

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS PLACE MORE RESTRICTIONS

Provisions Are Made Regarding Parking of Cars in Certain Sections of City.

SIGNAL RULE IS ADOPTED

Machines Are Allowed to Pass Streets Outside Restricted District and Off Bridge Approaches.

Automobiles and other vehicles are prohibited from parking on Washington between Third and Broadway and on Broadway between Washington and Oak streets and are to be allowed to stand only in places within the district beginning at Third and Yamhill, on Yamhill to Tenth, to Stark, to Broadway, to Oak, to Third, under amendments made to the traffic ordinance by the city council.

The new traffic ordinance with amendments is to go before the city council next Wednesday for adoption and a time fixed for its enforcement. The plan of parking automobiles back to the curb is to be the same as under the old ordinance, the council decided. Originally the new traffic ordinance provided that machines should be parked "head-in" to the curb, but the majority of the council held that this plan was objectionable and that the "back-to-the-curb" plan should be followed.

The council also decided to allow machines to pass streets outside of the restricted district and off the bridge approaches. Originally the ordinance prohibited automobiles from passing either to the right or left of the rear end of bicycles as warning lights.

PLAN TO MINIMIZE COSTS

Amendment Covering Street and Sewer Assessments Is Sought.

To minimize the cost of collecting bonded sewer and street assessments, an amendment to the city charter was introduced by William Adams, city treasurer, which would have the present municipalities street and sewer improvement bonds act amended to provide for payments to the sheriff when property owners pay their taxes.

Mr. Adams has taken the matter up with Commissioner Biggs and City Auditor Barton and both have approved the plan. Several thousands of dollars can be saved the city if the change is made, it is said. Under the present act property owners assessed $5 for a street or sewer assessment may bond their property and pay the assessment in 20 installments, or at the rate of 25 cents every six months. Even in the case of installments as small as this, notices of payments due must be mailed to the property owner assessed, and as a result the clerical force of the treasurer's office has had to be increased.

GARBAGE COLLECTION ACT

People Will Vote on Measure at June Election.

The people next June are to vote on the question of a free garbage collection system for Portland. Amendments to the charter providing for the system are to be before the city council next Wednesday and the council will order the measure placed on the ballot.

At present there is an authorization of $75,000 in bonds for the establishment of a municipal garbage collection system. This authorization provides a charge for the collection of garbage. Under the proposed amendments the issue will be reauthorized and the council given the power to make either a charge for the collection of garbage or provide a free collection system, in case the free collection system is established the cost of operation will be paid from taxation funds.

The proposed amendments are suggested by Will H. Daly, commissioner of public utilities, and have the endorsement of the health authorities, and a number of local civic organizations.

REPORT OF A SECRET PROPAGANDA OPPOSED TO WILSON IS DENIED

Cardinal Gibbons Says Members of Catholic Church May Vote as They Choose

New York, Oct. 21.—The New York World yesterday published a statement from Cardinal Gibbons in which he distinguishedly denies the existence of any secret propaganda in opposition to President Wilson's reelection.

The attention of the cardinal was directed to a dispatch from Indianapolis appearing in the World on October 16, in which an observer of political events was quoted as having said that "several priests in the country are secretly counseling his parishioners to vote for Hughes," and that "Cardinals Gibbons, Farley and O'Connell are fully aware of the undertakings and are in sympathy with it."

Cardinal Gibbons' statement to the World is as follows: "I never have heard until this moment that any Roman Catholic propaganda existed in Indianapolis or elsewhere in opposition to the reelection of President Wilson. I do not believe there is any truth in it. For myself, I am not a politician and I have never authorized any one to quote me as favoring either candidate for the presidency.

Every Catholic voter has an inherent right to vote according to his own individual conscience and I am sure that the Roman Catholic hierarchy of the United States would never interfere with the right. Many persons have written to Cardinal Gibbons since the presidential campaign opened inquiring regarding a report of an alleged act of discourtesy from the president. To these inquiries the cardinal has replied repeatedly both orally and by letter that there is not a word of truth in the story. Yet letters are being received by the cardinal almost daily asking as to the truth or falsity of these same rumors which have been given such apparently wide circulation.

