and His Band

Socially correct? Why, of course, you want to be all of that. But it's up to you to do what society's doing and hear what society is hear-ing. It goes without saying that the present stir in the circles of the elite is Ferullo and his concerts at Oaks Park. If there's one think that the old world's longing for and that the average mortal would risk a lot for, it's a thrill, a real live thrill that leaves you tingling and stepping on fleecy clouds. That's one secret of Ferullo's success. He puts life and thrills into his concerts. No matter what you're thinking when you come, you go away smilling with a new and happy feling and full of something singu-larly pleasant. He takes away the uitterness from the grouch and rancher on hematite of river and asked him as to values in gold and platinum. Eventuthe placer prospects around there. He ally Curry county's mineral resources of pupils is hopelessly inadequate to stand it a minute longer," grumbled told me he had some very rich placer will be mined in a large way and provide practice teaching needs for a ground that rich why he didn't work and become wealthy. He said he didn't want to become wealthy. He said he could kill a deer any time he needed meat, that he had all the fish he needed for the catching and that his land was fertile so that he could raise all the potatoes he needed and the gold dust was always there and was just as safe as if it were in the bank.

Fairy Story Proves True.

"He said he put in about a month every year washing out what he needed for his yearly expenses. Well, that sounded a little too good to be true, so I asked him to show me the ground from which he could wash out 50 cents a pan. I thought I had him there, but he got his shovel and gold pan and we went out to the bar and he threw a shovel full of dirt in the pan and panned it and sure enough there was a long string of coarse gold dust in the pan, at least 50 cents' worth and possibly more. I asked him to wash another pan full. He did so and that, too, was rich

Suspicions Were Unfounded.

"Then I asked him to let me try a pan full. A suspected he had a dump of gravel that he had salted, so I went to another place and dug where the gravel and sand had not been disturbed. I panned a pan full and I could hardly believe my eyes, for found richer ground than he had been working I panned in different place but it all ran well. I secured an option on his place and sold it to the Sixes S. M. Prescott Pollows Officers from Mining company and they are making very satisfactory cleanups. They have no stock for sale, which is usually evidence that a claim is rich.

"I secured 480 acres further up the river which I am now developing. We mined by Chinamen and called Chinatown most of the values they failed to secure.

Heavy Metal Was Platinum.

"In those days the miners were termed white iron and which they threw away. We call it platinum and set from $80 to $100 an ounce for it. On account of the war little or no platinum is coming from the Ural mountains in Russia or from Siberia. so the price is high./ Platinum usually State If Mine Pans occurs with osmium, iridum and iron The old-time miners in throwing away this 'white iron' and saving the gold dust threw away at least $6 for every one they saved. Today Curry county is furnishing the bulk of the platnum being sold.
