Sheriff Seeks Jap With Bloodhounds

Disappearance of Tacoma Employee Who Had $1000 in Suitcase Starts Talk That He May Be Dead.

Tacoma, Sept. 21.—(U. P.)—Whether Mitsuo Hiramaru, employed by Y. Okamura company, importer, is lying dead somewhere between the top of the cable line at Dieringer and the B. & M. Lumber company's mill, or whether he has disappeared, is a question that is agitating the Japanese colony of Tacoma, and that caused Sheriff Frank Longmire to leave Tuesday evening with bloodhounds for the scene of Hiramaru's disappearance.

British Blacklist Is Cause of Suit

Swayne & Hoyt Are Sued by Shanghai Brokers for Refusing to Accept 300 Tons of German Freight.

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—(P. N. S.)—The first suit to be filed in a San Francisco firm as a result of the British blacklist measure was filed yesterday in the United States district court in Shanghai against Swayne & Hoyt, shipping men, owners of the steamer Yucatan.

The suit is brought by Louis Everett, shipping broker in Shanghai, and is based on a refusal of the Yucatan to accept 300 tons of cargo from a German firm in Shanghai.

Serious Fire Starts In Valuable Timber

Men Are Dispatched From Baker to Fight Blaze Near Jeldness and Perry Mill in Pine Valley.

Baker, Or., Sept. 21.—A forest fire was reported yesterday from Pine valley in the valuable timber near the Jeldness and Perry mill. Forest Supervisor Barnes is dispatching men to the scene, believing the situation serious. Patrol forces were taken one week ago under the belief that the fire season was over, but another small fire on Goose creek and the Pine valley blaze have awakened lumbermen and forestry officials to the necessity of continuing protective measures.

Linn May Have an Agricultural Agent

County Court Is Seriously Considering the Employment of An Expert to Give Advice to the Farmers. Albany, Or., Sept. 21.—The county court of Linn county is seriously considering the matter of employing a county agricultural agent, or expert. M. O. Evans Jr., assistant state leader in extension service of the Oregon Agricultural college, cooperating with the United States department of agriculture, has been in this city in the interest of the establishing an agent here. There is a growing demand for an expert in this county. In the state at present there are 14 agricultural agents, in the United States there are 1100. These men spend their time with the farmers, giving advice as to the proper methods of drainage, the proper tillage of the soil, how to increase yields and much other advice that the less scientific farmer is apt to overlook.
