HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

MRS. J. R. WILEY

News for publication in the Sunday society pages must be in the Journal office by Friday afternoon.

By Nona Lawler.

BILLIANT in every detail, the wedding of Miss Edna Dolph and Edward W. Clark, third, of Philadelphia, will be the stellar event of this week. The ceremony will be read Saturday at a o'clock at the White Temple before a large assemblage of guests. There will be a large bridal cortege and rumor has it that the decorations of the church and all fascinating details of the wedding appointments will be the most elaborate in the history of the city. Miss Dolph holds a commanding position in Portland in both social prominence and general popularity. She is clever as well as charming and widely traveled and her multitude of friends are scattered in every corner of the globe. The wedding invitation list included more than 4000 names. That her wedding must take her from Portland is a source of great regret to Portland people at large.

The bride-to-be, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Clark, arrived from Philadelphia yesterday, and two brothers, Frank and Sewell Clark, will arrive the first of the week. During the last few weeks a continual round of pre-nuptial parties have been tendered to Miss Dolph and this week will hold some particularly interesting affairs. Dinners are planned for them on Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox, on Tuesday, by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett and on Thursday by Miss Genevieve Thompson.

Among the affairs of the last week were many delightful parties. Miss Margery Hoffman had 25 guests over to her suburban home on the hills west of town, on Wednesday evening for a picnic supper, honoring Miss Dolph. Thursday Mrs. E. C. Shevlin gave luncheon and Friday Miss Isabella Gaud was hostess at a similar affair.

Miss Marguerite Auzias de Turenne arrived from her home in Seattle last week and will be the guest of Miss Dolph and her mother, Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph until after the wedding.

A charming affair of Tuesday was the tea given by Mrs. Henry C. Jewett for Mrs. Charles Potter, who will soon make her departure for New York. Pretty clusters of garden flowers graced the rooms and on the tea table the dainty "cut" Brunner roses were arranged. Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Everett Ames, Mrs. Peter C. Field, wife of Major Field of Vancouver Barracks, and Mrs. George S. Young, wife of Colonel Young, formerly of Vancouver Barracks, presided in the dining room, assisted by Miss Carlotta Nichols, daughter of the honored guest, and the Misses Catherine and Charlotte Ladd.

Serving punch were Mrs. Sherman Hall and Mrs. John K. Kollok. Members of the Portland Hunt club are doing little else these beautiful days but prepare for the horse show which will take place at the Ice Palace at Twenty-first and Marshall streets, Friday and Saturday, October 20 and 21. Each forenoon groups of devotees to the saddle have centered about the Portland riding academy ring or taken to the country roads to condition their horses. Many maids and matrons of Portland society have beautiful mounts. Friday morning a number of prominent equestriennes were caught with the camera by The Journal photographer while working their horses. In the group which is reproduced on today's society page, Mrs. Ralph Wilbur is standing by her beautiful mount "Kildare"; Mrs. Russell B. Caswell is riding the splendid horse "Jack Daw"; and the Misses Ruth Shull and Dorothy Strowbridge are mounted on "Walt" and "Colonel Jack," owned by Mr. Kerron of the riding academy.

The University club opened its social season Friday evening with a brilliant dinner-dance. Among those who had tables were Mrs. Mary Phelps Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Morris H. Whitehouse, Judge and Mrs. George N. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Napier, Aubrey R. Watzek, Dr. Lorne Manion and Charles L. Holbrook. Mr. Holbrook's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox, Mrs. Hazel Blumauer Litt, Miss Meta Rupp, Miss Evelyn Carey, Miss Polly Young, Miss Claire Wilcox, Miss Ruth Teal, Prescott Cookeingham, Jervis E. Stephenson, Norman Rupp, Harry Reed and Roderick L. Macleay.

After an illness of more than five weeks, Miss Mary F. Failing, who was operated on at St. Vincent's hospital, is reported convalescent, though she is not as yet receiving her friends.

The bridge club opened its season Friday afternoon with Mrs. Morris H. Whitehouse. The club members present for this first party included: David C. Lewis, Mrs. George A. Marshall, Mrs. John E. Cronan, Mrs. Frank Fey, Mrs. Lansing Stout, Mrs. George Wentworth, Mrs. Martin E. Dolph, Mrs. William Morton, Miss Bertha Tongue, Miss Hazel Weldier and Miss Hazel Crocker.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anaris and Miss Lucia Morris are leaving on October

From Australia they will sail via the Thursday Islands, Borneo, Java, and Straits Settlement to Burmah, Ceylon and India, returning via China and Japan to the United States.

Mrs. Harold F. Charters (Miss Madeline Smith) was again the inspiration for charming hospitality Thursday, when her sister-in-law, Mrs. Preston W. Smith, entertained at an informal bridge tea in her honor. Three tables of auction were arranged, while a few additional guests called at the hour. Mrs. Preston Carter Smith and Mrs. Harold Sawyer poured. The rooms were brilliant with autumn colorings, autumn leaves, golden glow.

dallas and cosmos being arranged in profusion throughout the rooms. Dr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Kiehle celebrated their third wedding anniversary with a "leather" party last week at their home, 1137 Cumberland road. All the decorations were in autumnal tints and the leather decorations also prevailed. The following were dinner guests: Mr. and Mrs. Henri Labbe, Mrs. Kenneth Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Merriam Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Folger Johnson and Leland Smith.

Miss Maisie and Miss Ailsa MacMaster were hostesses Monday at a delightful bridge tea at their home, "Ardgour," in honor of Miss Polly Young, formerly of Vancouver Barracks. Guests were asked for four tables of bridge, while additional members of the younger set dropped in at the tea hour to greet Miss Young, who is now the house guest of Miss Claire Wilcox. Miss Young and her mother are in town pending the arrival of Colonel Young from New York city.

Mrs. F. H. Jones of San Bernardino, Cal., and her little daughter, who have been passing the summer with Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Wolverton, returned last Monday from short trip to Prineville where they visited friends, and passed a week in Portland before returning to their home in the south. Mrs. Jones is a niece of Judge and Mrs. Wolverton.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Katherine Stoppenbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Norman Stoppenbach, and John Wesley Luders, Monday, October 16. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents in Piedmont at 4 o'clock.

Miss Lucile Bronaugh was hostess at a charming affair Tuesday in honor of Miss Katherine Stoppenbach, fiancée of John W. Luders, when she entertained with a morning motor party up

About 35 guests called to greet the honor guest and Miss Lucia Harriman, who also returned recently from an extended trip, received with them. The tea table was presided over by Miss Edna Groves and Miss Mary Frances Ison, poured coffee. The Right Way to Judge Diamond Values

PURCHASE the gem from an establishment that enjoys a wide reputation for giving maximum values at minimum prices.

Buy from a house that is financially able to buy directly into the diamond markets and command the lowest wholesale prices. Buy from a house that has a reputation for value-giving diamond merchandising—a reputation that is equal to that of any establishment in the West.

Buy from a house that has had more than a half century of experience in Diamond selling.

In Portland, and all over the Northwest, that house is the establishment of Feldenhaimers.
