

WASTE EXCHANGE OF FOREST SERVICE HAS FOUND WIDE UTILITY

Investigation Proves Many Firms Are Using Information Furnished Them Gratis

TWO LISTS ARE SENT OUT

One Tells Names of Manufacturers Having Waste to Sell and Other Names of Those Using Waste.

Extensive use by lumbermen and wood-working factories of the wood waste exchange conducted by the forest service is reported by officials, who have just completed a short field study to determine the extent to which the opportunities offered are being taken advantage of.

Makers of wooden novelties, it is said, have been particularly successful in finding supplies of material near their plants. Other wood-working industries have been able to dispose of their waste, at higher prices than they could otherwise have obtained.

The wood waste exchange was established by the forest service in 1914. It consists of two lists of manufacturers, which are sent out quarterly to persons desiring them. One of these is "opportunities to sell waste," and contains the names of firms which use sawdust and small pieces of wood. This list is sent to plants having waste for sale. The other is "opportunities to buy waste," and gives the names of concerns which have waste to dispose of. This list is sent to firms wishing to buy material.

There is no charge for the service and any manufacturer who wishes to have his name added to either list can do so by writing to the forest service, Washington, D. C.

GOVERNMENT TIMBER IS SOLD

W. G. Morris, of Chelan, Wash., Purchases 6,725,000 Feet.

The district forester of Portland has received bids for approximately 6,725,000 feet of timber in the Wenatchee national forest in central Washington, and has awarded the sale to W. G. Morris of Chelan, Wash.

The timber is situated on an area of about 465 acres in section 12, township 21 north, range 19 east, M. 1, on the Squillicum creek watershed and consists of 6,085,000 feet b. m. of western yellow pine, 450,000 feet b. m. of Douglas fir and 190,000 feet b. m. of western larch.

Army Censorship Is Active on Border

Order May Mean That Militiamen at Front May Be Stopped From Communicating With Their Families.

El Paso, Texas, July 12.—(U. N. S.)—Army censors have been smitten with a peculiar degree of ill-humor, which, if permitted to flourish, will mean that news of militiamen along the border will be cut off from their anxious families.

Today Major Farnsworth, commanding at Columbus, N. M., where the Second Massachusetts Infantry is camped, ordered their correspondents with that unit not to even place a date line on their "stories," censure the doings of the guardsmen, nor recount the said "doings."

Lieutenant-Colonel Cabell, General Pershing's chief of staff, had ordered that "not a word" be sent out concerning army activities in the punitive column. And no information whatsoever concerning General Pershing's preparations to remain all summer in Mexico may be given out, the lieutenant-colonel decrees.

It was explained that the state department fears to excite further wrath of the Mexican government. Hence, though truck trains are running night and day to Colonia Dublan with supplies for an all summer stay of General Pershing's force in Mexico, it is calculated that the only survivors of such activities, Carranza will not learn of it, and thus gradually come to forget that the punitive thorn is in his side.

"Commodore" Hardy Recalls Famous Trip

Aged Portland Man Was Sailor With Commodore Perry When Fillmore's Letter Was Delivered to Japan.

Tomorrow will be the sixty-third anniversary of the delivering of President Fillmore's letter by Commodore Perry to the representatives of the mikado at Goshama, Japan. This letter resulted in the signing of the treaty with Japan March 31, 1854, which is regarded as the beginning of Japan's awakening to take her place as one of the powers of modern civilization.

"Commodore" W. H. Hardy, who was a sailor in Perry's fleet, and who is believed to be the only survivor of the fleet's first visit, July 14, 1852, came down this morning from his residence at the end of the Kings Heights carline, and visited with his down town friends. He is 80 years old, and his general health is good, although he is obliged to walk with a cane as a result of having been run down by an automobile two months ago.

Carnegie, rector of St. Margaret's and canon of Westminster, was announced today. Mrs. Chamberlain is the daughter of the late William Endicott, secretary of war in President Cleveland's cabinet.

WHEN YOU GO A-MARKET-

ING Do you always make it a point to do your own marketing? You should, for it's the only way to feel sure that you are getting the best benefit of the money expended. The phone method is a waste of money when it comes to the question of ordering provisions. If the butcher hasn't the exact article you mention, he invariably sends something more expensive or of an inferior grade. Unless you have a dealer that you can trust, avoid the phone method of ordering.

