

Club Activities BY WINNER

A NEW epoch was established in the State Woman's Press club on Wednesday evening when the members gathered around the table ready and eager for their turn to come in the analysis of "Modern Authors." Mrs. French combined a touch of professor with the role of president when the following were discussed: Mary S. Cutting, Harold B. Wright, Thelma Lagerlöf, Edna Ferber and Christian Larsen. Letters from Mrs. Roberts Pinehart, Lucia F. Addison and Bertha T. Voorhorst were read. An interesting feature of the evening was the original story by Lois Bain, the title of which has not yet been agreed upon. Further criticism of this story will be resumed at a later date. Mrs. Caroline Wasson Thomason was elected to membership. Mrs. Graham, a Cottage Grove newspaper woman, and Mrs. Tucker, late of the New York papers, were the invited guests. Mrs. Helen I. Tomlinson was chairman of the October meeting. The president, Mrs. French and Mrs. Colista M. Dowling will act as delegates to the convention at Seaside. Miss Jessie Hammond and Miss Lois Bain were elected alternates.

Overlook Club Meets.—The Overlook Woman's club held its first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. C. Wilson, 745 Park-rose drive. Roll-call was answered with quotations from Emerson, and the various members also contributed interesting notes on their vacations. Mrs. H. C. Wilson gave an interesting address on some of the amendments to be voted on at the November election. The following committee chairman were announced by the president, Mrs. H. C. Wilson: Charity, Mrs. F. W. Brooke; flower, Mrs. G. H. Watson; press, Mrs. E. B. Wheat; resolutions, Mrs. Joseph Montag; music, Mrs. H. C. Wilson; membership, Mrs. F. S. Scrimmer; member-ship, Mrs. William Gabriel; Mexico study, Mrs. Ray Van Loon. Delegates to the state convention will be Mrs. H. C. Wilson and Mrs. H. C. Wilson. Alternates, Mrs. Ray Van Loon and Mrs. E. B. Wheat. The afternoon closed with a social hour.

Bed Time Tales BY CLARA INGRAM JUDSON

Father Beaver's Idea.
"Yes," thought Father Beaver to himself, "why not? Mother Beaver's party is a success, why can't I do something too? I can. And I'm going to do it." For the first time in his life, Father Beaver decided to do something that will surprise everybody, and it's quite another thing to find out just what to do. Maybe you have discovered that for yourself. Father Beaver found it out that very minute. He was willing to work, dear me, yes; anxious to begin right away and he couldn't think of a thing to do.

And all the while the others were laughing and talking the way folks do at a party when they have eaten up everything in sight. Now Father Beaver didn't care where there's so much noise," thought Father Beaver. "I'll slip away quietly so nobody will notice, then maybe I'll get an idea. No sooner said than done. Father Beaver waited till he saw the others were busy laughing at one of Policeman Billy's jokes, and then he slipped quietly away toward the creek. Silently he crept under the weeds at the water's edge, and would you believe? The first minute he saw the water he had an idea, just that suddenly!

"I'll make a raft," he declared, "and I'll take everybody for a ride down Crooked creek. I guess that will surprise them." He was so busy thinking that he jumped a foot when Policeman Billy's voice came back to him. "I'll make it before she even guesses I have a plan!" And he chuckled to himself as he went.

Beauty Chat BY LILLIAN RUSSELL

Don't Form Habits.
There are no good habits. You hear persons speaking of bad habits as if there were different kinds of habits. There is no difference; all habits are bad. Any action that becomes habitual means a surrender of individuality, a sacrifice of the power of initiative, an acceptance of the ways of the world, a yielding to externals. Habitual virtues and vices are marks of mental weakness. We can control our habits by the use of will. We are entitled to no great praise for virtue that is founded merely on habit. That person is virtuous who has the habit of doing the right thing, and overcoming any vice because of an earnest desire to go in the right direction. We can all look tolerantly on habits of virtue because of the fact that they might come if habit did not control some persons. The wise woman is she who calls a quick halt when she realizes that she is forming habits of any kind. The so-called good habit, if permitted to dominate the individual, too often develops into a bad habit. We see miserly persons narrow and mean; we see the habit of being generous person has in him the germ of the wastrel. There are as many good habits as bad that makes persons addicted to those nuisances, that every one of my readers will be able to read some examples in his or her individuality or household. If you are wise you will not form habits of any kind. You will retain your control over yourself; preserve the balance between mind and body, which will make each responsive to the other at any moment and in any emergency, unhampered by some formal method of thought or action that has no relation to present needs. In that manner healthy, reliable, charming citizens are made who can be depended upon in any emergency. Too many persons have fallen victims to habits that they call by the fashionable name of "fad." Is smoking a fad? No; it is a habit, which, if carried to excess, becomes distasteful to many. The habits of drink and drugs are fatal without any exceptions. The candy-eating habit ruins the lining of the stomach, while habits of eating and drinking are equally as pernicious. If families would, in a friendly way, point out and call attention to the habit that every individual member assumes, and at any and every opportunity, to do so, the habit would accentuate the effect of the habit by bringing it before him or her continually, they would be doing good work. Habits are acquired so easily that if one falls to study oneself every day one is liable to drop into a habit unconsciously. To be master of oneself is holding power in the palm of the hand. The habit of smoking, for example, "I will not smoke," and does not smoke, is a powerful man. The same power he uses to control the habit of drinking, or the habit of being generous. There is little fear of that man going far wrong in any of his plans and actions. The same characteristics are applicable to women. It is weakness of character that makes women victims of habits. There is a thin line between the headache powder and the morphine habit, but there is none between the tonic wine and a glass of whiskey. The other habits are silly weaknesses. Study yourself. Have you a habit? If so, defy it and be guiltless of such a weakness. Let your mind be master, as God intended it to be.