PASSENGER AGENTS ON GET ACQUAINTED TRIP

Five city passenger officials from cities in the southwest on the Southern Pacific-Sunset lines are in Portland on a "get acquainted" trip over the Southern Pacific system. In the party are J. F. Monroe, El Paso, F. V. Schaub, New Orleans; Henry Ball, Waco, C. H. Compton, Galveston, and J. E. Bledsoe, Fort Worth.

The ranks will carry Spokane, the late cattle and land king. Practically $25,000,000 of this is in California holdings, including vast tracts of land in 18 counties, and stocks in corporations other than Miller & Lux, which Miller practically owned. These figures, largely from testimony in tax cases, do not include the valuation of the $90,000 acres of land in other states owned by Miller & Lux, and his death. Taxes under the state and federal laws will approximate $5,000,000.

Woodrow Wilson will carry the state of Washington. You can put that down as absolutely certain. Mr. Fogarty of Seattle, chairman of the Democratic state committee of Washington, was emphatic when he made the above prediction for the November election. He felt the election is a sure thing for Wilson so far as his state is concerned.

The Republicans really believe it, too," he added, "and they are much discouraged. Mr. Fogarty, who graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1878, was something of a football player in his day, ran over to Portland today with Mrs. Fogarty to witness the big game at Kalamazoo, Mich. He thought I would take a little vacation," he said, when located this morning at the Democratic state headquarters at Kalamazoo, Mich. He talked and thought politics more than when I am at home.

"On what do you base your predictions that Wilson will carry Washington?" he was asked. "On what the voters tell us: on the straw ballots that are being taken all over the state; on the number of Wilson buttons that are being worn; on every political sign. They all point to Wilson," he said. "Not a single poll of the voters has been taken that is pleasing to the Hughes crowd.

Even money is being offered in Spokane that Wilson will carry Spokane county, and the entire state of Washington. At the Spokane Interstate fair three turnstiles at the entrance were labeled, "Wilson supporters" and "Hughes supporters" and the Hughes supporters were through another. The Wilson turnstile did such a rushing business that the Hughes men insisted it was a favorite attraction. So the labels were changed and the bulk of the crowd switched with the labels. In the few days that tally was kept the Wilson votes ran far ahead of Hughes.

"The ranks of all political parties are filled with men and women who are going to vote for Wilson."

STOCKHOLDERS VOTE TO DISMISS MOORE'S ACTION FOR DAMAGES

Decision Based on Report of Special Investigating Committee in Cement Business

$1,500,000 SUM SOUGHT

"Report Was Precisely the Whitewash That We Anticipated," Says Coy Burnett, Moore's Attorney.

The stockholders of the Oregon Portland Cement company voted yesterday to dismiss the $1,500,000 cement trust damage action brought by Aman Moore in the name of the company as vice president.

The action was based upon the report of a special investigating committee composed of A. King Wilson, Chester DeWitt and Lawrence J. Cheater, Jr., declaring that it found no foundation for the charges of Mr. Moore against the president and several officers of the company and that the western cement companies that a conspiracy exists in restraint of trade and a violation of the Clayton anti-trust law.

The committee's report briefly stated that many witnesses were called and many sessions were held. Mr. Moore and his attorney presented their side, but that the whole was deemed inconclusive. The report was adopted over the protests of Mr. Moore and Dr. Andrew C. Smith, a stockholder. Motion to dismiss the action will be made in federal court Monday, it was said today.

"Whitewash" Is Claim

"The report was precisely the 'whitewash' that we anticipated and predicted in the beginning," declared Coy Burnett, Moore's attorney, this morning. Mr. Burnett was not present at the meeting, but arrived from San Francisco yesterday evening.

