

I. W. W.'S TAKE TRAIN AT CHEHALIS, ARE PUT INTO PORTLAND JAIL

Thirty-six Tired and Hungry Men Do Not Try to Resist Police Here.

ORDERED TO LEAVE CITY

After a Good Breakfast Delegation Is Given a Little Advice by Judge Langguth and Told to Move On.

Thirty-six tired, cold and hungry Industrial Workers of the World, satiated tourists of the roads, brake-beams and gondolas, were given glad haven in the spottish city jail this morning when they had a good breakfast, a warm "flap," and afterwards a fatherly lecture from Municipal Judge Langguth.

The men were gathered by half a score of policemen in the Albina yards just before daybreak after the customary wagon had come from Chehalis that the itinerants had taken possession of a freight train and were enjoying a free special.

As usual, the I. W. W.'s, all young fellows with hardly 10 cents in the whole grey, began piling off the train at the city limits, but enough of the bolder ones hung on until the Albina yards were reached, when the police nabbed them.

No Resistance Offered. Not the slightest resistance was offered the bluecoats. The prisoners were more than glad to pile into the two patrol wagons and a couple of touring cars. At headquarters they were marshaled in the two big drunk coils and to a man they placed their coats on the floor and slept.

The trustees had to go without their breakfast while they fed the visitors from the Puget sound country. The men were ravenous and cleaned up the plates of liver and chuck steak, bread, potatoes and coffee.

Afterward they were all taken before Judge Langguth, and he released them, with the injunction to get out of town by 6 o'clock tonight. The 36 men gladly agreed to this and trooped from the courtroom.

John Haney, a husky of 28 years who said he had recently come from the east, acted as spokesman.

Are Bound for South. He said the members of the Industrial Workers now passing through Portland were on peaceful missions. They were flocking southward to escape the cold, and sought work in the fruit lands and oil fields of California and other southland states.

"We are not going to cause anyone any trouble, if the police let us alone," said Haney. "We've got to travel some way, and we are not going to hurt anyone if they don't hurt us. We are not here to hold any demonstrations, and in fact we wouldn't be here at all if the police hadn't brought us. Most of us would be on the way south by now.

There are a great many members of the union around Seattle and the Puget sound cities now," he continued, "and they will remain until after the Everett trouble is settled. I expect that Haywood and Etor, our leaders, will reach the Puget sound country in a few days. Haywood is now in Chicago and Etor is interested in some labor troubles in northern Minnesota.

KARL JOSEF EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA DIES AT RIPE AGE OF 87

(Continued From Page One.)

few short weeks before the date, December 2, on which he had decided to confer upon Archduke Karl Franz Josef, the Austro-Hungarian throne heir, the rights of co-tenant.

Karl Franz Josef, a grand nephew of the dead emperor, succeeds to the throne.

Had his death come two years ago, or only one, or six months, it would have meant disaster to the imperial cohesion of the Hapsburg monarchy. It is safe to say, and his people have known it throughout these anxious two years, that no victory on the battlefield, no stroke of diplomacy, no catastrophe of the war could have done for the allied cause what Franz Josef's death would have done at any time but this.

"Wish Father of Thought." When dispatches from London, Paris and other capitals brought the news that the emperor had "died" Austrians smiled a grim smile and with the fringe of unspeakable bitterness in their tones, remarked: "The wish is the father of the thought. They would be happy if Franz were dead."

Franz Josef of Austria, the "unhappiest monarch in Europe," took the throne of the dual monarchy at the age of 18 years when his father, the Archduke Francis, refused to take up the monarchy after the death of Ferdinand I. He was born August 15, 1850.

"The Curse of the Hapsburgs." "The curse of the Hapsburgs" was supposed to have hung upon him, and his long life was full of events to justify the superstitious in their belief in the curse. A flight of ravens passed over the palace at Schoenbrunn on the day of his coronation, and this also was taken to mean evil luck to him.

His brother, the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico, was executed. Maximilian's wife went insane. The Crown Prince Rudolf, Franz Josef's son, was found with his head beaten in, lying by the body of a young married woman of Vienna.

Mosses of Tragedy Destroyed. The mystery of his death was never cleared. In his grief Emperor Franz Josef had the house of the tragedy destroyed, and the whole country about it changed.

The Archduke John Salvador was the next to die. Denied his father's permission to marry Ludmilla Stubel, an actress, he renounced his rank and eloped with the woman. The boat they were on was lost in a hurricane off Montevideo and no trace of either was ever found.

The Duchess d'Alencon, favorite of his wife's sisters, died in the charity bazaar fire in Paris. Later the Archduke William Francis Charles, another of the royal family, died from a hunting fall. Then Archduke Ladislaus was horribly wounded by accidental gunfire.

Franz Josef married the young Elizabeth of Bavaria, but their married life was not pleasant and they separated. They were reunited in 1898, and plans were made for the emperor's golden jubilee at Vienna, when the Empress Elizabeth was killed by an anarchist.

