Mr. and Mrs. Orr will be at home in Colfax, Wash, after July 12.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Mann, south of Hillsboro, Wednesday afternoon, June 28, at 2 o'clock, when their daughter, Jeanle, was united in marriage to George Minor Ross, Rev. Andrew Carrick of Portland officiating, using the impressive ring ceremony. The parlors were prettila decorated in pink roses. lish ivy. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Dorothy Linklater of Hillsboro, the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was very attractive in a gown of embroidered voile, with a full-length tulle veil, held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Bride roses. Immediately after the ceremony a luncheon was served. Miss Dorotny Linklater caught the bride's bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Ross left for a short motor trip, after which they will be at home on the farm near Salem.

Time and again I have heard it, said that the introduction of women into business life purified the entire atmosphere of the work-aday world. Personally, I have not met with much deliberate discourtesy; and then only from the common, self-sufficient, ignorant man who thinks himself "somebody" and truly amounts to nothing. It is worth a woman's while to be courteous. Never fail. Always great a client with a pleasant, cheery smile. That smile soon becomes a habit, though in your innermost thoughts you know you have spent too much f the week's salary in the first three days; though you believe you have forgotten to turn off the gas stove your little flat. Still, smile and be pleasant.

Be courteous to your employer. Answer his "good morning" The worst or of an employer will wish him workers "good morning." He may not lift his hat; he may not stand aside to let you into the lift first or through the door. Don't let that after your attitude. Though you copy your employer in punctuality, in good work, in concentration, in efficiency, there's no need to copy his manners, if they do not reach your own standard.