FOOD FOR THE INVALID.
When there is illness in the house, bitter lemons and tedious (to everybody) convalescence, the homemaker's time, energy and ingenuity are taxed to the limit, and the provision of a really appetizing food for the patient is a five-times-a-day worry.
To slight a thing as a spot on the face, cloth may be an inviting prospect, but an immaculate tray, brightened by a small bowl of panache, may cheer the unhappy morning face, and instead of "Oh, goodness, the home nurse will hear," "That apple sauce looks so nice that I guess I will take a little bit," when the first bite of the apple sauce is taken, and if the food is really appetizing, it will usually be eaten.

INDIAN CHUTNEY. Eight ozs. peeled and cored, 8 ounces tomatoes, 8 ounces salt, 8 ounces brown sugar, 8 ounces stone raisins, 4 ounces cayenne pepper, 2 ounces ginger, 2 ounces garlic, 2 ounces shallots, 2 quarts vinegar, 1 quart lemon juice.
Mix all together and put in a covered jar. Keep in a warm place and stir every day for a month. Strain, but do not squeeze dry. Store in bottles.
CHEESE SOUFFLE. Put into a double boiler 1 cup of milk, 1 cup of grated American cheese, 1 tablespoonful of butter, 4 cup soft breadcrumbs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, a little paprika and mustard. Cook for three minutes. Take from the fire and pour on the germ of the soufflé. Fold in the beaten whites and turn into a buttered pudding dish. Bake from 20 to 25 minutes in a slow oven. Serve immediately.
DIRTY HANDS ARE GERM CARRIERS. A warning against germs being carried by the hands has been issued by the United States public health service, which asserted that if the average individual would learn to keep his unwashed hands away from his mouth, he would escape many of life's ills.
"Disease germs lead a hand-to-mouth existence," says the warning. "If the hands are washed with soap and water, the unwashed hand away from the mouth many human diseases would be greatly diminished. We handle infectious matters more or less constantly, and we continually carry the hands to the mouth. If the hand has recently been in contact with infectious matter, the germs are introduced in this way into the body."
"Many persons wet their fingers with saliva before counting money, turning the pages of a book, or performing similar acts. In this case the process is reversed, the infection being carried to the object handled, there to await carriage to the mouth of some other person."
CONTENTMENT.
The happy state of mind, so rarely possessed in which we can say, "I have enough," is the highest attainment of philosophy. Happiness consists not in possessing much but in being content with what we possess. He who wants little always has enough.—Zimmerman.

Undertaker Alleges Death Rate Too Low

Charges Fraud Against His Partner, From Whom He Purchased Half Interest in Pomona, Cal., Business.
Los Angeles, Oct. 7.—(P. N. S.)—Complaining of a low death rate in the vicinity of Pomona, Cal., Harry Hanson, a Pomona undertaker today brought suit against J. E. Patterson, from whom he purchased a half interest in an undertaking business in September, 1915.
Patterson told him, Hanson alleges in his complaint, that the undertaking business handled between 110 and 120 adult cases a year and that he had been the average business for six or eight years. Since that time, alleges Hanson, the business has amounted to but about 60 cases a year.
The suit is brought on the ground of fraud.

FRATERNAL NOTES

Multnomah Woodmen Receive Large Class and Entertain.
Large gathering of woodmen—Multnomah camp of Woodmen of the World, was crowded last night in its spacious hall at East Sixth and Alder streets. A class of 41 candidates was placed on the secretary's table. The work was put on by the officers and team with elaborate precision and striking accessories. C. S. Stowe was consul commander, C. H. Chessman, advisor; M. B. Hanson, J. H. Hanson, Johnson, past consul; Richard Deich, escort; F. Logus, watchman; C. V. Webster, sentry; Captain H. R. Cooley, who was returned from the Mexican border with the Third Oregon, was again in command of the team. Portland camp was represented by its delegates, team, officers and many members. Rose City camp had a strong delegation present. Oregon City camp had three candidates initiated by request. During the absence of J. O. Wilson, chief of the camp, who is returning from a visit on official business from San Francisco, A. L. Keenan and E. W. Minar have performed the duties of his office. There is no fraternal body in the city that is initiating so many new members as Multnomah camp.

Kirkpatrick Gathers Them In.

