. It is doubtful, however, whether Mr. Williams or Senator Fulton or Jay Bowerman will smile the smile of progressive peace upon the Johns candidacy, which leads to the belief that if Mr. Johns becomes the next state chairman it will be because he believes in and practices preparedness, and not because he marches to the meeting under the olive branch of peace.

Artist Will Enjoy Trip Over Highway

Cooper, the McMinnville boy who has become one of the country's most successful commercial artists, and who designed the posters for the 1915 and 1916 Rose Festivals, will arrive in Portland tomorrow. Mr. Cooper featured the Columbia river highway in the 1916 poster, and tomorrow will make a trip over the splendid road that he has helped to make famous. He will be the guest of the Rose Festival association, and will be accompanied by President J. H. Lundore and Lloyd W. McDowell, manager of publicity.

Every Little Task a Painful Effort

THIS time of the year there are many odd jobs about the home that every well man likes to do. But no man or woman with a "bad back" enjoys doing anything. Every little task is a painful effort. Now there's surely something wrong when every day brings morning lameness, sharp pains when bending or lifting, and a dull tired state. Likely it's kidney weakness. Don't neglect it. It's easily corrected at first, but delay may encourage gravel, dropsy, crippling rheumatism or dangerous Bright's disease. If your back aches and the kidneys are disordered, get Doan's Kidney Pills. This is a successful remedy for weak kidneys, recommended so strongly by people you know, that you can use it with real confidence.

These Are All Portland Cases

Doan's Kidney Pills promptly relieved the aches and pains and corrected the trouble with my kidneys."

Nineteenth Street N.

Mrs. Bertha Sanby, 569 Nineteenth St. N., says: "My back ached and was weak and lame. I had sharp pains through my kidneys and soreness across my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills toned up my kidneys and the aches, pains and other ailments left. I have never felt the need of a medicine for my back or kidneys since."
