

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO HAVE OPPORTUNITY OF DAY AT CANBY FAIR

Classes Will Probably Be Dismissed September 20, So That All May Go.

PROGRAM IS PREPARED

New Premium List For Children's Exhibits Is More Extensive and Liberal Than In Former Years.

Oregon City, Or., Sept. 9.—Schools in Clackamas county in session September 20 will probably dismiss for the day in order that the pupils and teachers may attend the Clackamas county fair.

Early in the year, under the direction of the extension department of the Oregon Agricultural college, the state's department of education and the county school superintendent's office, industrial clubs were organized throughout the county.

The fair board and the county superintendent's office have prepared a premium list for the children, offering more and larger prizes than in any previous year.

All Are Invited. Mr. Calavan is anxious to see every school child at the fair, and he said Thursday "It is our desire to see every pupil in Clackamas county at the fair that day, so that those who are exhibitors may see their work with that of the others, and also that those who are not exhibitors may see the splendid work done by the pupils no better qualified than themselves along this line."

In addition to free admission to the grounds, railroads have promised the lowest rate possible for this day. Admission tickets will be sent by the fair board to the school clerk or teacher. Judge Grant B. Dimick, president of the fair, has announced a prize for the school that has the best percentage of attendance, based on the first day's enrollment. This plan will enable schools that are not yet in session to compete with those that have opened earlier.

Aurora, Or., Sept. 9.—Hoppicking is about half done here. Quality is better than many growers believed it would be. Many yards are almost free from mold. Others have little, and vines with mold are being cut down ahead of the pickers.

Lane County Will Have a Round-Up

From Wednesday Until Saturday, It Is Promised, There Will Be Something Doing Every Minute of Time. Eugene, Or., Sept. 9.—Lane county fair and round-up will begin next Wednesday morning and the last steer will be bulldozed at sundown the following Saturday.  Between the start and the finish it is claimed by the sponsors for the show that there will be one of the most interesting and unusual entertainments ever furnished the thousands of visitors. It is to be a revival of the sports of the early days of the west, and is intended to be the beginning of an annual exhibit that is expected to attract thousands of visitors. Twenty thousand per day, or 60,000 for the three days, is the attendance that is expected by the managers of the show. The plains country east of the Cascades has been searched for bands of unbroken and wild animals; others of the trained bucking kind have been brought in and filled with oats to give them strength and to add to the natural meanness of the outlaw. The cash prizes that are being offered are said to have attracted entries from the best riders of the United States. Cowboys and cowgirls are to be there from all the riding states between the Rio Grande and the Canadian Rockies, and if the plans of the managers of the event do not go amiss it is expected that the Eugene Round-Up will furnish as many thrillers as the hours of the day will allow to be crowded together.  If Portland people will arrange to be in attendance, and will let their presence be known to the officers of the fair and Round-Up association, we will see that every comfort is extended." is the wording of the cordial invitation, signed by Walter B. Jones, and addressed to all Portland.  Receipts Show Gain. They are now being trained under Adah Lesh Rose. *****

Round-Up Directors Protest

Pendleton, Or., Sept. 9.—Exercised over the misleading statements being published in Eugene papers and credited to Clarence Adams, who is staging a wild west show there, the directors of the Pendleton Round-Up have issued a formal statement of protest. They wish it understood that they have no desire to combat the Eugene entertainers, but to wish the citizens of that town and of the Willamette valley to know that the Pendleton Round-Up has no connection with the show which Mr. Adams is promoting.  Mr. Adams formerly lived in Umatilla county and was a contestant in the first three Round-Ups. That is the only connection he has ever had with the local show.  The following is the statement issued by the directors: "Inasmuch as Clarence Adams, who is staging wild west shows in the western part of the state, persists in advertising that he is using the same steers, horses and cowboys that are used by the Pendleton Round-Up, the directors of the Pendleton Round-Up deem it advisable to deny these statements. *****

"We have no desire to interfere with the success of any other frontier attraction, even though the name and slogan of the Pendleton show are adopted, but we do protest against advertisements that give the impression that Mr. Adams is reproducing the Pendleton Round-Up and has the cooperation of the Pendleton people. The Round-Up owns its own steers and horses and never has and never will lend them to a rival attraction. The cowboys are free to show where they will and undoubtedly some of those who will contend here will be at the western Oregon shows. Mr. Adams has not and never has had any official connection with the Pendleton Round-Up. We wish to repeat the statement that we have often made in the past to the effect that the Pendleton Round-Up will never be staged, in part or in whole, elsewhere than in Pendleton."

The insects attacked the horses at once and in their pain the animals thrashed about and knocked over several other stands.  Before Mr. Attebury could unhitch the team, both horses had dropped dead. The men escaped with few stings. *****

Silver Anniversary at North Plains

North Plains, Or., Sept. 9.—A silver wedding was celebrated Sunday, August 3, at Valle Vista. Of their family of 15 children, all except one are living and with the exception of one son, they were all present on this occasion.  The morning church services were conducted as usual, but after the services the congregation gathered at the home for a picnic dinner. After this a musical program was given. Among the numerous presents were a tea set, spoons, bread tray, vegetable dish and butter dish, all of silver. There were nearly 100 guests present. *****
