Up-to-Date Appliances Essential To Progressive Poultry Practice

Modern and Convenient Chicken House Saves Labor and Keeps Fowls in Good Health; Some Bulletin's Containing Practical Suggestions as to What to Make and How Best to Make It.

Modern appliances used in raising | This is but a small thing, but it saves poultry make the life of the chicken the milk and promotes sanitation, man or woman a good deal happier than it used to be when the hen just might and reased where the evening government will help the poultry man second week and making the

In fact, mødern poultry practice demands every convenience possible, for comfort and health of the hen or the saving of labor by her owner. These things always pay for themselves either in egga received or in time

The handy poultry man can make many appliances he needs for himself with a few sample tools, but there are some things which cannot be made conveniently on the farm and, therefore, should be purchased from the poultry supply houses. The incubator, for instance, is a machine which it probably would be unprofitable for the poultry man to make. Likewise, in this class is the usual brooder, and number of other things which for the sake of economy, had better be purchased outricht. Frequently, there are metal feeding appliances and drinking fountains which it is desirable to buy rather than to have some-