"When I left for San Francisco last Monday it was after an understanding with Edward Cookingham, who worked all the proxies, that the action upon the committee's report would not be made until my return," said Burnett. "Mr. Cookingham broke faith with me. The only effect of the report is to draw closer the lines showing who are in favor and who are not in favor of making money illegally in our own country."

The report and the action of the stockholders will have no effect upon the equity action before the federal court. We will make no protest against the dismissal of the damage action.

May File Other Suits

"The dismissal of the damage action by the stockholders will leave Mr. Moore free as a stockholder to file one to three other suits to protect his interests as a stockholder in the company, interests that are rapidly being taken away from him by people he has sued or is going to sue.

The character of the new suits which he will bring will be governed in large extent by the report of the federal grand jury, which began its cement trust investigation long before our action was brought. If the grand jury does not indict the people who local people will be involved in the suit brought by Mr. Moore to recover the value of the stock holdings in the company.

Legal Phase Considered

"The present equity case cannot be dismissed under the report, but the committee has indicated that the control of the company be taken from the people whom the committee favors and if they are successful in this action the Oregon Portland cement company will be placed upon a legal basis.

"The suit to recover damages on account of closing down the plant and defects in construction will be proceeded with upon the same basis as at present in the non-prosecuted action. It will be removed of the embarrassment of having in our camp those either secretly or openly opposed to us."

"Deposition taking in the equity case will be commenced November 1 at Seattle."

Star Chamber Meetings

Moore and his attorneys complain that committee sessions are held as "star chamber" meetings, that no opportunity for cross-examination was afforded, that all proceedings were in secret, that no move has been made to extend the hearing, that no committee hearings are being taken and that the presentation of evidence was purposely incomplete.

With this matter disposed of and with difficulty in securing cases eliminated, the Oregon Portland Cement company will now be in a position to go ahead stronger than ever in getting out of the cement trust and in building up an industry that Portland and Oregon will be proud of."

Mr. J. E. Moore, assistant sales manager of the Oregon Portland Cement company, this morning.

Hunter refused to tell where he secured the liquor, although offered immunity.

FREER INTERCHANGE OF PRODUCTS WITH SWEDEN ADVOCATED

John Lokrantz in Portland to Urge Swedes to Build Up Commercial Relations.

Urging that the Swedish people now residing in the United States could and should help along the interchange of trade between America and the Scandinavian countries, John Lokrantz told a gathering of Portland Swedes last night in the opera house, for the purpose of an enormous trade development both while the war is in progress and after it.

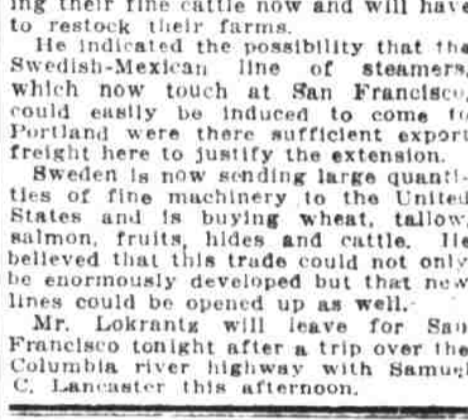

Mr. Lokrantz is manager of the Swedish Chamber of Commerce, with headquarters in New York. He is making a visit to the Pacific coast to tell of the opportunities for trade that he declared that Sweden, like all the European countries, will suffer heavily from the curtailment of the supply of raw materials. The people are eating their fine cattle now and will have to restock their farms.

He indicated the possibility that the Swedish-Mexican line of steamers, which now touch at San Francisco, could easily be induced to come to Portland were there sufficient export freight here to justify the extension.

Sweden is now sending large quantities of fine machinery to the United States and is buying wheat, tallow, salmon, fruits, hides and cattle. He believed that this trade could not only be enormously developed but that new lines could be opened up as well.

Mr. Lokrantz will leave for San Francisco tonight after a trip over the Columbia river highway with Samuel C. Lancaster this afternoon.
