

CITY NEAR STANISLAU WITH 7400 PRISONERS TAKEN BY RUSSIANS

Galician Town of Tysmienica Captured, Together With Ridge to the Dneister.

BRITISH MAKE SMALL GAIN

They Claim Advance North of Pozieres But French Admit the Loss of Thiainmont Work.

Petrograd, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—The Galician town of Tysmienica, seven miles east of the city of Stanislaw, was captured by Russian troops under General Lechitchy last night, it was officially announced this afternoon. The Russians took 7400 prisoners, including 3500 Germans.

South of the Dneister, Lechitchy pursued and drove the enemy away from a series of heights and villages, capturing the ridge northeast of Tysmienica to the river Dneister, and also the right bank of the river Vorona as far as Stokochivka. One of the prisoners captured by Lechitchy, 2000 were mentioned in yesterday's official report.

Germans Retire in East.

Berlin, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—West of the fortress of Lutsk in Volhynia, German troops continued the recapture of lost positions, the war office announced today. East of the city of Stanislaw, the Austro-Germans retired behind the line of Nigof-Tusimiaty.

Repulse of strong and repeated Russian attacks on the Stochod river front in Volhynia was announced by the war office this afternoon. In fighting in the region of Stobychka and north of Eielein (150 miles southeast of Kovno), the Russians were rolled back.

Admit Thiainmont Retaken.

Paris, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—German troops again recaptured Thiainmont work, northeast of Verdun, in heavy fighting last night, the war office announced today. The French repulsed all other attacks on the Verdun front and made further progress in the village of Fleury.

North of the Somme the Germans constantly counter-attacked throughout the night against new French positions, finally gaining a foothold in a single trench, from which they were partly ejected. The battle is continuing in this region on the Verdun front.

The recapture of Thiainmont work was accomplished after the Germans had suffered heavy losses in several unsuccessful attacks. The French still cling to the outskirts of the salient, which is being bombarded incessantly by French artillery.

In the Van's salient west, in the same region, a German attack was repulsed.

The battle south of the Somme is extending to the region of Cambrai, where a violent bombardment is reported. On this sector the Germans occupied an advanced French trench but were thrown out by a bayonet attack.

British Advance Line.

London, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—The British further advanced their lines north of Pozieres last night in bombing attacks along the enemy's trenches. They took 25 prisoners, General Haig reported to the war office this afternoon.

No change occurred in the vicinity of Guillemont where the British and French were on the offensive Monday. The Germans displayed considerable activity at the Ypres salient last night. The attacks were with little effect, the enemy failing to enter British lines.

Arguments will be heard tomorrow.

German Property in England in Danger

British Government Contemplates Confiscation in Retaliation for Execution of Captain Fryatt.

London, Aug. 9.—(U. P.)—That the English government is contemplating the confiscation of German owned property in England in retaliation for the execution of Captain Fryatt was revealed in the house of lords today by Lord Lansdowne. He stated that government officials were consulting with heads of leading financial houses over the advisability of taking such a step.

Germans Answer British.

Berlin, Aug. 9, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—Captain Charles Fryatt of the British steamship Brussels was sentenced to death and executed, not because he defended himself against aggression, as the British commentators almost invariably make appear, but because he undertook a treacherous surprise attack on a German submarine to gain the prize promised for the destruction of a submarine. This in substance is the comment made by German newspapers in discussing the editorial comment of the British press.

MAZAMAS WALK INTO CAMP WHEN MOTOR TRUCKS GET BALKY

All Well and Very Much in Evidence at Meal Times; Snow Is Plentiful.

Camp Riley, Three Sisters, Or., Aug. 9.—An even 100 hungry Mazamas eagerly await the mess call at Camp Riley. This is one of the latest crowds the Mazamas have ever had in a summer outing.

The trip into camp was a long hard one with many complications. On the almost impassable road from McKenzie bridge to Frog Camp, at the summit of the Cascades, three of the five motor trucks broke down completely and many had to walk over 10 miles. As a result many of the members of the camp party did not reach camp until late Sunday night and were exhausted.

However, everyone reached camp all right, and all seemed to have recovered by breakfast time. Many put up tents because the weather has taken a threatening turn.

The camp is completely surrounded by snow drifts from three to ten feet deep. All the Sisters mountains are in plain view. Camp is one and one-fourth miles due west of the base of the middle Sister.