Kirkpatrick Council, Knights and Ladies of Security, initiated a class of candidates last night with the degree and dates and illustrated lessons. State Commander L. M. Thomas announced that the four national officers would be here on November 24, and the organization tended to have a union banquet at the Multnomah hotel and a grand initiation. Kirkpatrick council received 24 applications for the smaller hall and the promise of a number more for the next meeting.

Webfoot Camp Entertains.

Last night Webfoot Camp, Woodmen of the World, held an open social for friends and the families and friends that crowded the large hall. John Adams presided. The following program was given: Miss Barbara Haaland, soprano solo; Berry and Bonner, skit; Harry Scougall, baritone; W. S. Mowry, musical specialty; Mrs. Barritt, soprano; Land & Howard, novelty banjo and character sketches; Progressive Business Men's quartet. Dancing in both halls followed the conclusion of the entertainment. Much interest was taken in the gifts of groceries, candy and hardware. At a special meeting in the smaller hall the applications for membership were received.

Big Merger Announced.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(P. N. S.)—A merger of the Oliver Morosco L'Herpelt company, the Pacific Pictures, Famous Players Film company and the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play company, with capitalization of $12,500,000, was announced here today. The four companies will continue to produce independent pictures, but will exchange players, directors and equipment.

Film Declared Wonderful.

"Purity," the Audrey Munson feature recently released by the Mutual company, is one of the most wonderful films ever produced from a standpoint of art, according to famous sculptors and painters who saw the film before it was released. Miss Munson is nationally known through the works of art for which she has posed. Much of the statuary in the Panama-Pacific exposition were posed by her. Her eyes are produced in iron, bronze and marble in the most pretentious works of art in the east. In honor of the event the Peoples theatre, where the film will be displayed, is being decorated.

Laugh Man Back Again.

The "Laugh Man" will be back again tomorrow. This time the genial Doug Fairbanks bubbles his way through all manner of complications which of course include a rough house fight with a member of the audience. The $50,000 grand prize comes to the Columbia tomorrow is "Manhattan Madness," a vehicle constructed about the athlete-comedian which tried to do nothing but to show all his talents in one performance.

Lytic to Reopen.

The Lyric theatre, according to announcement made by Stanley S. Thompson, has been leased to Keith & Flood, who conducted the Keith house previous to its closing a few months ago. It will be reopened in about 10 days, after renovation and alterations, with popular vaudeville and motion pictures.

Three Plays This Year.

Laurett Taylor will be seen this season in three plays by her husband, J. Hartley Manners. They are "The Harp of Life," "Happiness" and "The Wooing of Eve." With the exception of "The Wooing of Eve," which she played in 1915, the other two have been seen only in "Peg of My Heart" for a long period.

BOISE PENROSE JOINS PARY COUNSEL WITH WILCOX AND PERKINS

Spectacle Has Occasioned Renewed Criticism Among Progressives of New York.
New York, Oct. 7.—Boise Penrose was welcomed Thursday at the headquarters of the Republican national committee, and enjoyed the experience of sitting down in party counsel with Chairman Wilcox and George W. Perkins.
The warmth and cordiality of his reception is construed as public recognition of the progressivism of the representative as the sole and exclusive manager of Mr. Hughes' campaign in the Keystone state.
The spectacle of Mr. Penrose and Mr. Perkins collaborating in support of Mr. Hughes has occasioned renewed criticism among New York Progressives.
As indicative of the feeling of many Progressives in the state, John J. O'Connell, chairman of the New York county Progressive committee, announced that he would lead a large delegation of New York Progressives to Shadow Lawn on Saturday to hear President Wilson's address.
The attitude of the genuine Progressives in the state has been emphasized in a telegram sent today by Bainbridge Colby, Progressive candidate for United States senator, to Francis J. Henry, Progressive leader in California, which is in part as follows:
"As a Progressive I am supporting President Wilson because he is the foremost Progressive in the country today. His record is one of devotion to Progressive principles and of extraordinary persistence and success in translating them into laws."
The opposition to the president is sinister and contemptible. It is composed of all the shrill and discordant forces of envy, selfishness and privilege and faction, both old and new."
Commenting upon the situation presented by these developments Chairman Vance McCormick today said: "The Progressives are not being fooled for a minute. They know that Hughes is the candidate of all the old rockribbed standpatters. Hughes is telling them one thing and Roosevelt is telling them another. It is too fishy. They're not going to swallow it."

GRAYS HARBOR WILL PAY $12,408 MORE TAX THAN EXPECTED

Aberdeen, Wash., Oct. 7.—Grays Harbor county will pay $10,000 more in state taxes this year. The levy had been made on the estimate of $12,000 less but the state auditor sent a message that a mistake had been made in first certificate and that the county must pay $263,293 instead of $242,895.

City Clerk's Wife Dies.

Aberdeen, Wash., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Clark, 60 years old, wife of City Clerk Peter Clark, died Friday afternoon. She was active in lodge circles.

Two Take Long Trip.

Salem, Or., Oct. 7.—Found for New Orleans, where they will take a boat for Buenos Aires, Earl Willett and Vern Story, both of Snohomish, Wash., arrived here Friday in an automobile. They carried 800 pounds of baggage on the little car.
