

What Society Is Doing

BY NONA LAWLER

DANCING is the order of the day. The Scout Young Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans' dance at Cottillon hall will call forth the hosts of friends of the veterans' night to hear the O. N. G. It is a big charity ball to raise money for the winter philanthropies which the wives and mothers assist in the veterans' do for all of their poor.

The Kanton club will hold their dancing and card party also this evening.

Tomorrow society will be in attendance at the University club's dinner dance.

To Hear Election Returns.
Tuesday evening, November 7, the members of the University club will hold an informal dinner to hear election returns. There will be a beef-steak dinner served and returns will come in over a private wire from 6 o'clock on. Dinner will be served from 6:30 until 8:30.

Miss Ladd Ill.
Miss Helen Ladd is receiving messages of sympathy at her home in West Park street, as she is suffering from an attack of grip.

Tuesday Bridge Club.
The Tuesday Bridge club was delightfully entertained this week by Mrs. T. F. Bayliss. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, gay Halloween decorations characterizing the affair. Honors for the game fell to Mrs. McWaters and Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. D. D. Sweet. Mrs. McWaters will be hostess to the club in two weeks.

A Halloween Bridge Party.
Charming hospitality was dispensed yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Daniel T. Palmer and Miss Palmer at their home in Eastmoreland, when they entertained 50 women with a bridge party, the Halloween motif being cleverly suggested in innumerable ways. First honors fell to Mrs. G. W. Simpson, her prize being a hand decorated nut bowl; second honors went to Mrs. B. E. Miller, who received a Halloween box filled with sweetmeats, and Mrs. Shrewsbury carried off the coveted golden pumpkin filled with confections. The table numbers, score cards and delicious refreshments were suggestive of Halloween. The rooms were made attractive by the use of autumn leaves, mahogany chrysantheums and marigolds. Mrs. E. M. Baker on the ice cream and Mrs. Robert D. Schmidt put on the Sunday morning tea on Wednesday, November 8, at the Uptonian church.

Car Hits Hack and Three Are Injured.
Muncie, Ind., Nov. 2.—(U. P.)—Three young school girls were probably fatally hurt, Peter Knott, driver of a school hack, badly injured and 17 other school children seriously hurt when a line car on the Portland division of the Indiana Union Traction line crashed into the school hack at Commo, near Fortland, Ind., about 7 a. m. today.

Birth Party.
On Tuesday evening about 35 friends of William Lope gathered at his home upon the invitation of Mrs. Lope to celebrate Mr. Lope's arrival in town on Halloween night, the rooms were decorated with colored lights and spook-like images. The ghost appeared at the given signal and furnished amusement by telling the fortunes of the guests. Games, contests and music were enjoyed until a late hour, when refreshments were served, tokens of remembrance presented to Mr. Lope, and Mrs. Lope declared a most hospitable hostess.

Needlework Guild.
Society always turns out in large numbers for the annual Souther Needlework guild, and this year will be no exception. Mrs. James Laidlaw is taking charge of the tea table and reception committee for this event, which occurs Wednesday, November 8, at the Uptonian church.

Iowa Society Meets.
The Iowa State society met last night at the Masonic temple, about 250 former Hawkeyes being present. An evening of dancing and cards was arranged, with the music program. The next meeting will be held December 8 at the Masonic lodgerooms.

Wedding at New Orleans.
Portland friends of the couple will be interested in the wedding invitations received from New Orleans, La., which will be an event of Saturday, November 18, at 6:30 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, 1808 Jackson avenue.

FRATERNAL NOTES

Maccabees Active in Social Gatherings Throughout Oregon.

Maccabees Pointers.—A new tent is being formed at Butter Creek, Morrow county, by district deputies.

In Albany an oyster supper and booster meeting will be held next Saturday night.

Astoria tent has invited J. W. Sherwood, state commander, to be present at a big review and explain the new rates and methods.

Corvallis Maccabees have arranged for an open meeting on the night of November 8, and a special social dance on November 28.

Dallas and Fall City tents will hold a joint celebration in December of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their organization.

On Friday, October 27, the Newberg Maccabees held a well attended smoking with visitors from Portland, including State Commander W. Sherwood, Deputy George A. Graves, Ed Munger and others.

Last Saturday night Westport Maccabees held the best smoker ever known in its history, with Dr. Lott H. Jacobson and Albert McLean in charge. The pillow fight would have done credit to the British and German navies, and was Sunday morning before the sumptuous hospitality at the tables was disposed of.

