

WASHINGTON STATERS HERE FOR BIG GAME OF YEAR WITH OREGON 'U' Teams Considered Best in Northwest Ready for Battle of Pigskin Tomorrow. TO BLOW WHISTLE AT 2:30 Eugene Team Arrives Tonight and Rooters' Special Will Reach Town in Morning; Crowd to Be Large.

BRINGING UP FATHER

While the public has been so engrossed in learning that Mr. Wilson has defeated Mr. Hughes for the presidency, the fact that the football classic of the northwest season this year will be played tomorrow on Multnomah field has almost been lost sight of. Tomorrow the two popular considered best football teams in the northwest will clash on Multnomah field, the University of Oregon and the great Washington State college team.

CRIPPLES PLAY CRIPPLES WHEN WHISTLE TOOTS

Washington in Bad Shape and Aggies Lose Stars From Freshmen.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 10.—(U. P.)—The Oregon Aggies arrived today for Saturday's big football game with the University of Washington. Washington's chances of winning received a severe setback when it became known that Captain Seagrave, who injured several tendons in the University of Oregon game, would not be in condition to play. In addition to this Ben Mayfield, whom Doble was figuring on using in the coming struggle, was hurt in scrimmage recently and Doble is looking for another man for his position. Ernest Murphy, another Doble star, is on the sick list but will play in tomorrow's game. As a result of the different mishaps on the varsity squad, a new right side of the line will have to be developed. Wirt will in all probability take Captain Seagrave's place at guard; Leon Able will hold down the left end, and if Murphy is shifted to the backfield, Calkins will be seen at right tackle. In direct contrast to this is the lineup that the Aggies are going to play against the Washington team. The two foremost players on the Corvallis squad are Captain Bissett at half and Newman at full. Coach Calkins' squad is somewhat weakened by the freshman conference rule which keeps out three of his star players—Conn at half and Busch and Walker at guard.

Clatskanie Eleven Plays Rainier Team

Clatskanie, Or., Nov. 10.—Football fans of this city will be given a treat tomorrow when the Rainier high school and the Clatskanie high school pigskin chasers clash in what is regarded as the 1916 gridiron classic in the lower Columbia river valley. Upon the outcome of this contest hinges the championship title. Although the locals were defeated early in the season by the score of 28 to 0 by Rainier, Coach Weber is confident of a victory. At that time, the team was composed of green material and some of the players had never seen a football game. However, following this contest, the squad was strengthened.

Seattle Promoter on Way to Examine Law

Dan Salt, the Seattle boxing promoter and manager of Chet Neff, crack Seattle lightweight, arrived in Portland today on his way to New York, where he will make an inspection of the working of the 10 round boxing law in that state. Salt figured on seeing the McAllister-Simms bout tonight, but in view of its postponement until next Tuesday, will probably leave at once for Los Angeles, where Neff has been cleaning up his class. He may take Neff east for a couple of bouts provided the Los Angeles fans will let the Seattle youngster go. He is immensely popular there right now.

PARSONS CAN'T APPEAR NOV. 25 AGAINST O. A. C.

Coast Conference Committee Finds Oregon Star Not Eligible. Because of the failure of Johnny Parsons, the great halfback of the University of Oregon football team, to complete the 1914-1915 semester, he has been declared ineligible by the Pacific Coast Conference Advisory Committee. This will bar Parsons from participating in the contest with the Oregon Aggies, but as there is no specific rule covering this point in the Pacific Northwest Conference, Parsons will play in tomorrow's game against the Washington State college. The victory of the Oregon team over California therefore forfeited on a technicality, according to reports. Dr. A. D. Browne of O. A. C., and Dean A. R. Priest of Washington are members of the advisory committee. Their statement regarding the protest is as follows: His Years of Residence. We find that Mr. Parsons registered at Oregon regularly in September, 1914, for his fourth year, having been in residence during 1911-12, 1912-13, 1913-14. According to the faculty athletic committee of Oregon Mr. Parsons completed his work for the first semester of 1914-15 in a satisfactory manner. The official records of the university give no evidence that Mr. Parsons registered for the second semester of 1914-15 except that his record card shows him marked as "with-drawn," but no date of withdrawal is attached. Mr. Parsons himself says that he has no memory of registering the second semester, but that he continued to attend classes after the second semester began, February 8, 1915. He says that he feared that he would not have sufficient funds to enable him to continue in college, so he thinks that he did not officially register. On April 10, 1915, more than two months after the opening of the second semester, he represented Oregon in an athletic meet at Portland, and won first place in the broad jump. The Oregon Emerald, the college paper, under the date of April 29, 1915, reports that Parsons was leaving college for Alaska the next day, April 30. It, therefore, seemed that Parsons had sufficient funds to remain in attendance through 1915 weeks, but not enough to remain for the five weeks necessary to complete the semester. Finds He attended. The advisory committee finds that both in letter and in spirit Mr. Parsons was in attendance at the University of Oregon during the second semester of 1914-15; that he has no credits for said semester; that the conference agreement of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate association, under the heading "Intercollegiate Relations" major D, No. 1, minor b, holds that a student to be eligible to represent an institution in the conference shall have passed 11 hours of work for the semester of residence previous to participation; that the second semester of 1914-15 is for Mr. Parsons the previous semester of residence, since he was not at college during the year 1915-16; that finally in the light of these facts he is, therefore, ineligible to represent the University of Oregon in any intercollegiate athletic relation at any time during the first semester of 1916-17. Signed, ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

