Mavy Department Will Leave Limits on Warship-Building as Fixed, Believing Bonuses Can Be Earned.

Washington, Sept. 26 .- (I. N. S.)-The navy department, despite the appeal of shipbuilders for more time, today announced that it will not extend but the time for construction of the warships authorized by congress.

The bill provided for a bonus of 20 per cent on the contract price for "most expeditious delivery." Builders that there is little chance of winning the bonus.

Thirty-six months are allowed for battleships, 42 for battle cruisers, 22 for destroyers, 24 for fleet submarines, and 22 for coast-defense submarines. The bonus rate is 2 per cent a month for any period less than the maximum. Navy officials believe that the buildwill be able to take advantage of the bonus offer, however, inasmuch as construction of a battle cruiser within $2 months is possible, which would mean a bonus of $3,000,000. Foreign Commerce

Old Guard, He Says, Would Begain Power if Hughes Wins and Republican Congress Elected.

HOW WILSON PUT END

By Vance C. McCormick. Chairman Democratic National Committee New York, Sept. 26 .- (I. N. S.)-The nan who drove invisible government out of Washington, unseated the bosses and established visible government is Woodrow Wilson.

If Mr. Hughes really is opposed to invisible government, he is opposed to the methods and the political persons of such men as Penrose, Gallinger Smoot, Lodge, Cannon, McKinley of Illinois, etc., under whom the lobby flourished and ruled, under whom invisible government was monarch in congress. At the outset of Wilson's administration in the spring of 1918, he scattered the lobby which for years had regularly gathered in Washington to prevent legislation in the interest of as people Lobby Leaders Were Strong. The leaders of this lobby had been hand in glove with the Aldrich machine n the senate and with the Cannon machine in the house for many years. Laws were made in back rooms of the United States capitol in consultation with the representatives of great financial interests of the country. President Wilson smashed this sys-tem to flinders. When congress assembled in 1913 to "revise the tariff, the leaders of the lobby had their corps of experienced secretaries and clerks working day and night in their oldtime endeavor to swing legislation. President Wilson in a public statement opposed this iniquitous condition and called the attention of the country to these activities, and there was an end of the lobby then and there.

Old Guard Would Control.

If Hughes becomes president and a Republican congress returns to Washington, the representative of special interests, ship subsidies and extortionate tariffs, Jacob H. Gallinger of New Hampshire, would be president pro tem-pore of the senate. Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania, the disciple of Quay, would occupy the position formerly held by the late Nelson W.