It is better to use a hanging scale in the kitchen because it is more exact than the kind that has adjustable weights. The number of bushels, quarts and ounces is stamped somewhere on each package you buy. Weigh them yourself when you get home, to make sure. Oil cans, fruit baskets, potato sacks and the like often have false bottoms, and when you buy them you pay for articles that you do not get. You can only find these things out by doing your own shopping and your own investigating. It pays in the long run.

OATMEAL COOKIES

1/2 pound flour. 6 ounces of sugar. 1 egg. 1/2 teaspoonful of cinnamon. 1/2 pound of chopped raisins. 1/2 pound of rolled oats. 5 ounces of shortening. 1/2 gill of milk. Salt-spoonful each of salt and carbonate of soda.

Cream the shortening and sugar and stir together the flour, salt and soda. Mix these and all the dry ingredients well together, then add the egg, well beaten, and the milk. Drop small teaspoonfuls of the mixture on a oiled tin, taking care they are not very close together, and bake until done in a moderate oven.

LETTUCE HINTS

Remove the outside leaves of two heads of lettuce. Trim the root ends to a point, but do not remove them. Boil in salted water for about 10 minutes, then let them remain under the cold water spigot until all sand and grit have been removed. Wash thoroughly clean, drain out in a colander and fill the center with the following stuffing: Three ounces of lean meat, two ounces of fat, two ounces of soaked bread, well squeezed, seasoned

TO CLEAN PICTURE FRAMES

To clean gilt picture frames, being trimmed only on the brim, while equally severe, has been trimmed only on the top of the crown. It is very easy to enlarge a child's dress all over by setting a panel in the front from top to bottom, and setting a band of the same material around the bottom of the skirt, underneath. A wide white collar, so deep that it reaches the tops of the sleeves, completes this pretty little frock.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTION

If the ice man fails to come and the day is warm you may manage to keep the cream and other perishables by wringing out a blanket in cold water and placing it securely over the small refrigerator, or even by wrapping it well around a pan containing the foods. A species of refrigeration

MUSIC

What love is to man, music is to the arts and to mankind. Music is love itself—it is the purest, most ethereal language of passion, showing in a thousand ways all possible changes of color and feeling; and though true in only a single instance, it yet can be understood by thousands of men—who all feel differently.—C. M. von Weber.

BOILED DRESSING

A boiled dressing for fruit salad is made by beating the yolks of two eggs until they are creamy, adding a quarter cupful of fruit juices—orange or pineapple—and a quarter cupful of lemon juice and the same amount of sugar. Stir over hot water in a double boiler. This is a pleasing dressing for fruit salad.

THE MODE'S MAZE

Newest of the Spanish comb, fan shape, that fits into the new high form of hair dressing. Charming black and white effects are obtained by using the comb horizontally in the upper part of the dress.

Lingerie now boasts of beaded trimming.

There are dainty garments made of crepe de chine with panels of iridescent beads. The dress made of the ever-becoming blue taffeta will be very rich if a note of golden yellow is introduced on the collar, the girle and pockets, by means of silk embroidery.

There is no doubt about the varieties of millinery.

Some hats are extremely simple, being trimmed only on the brim, while equally severe, has been trimmed only on the top of the crown. It is very easy to enlarge a child's dress all over by setting a panel in the front from top to bottom, and setting a band of the same material around the bottom of the skirt, underneath. Lieutenant Dewitt Yeager Declares He Is Unable to Give a Vivid Description of Tropical Temperature.

Centralia, July 12.—The first letters from members of Company M, written after the Second Washington regiment arrived at Calexico, have just been received in Centralia. The opinion expressed is that the border is about the hottest place on the face of the globe. In a letter to Dr. E. C. Roberts, Lieutenant Dewitt Yeager, adjutant of the Second battalion, says: "We are at Judio, Cal. There are three houses and one cactus here. I can't describe how hot it is, but they say that a man who formerly resided here died of heat stroke just across the border at Mexical, which is a part of Calexico. They have a lookout over there on a tower that looks like a telephone pole from here."