Anchor Council Well Attended.—Anchor council, Knights and Ladies of Security, held an active and interesting session last night at 129 Fourth street. A class of candidates was initiated under the degree staff recently formed and dined by Captain G. Taylor. It was resolved to accept the invitation of the food exhibit next week and attend in a body. To help out the degree staff in its efforts to obtain a set of uniforms for the entire proceeds of the masquerade ball given on October 29 will go to that purpose. L. M. Thomas, state manager, announces the formation of a new council of the order at the east side, to be known as Rosebud council, which will meet in the hall of the East Side Business Men's club.

Family Quarrel—Death.
Ellensburg, Wash., Nov. 2.—(P. N. S.)—Family troubles and a quarrel led to the death here today of Rolla Evans, 21 years old, unmarried, who was shot and instantly killed by Walter Hansen, married. The shooting took place at the gate of Hansen's home.

Memorial to Pastor Russell Is Planned.
Fitting services to be conducted in Christensen's Hall Sunday night in honor of Religious Leader.

Remembrance of Charles Tase Russell, who died Tuesday night on a train at Tampa, Texas, will be formally observed in Christensen's hall Sunday night. He was well known in Portland and prior to his last visit in September he had made six visits since 1905.

As "Pastor Russell" he was popularly known, and of him William A. Baker, an intimate acquaintance, said: "He will be greatly missed in religious work. His writings were widely read and they will continue to be popular."

He was president of the People's Pulpit association of New York, and the International Bible Students association of London, and of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society of Pennsylvania. Brooklyn Tabernacle, Brooklyn, was his headquarters and he was bound for there from Los Angeles when death from heart failure overtook him.

As an author he was known by his "Studies in the Scriptures." His followers in Portland number themselves by the thousands and hold meetings each Sunday in Christensen's hall and Bible study classes throughout the week in different parts of the city.

The deceased, who is survived by his widow, wielded a strong influence in many parts of the country. Among other points of his doctrine, he taught eternal death instead of torture as punishment for sins.

Fulton at Medford.
Medford, Or., Nov. 2.—Ex-Senator Charles W. Fulton drew a crowd Tuesday night. The crowd was mixed but decorous. That Wilson sentiment was present in volume was indicated by applause at mention of the president's name in connection with the Mexican and international policies.

Bed Time Tales

Slippy White-Mouse Takes a Journey.
ON THE far side of Shadow Wood, a long way off from the laughing ripples of Crooked Creek, was the cornfield. Now the cornfield didn't belong to the Wiggleskenken country—in fact it had nothing to do with the Wiggleskenken country—it only happened to live next door. The Wiggleskenken folk paid no attention to the cornfield. There was nothing in it to interest them; what do beavers and raccoons, or even woodpeckers and bats, care about cornfields—nothing at all!

But the good little people in the cornfield thought a great deal about the Wiggleskenken country, for they had heard tales that were passed down from one generation to another about the wonders and strange adventures of Shadow Wood and the Dark Forest. Moreover, every mother among all the cornfield people took great pains to tell her children that they should never, never venture under the cornfield fence and into the shadows of Shadow Wood. And as you very well know yourself, that's the best way to make children want to do something—to tell them they cannot do it!

Finally, one bright autumn day, the littlest member of the White-mouse family rebelled.

Another White-mouse had just finished telling her family, as she did every morning, "Now run along and play, little folks, but don't go into Shadow Wood," when Slippy asked the dreadful question, "Why not?"

"Why not?" demanded Mother White-mouse in amazement, "because I tell you not to, that's why not!"

Of course, that should have been reason enough for Slippy, but it wasn't. She knew well enough that her mother was probably right and that trouble might overtake her if she disobeyed. But she was just that curious—she didn't care.

"I'm not afraid," she whispered to herself as she slipped out from her home, "and I guess whatever happens won't be so very bad. Anyway it can't be any worse than wondering and wondering all the time what that Shadow Wood is like." Poor little Slippy, how little she did know!

So without telling her mother goodbye (she knew that she wouldn't be allowed to go if she told) she left her good, safe home and ran from corn shack to corn shack till she reached the fence. "There!" she said as she crawled under it. "I'm started, and nothin's happened!"

Tomorrow—He Who Laughs Frightens Trouble Away.