Pacific Is Crippled For Saturday Game

Pacific University, Forest Grove, Or., Nov. 10.—The greatest non-conference football game of the season comes off tomorrow when Pacific University will meet Willamette university on the latter's grounds to decide the championship. Both teams are well trained and comparative scores and records point toward a hard fought contest. Since last Saturday when Pacific scalped Chemawa several of the varsity squad have been on the crippled list and a feeling of gloom now hangs over the student body. Captain Lucas, the punter and half-back, received an internal injury over the hip which will at least slack his speed if not keep him out of the game altogether. The doctors' final decision has not yet been given. Parker, full-back, only played part of a game Saturday on account of a weak ankle and has not been in the scrimmage since Stanley, the end, is completely laid out on account of a broken knee. Thus, with one of the P. U. varsity squad entirely out of the contest and two star backfield sure to be hampered and possibly out of the game, the chances for Pacific victory is slim and discouraging. However, the Methodists can be assured of an exciting contest, for Herbert Taylor, the 140-pound plunging halfback, will make a good substitute for the captain. Coach Handlin has not yet announced who will fill the position of fullback. A special train of rooters will accompany the team to Salem consisting not only of students but also of enthusiastic business men.

TIA JUANA'S 100 DAY RACE MEET OPEN TOMORROW

Better Class of Horses and Jockeys Assure Leading Winter Meet. San Diego, Cal., Nov. 10.—(U. P.)—King Horse will rule again at the Tia Juana track, which will open tomorrow afternoon for the second fall and winter meet, for 100 days "or more," the club officials promise. The Lower California Jockey club, owner of the plant, is preparing for record crowds tomorrow and Sunday. Excursions from northern points will begin to arrive tonight. Everything points to this being the star winter meet of the country, with a better class of horses and better jockeys on hand. There are some 20 jockeys here ready to ride and the majority are far better than those who were riding at the last meeting. Already on the ground are Earl Pool, John O'Brien, Tommy Nolan, Tommy Hayes, Van Dusen, Ed Tappin, Lilly, Martin, Pickins, Gross, Little Moore, and several others. The McTaggart Brothers, Butwell & Buxton will be here as soon as the big meets in the east close. The Butler Boxing club smoker scheduled to be staged tonight, in the Rose City Athletic gymnasium, has been postponed until next Tuesday night. The move was made to give McAllister, who made the trip from San Francisco on boat additional time to get into condition for the bout with Lowe Simms, and to further advertise the contest. No changes will be made in the card, according to the present plans of Manager Butler.

Oregon Aggie-Frosh Play Club Saturday

The Oregon Aggie freshman football eleven will clash with the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club team in a practice game on the club field tomorrow morning. The contest will be a practice affair, but it will take on the color of a regular game, because the freshmen are anxious to atone for the 6 to 0 defeat Multnomah handed O. A. C. at the start of the season. No admission will be charged at the game tomorrow morning, which will start promptly at 10:30 o'clock.

Multnomah Boxers And Graps at Seattle

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic club's first inter-club boxing and wrestling tournament will be staged tonight in Seattle against the representatives of the Seattle Athletic club. The "Winged M" padded mitt artists are Ralph Underwood and Thomas Louttit and the grapplers are Virgil Hamlin and George Hansen.

Workers Are Needed Badly at The Dalles

Manufacturing establishments of The Dalles are in need of more help. J. W. Brewer, secretary of The Dalles Chamber of Commerce, was in Portland yesterday with the report that Libby, McNeill & Libby and the Dri-Fresh company are in need of 100 families of workers. The two companies are unable to obtain sufficient help in the vicinity of The Dalles and are endeavoring to induce people to move there. Operations of the two plants are hampered by lack of help, which alone prevents a considerable expansion, Mr. Brewer said.

Determined on Revenge

Centuria, Nov. 10.—The Hoquiam high school football team, which defeated Centuria earlier in the season, will play a return game here this afternoon. The locals are determined to get revenge.
