FOREIGNERS ARE STILL BIDDING FOR SUPPLY OF BUTTER

POTATO MARKET NOW SOGGY WITH WEAKER TONE ALONG COAST

Turkeys are arriving rather freely in the local market. Demand is favorable at the moment, and prices are holding steady. Both live and dressed stock is arriving with the best call for dressed. This is always the case at this time of the season.

A canvass of territory tributary to Portland indicates that little southern Oregon stock will enter this market for the Thanksgiving trade and that shipments from northwest points will be below the average for recent years. Trade's Requirements Well Fille's are nominally on a lower basis. So far as the be below the average for recent years. buying market is concerned at country shipping points, there is really nothing at all doing. The best price available at this time is $1,35 per cental for extra select quality, basis Port-iand delivery. This means no better than $1.25 per cental at most country points that have recently been receiving around $1.50, and in Bolated instances as high as $1.75 per cental.

The market is extremely soggy all along the Pacific slope at the moment. Stocks at all lesding centers are extremely heavy. Sufficient stock has already been purchased by spec-ulative interests in Oregon and Washington to fill the trade's requirements for at least two

The car shortage situation is still a dominating factor, and is expected to continue such during the remainder of the season.

Along Front street potatoes are selling at $1.50@1.75 per cental generally, the percentage of business above this extreme mark being so small as to be scarcely considered as a factory season.

ONION MARKET VERY QUIET Market for onions is extremely quiet locally and the outside demand has practically stopped at the moment. The Confederate Onion Growers' association is maintaining its but others are offering for less.

HALIBUT IS OUT OF MARKET No offerings whatever of hallbut are shown in the local market, aside from a few pounds of storage stock, which the trade is not taking hold of. Salmon is also scarce and firm, with prices maintained.

KOP BUSINESS IS STAGNANT The trade in hops is stagnant. There was little doing before election and the election results caused a complete stoppage of trading here. This is believed to be a temporary