Bitlis and Mush Are Retaken by Turkey

REGISTRATIONS FOR BUYERS' WEEK HAVE PASSED 1915 MARK

At 9 o'clock on Third Day a Total of 537 Had Registered as Visitors.

MONTANA REPRESENTED

Visits to Wholesale and Manufacturing Establishments in Progress Today With Theatre Parties Tonight.

Registrations of out of town buyers today—the third day of Buyer's Week—was far and away ahead of the registration for the whole week of last year. This information when imparted to Nathan Strauss, general chairman of the executive committee, was received with profound satisfaction. It indicated that the Buyers' Week movement is constantly growing as the years go on and is a sign of the newer aspect of salesmanship with the buyer coming to the salesman as supplementary to the visits paid by the salesman to the buyers.

The registration at 9 o'clock was 537, including people from points as far away as northern Montana. A constant stream of people kept registering throughout the morning and then disappearing in tow of some member of the reception committee for an inspection of Portland mercantile establishments.

Ad Club Luncheon Feature.

The luncheon at noon at the Ad club was the feature of the day, however, with people from the whole trade territory on hand to boost for their home towns.

The program for the remainder of the day included further inspection of wholesale and manufacturing establishments during the afternoon—the real business of the week—followed by two theatre parties tonight, the first at Pantages at 7:15 and the second at the Strand at 9 o'clock.

Tomorrow's activities include a luncheon at the Albers Brothers' mill at noon, a highway trip for the furniture people in the afternoon, with luncheon at the Automobile club, and a banquet in the evening at the Hotel Portland.

Large Orders Received.

Several large orders from the visitors already have been reported, one $400 furniture order being reported this morning. The jobbers and manufacturers are looking for the best results from the week of any year since the movement started, concrete reports will be abundantly justifying the belief in the settlement of the controversy over the water supply. Bull Run water is being hauled from Portland to the beach for use of visitors, so that there will be no interference with the announced program.

Hood River Offers Free Camp Sites

City Given Permission to Use Development Company Property, Providing Necessary Care for Cleanliness Given.

Hood River, Or., Aug. 9.—Because Hood River has no place suitable for a camping ground for tourists who are coming over the Columbia river highway and who desire to camp while here, the Hood River Development company has offered the city part of its holdings for the use of tourists upon condition that the city supply the grounds with water, light and sewer connections.

At Monday night's meeting of the city council a committee was appointed to take immediate action in the matter. The grounds are located along the highway at the west end of the city in a grove of pine, fir and oak trees and can be made an ideal camping place.

No charge will be made to campers for the use of the grounds, and it is proposed to furnish the grounds with several electric cooking ranges for use of the campers that will be metered and for which a small charge will be made to cover cost of electricity.

COOS AND CROOK ARE "BEST" COUNTIES, SAY AD CLUBMEN'S JUDGES

Cecil L. Brown, North Bend, and Mrs. J. R. Roberts, Redmond, Best Boosters.

Coos county and central Oregon won premier honors today at the Ad club's complimentary luncheon to the visiting merchants who are Portland's guests during Buyer's Week. After a long series of "booster talks," in which each contestant argued why his or her home town is the best on earth, the judges announced that Cecil L. Brown of North Bend and Mrs. J. R. Roberts of Redmond had won first prizes respectively in the men's and women's classes.

Brown told the assembled hundreds that Coos bay is wide open now to the commerce of the world, and pledged the Portland visitors in prospect for the railroad celebration late this month that they would find the region extravagantly worth their attention.

Mrs. Roberts described how man had conquered the desert and made it habitable and a place of happiness. The other speakers, in order of prize awards, were: George C. Sabin of Grants Pass, who described southern Oregon as the region where people get together and do things; A. M. Reeves of Lebanon, who told of the opportunity for the farmer; H. G. Ploeger of Myrtle Point, who "continued" his speech of last year; Sam Hughes and E. J. Bowman of Lewiston, Idaho.

Other winners in the women's contest were: Mrs. L. M. Robbins of Molalla, who described herself as "a nut from Molalla who came here to buy"; Mrs. N. D. Brown of Halfway and Mrs. S. Tucker of Clarkston, Wash., who immortalized the "seven pack cherry."

Albert King, 12 years old, of Sheridan, gave a notable talk about his town and received special prize mention.

O. W. Mielke presided and a huge semaphore was raised to mark the two minute time allowance. Many of the speakers were summarily "ringed off" by this semaphore.