Humbled by Family Scandal. Adding to the old man's sorrows, scandals in his family put humiliation upon him. European capitals were agog with the doings of the Hapsburgs and their relations. Franz Josef became almost a recluse, trying to keep away from the shame.

The peak of his troubles, and the immediate cause of the European war, was the killing of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir to the throne, in Sarajevo, Bosnia, by Gavrilo Princip, a Bosnian.

Despite the pressure of his sorrows, Franz Josef was recognized as a strong ruler, particularly in his ability to keep together the many races that are a part of the dual monarchy. It had been said of him that with his death the dominance of the Austrians over the many other nationalities of the empire would cease and that Austria-Hungary would fly to pieces.

Threatened With Assassination. Though many times threatened with assassination, and countless occasions

SUCCEEDS TO THE THRONE OF AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

Karl Franz Josef and his wife.

reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for today declared that the death of Emperor Franz Josef was peaceful. Vienna, it was said, had been prepared for the news but, nevertheless, removal of the ruler who had wielded power for 68 years caused a profound impression. A special cabinet meeting was immediately called. The time fixed by official announcement for the mourning which the emperor passed away was 9 o'clock. He died in Schoenbrunn palace, presumably of the catarrhal affection, resulting from a cold from which he has constantly suffered since July.

The emperor was apparently in fairly good health Monday night, 24 hours before his death. He arose at his usual hour on Tuesday morning and went through his customary program of busying himself in governmental affairs.

Change for Worse Sudden. Later he received the Archduchess Maria Valerie and Baron Burián from the foreign office. Late in the afternoon he became suddenly worse. His temperature arose alarmingly. It was obvious that the end was near.

The Archduchess Maria Valerie assisted the aged ruler to his bedroom early Tuesday night. He was unable to sleep and kept complaining of pains in his throat. At 9 o'clock he appeared more quiet and seemed to be resting. But 20 minutes later he suddenly gestured to his throat, seemed to strive for utterance, and died within a few moments.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, who has been in Vienna for some time, was immediately notified. The telephone connecting Schoenbrunn palace with the German headquarters in the field was used to notify Emperor William of Germany.

Royalty to Attend Funeral. It is expected that, in addition to the kaiser, the czar of Bulgaria and the crown prince of Turkey will attend the funeral, no complete arrangements for which have yet been made public.

The conference between the Austrian and Hungarian premiers, scheduled at Budapest this week, was immediately postponed and the Hungarian cabinet called in special session at once. Count Tisza, the Hungarian premier, left for Vienna immediately.

The Vienna court is known as the most formal in all Europe and a great many curiously mediaeval ceremonies will attend official announcement of the sovereign's death, preparation of his body for burial, interment and proclaiming of his successor on the throne.

Emperor's Coffin to Be Plain. According to custom probably the work of embalming the lead emperor's body was begun today. His heart will be removed and placed in a separate receptacle, although this will later be buried with his body.

Sixty-eight years ago, when the last Hapsburg sovereign died, his heart was put in an urn and preserved with 55 other similar urns, each containing the heart of one of 55 other members of the royal family, in the church of St. Augustine. It was Franz Josef who terminated this ancient custom, issuing a royal decree against it. According to the dead emperor's own wishes, his coffin will be a plain one of oak, lined with white satin.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

If custom is followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

Will Be Buried With Ancestors. It will be covered with royal black velvet and be placed finally in a large metallic sarcophagus in the imperial crypt.

It is custom followed, Franz Josef will not be buried for at least a week. Probably his body will lie in state in the Hofburg Augustiner church, an edifice 400 years old. The interment will be in the imperial crypt under the plain but ancient little church of the Capucin fathers—for reported to have been stricken with fatal illness, Franz Josef lived to old age. During the past five years, however, he was constantly ailing. Rumors of his death have been intermittent since the outbreak of the European war.

The Archduke Karl Franz Josef, grand nephew of the aged monarch, is next in line for the throne. He was born in 1887, and in 1911 married Princess Zita of Parma, by whom he has three children.

Karl Franz is said to be very democratic. He was educated in the public schools of Vienna. Before the tragedy at Sarajevo which put him in line for the throne he was comparatively poor, and his establishment was very modest. He speaks English fluently.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY TO BE RULED BY MAN OF DEMOCRATIC NATURE

Archduke Karl Franz Josef, 29 Years Old, Succeeds Emperor Franz Josef.

NO DIPLOMATIC TRAINING

Has Had Good Military Training and Achieved Some Success; Faces Task of Keeping His People Together.

London, Nov. 22.—(U. P.)—Eyes of Europe today were turned on the Archduke Karl Franz Josef, now to be emperor of Austria-Hungary. Although Vienna has so far withheld official court confirmation of the death of the aged Franz Josef, his demise has been confirmed in special dispatches from various sources.

The new ruler of the nation, whose demands on Serbia precipitated the great war, is 29 years old.

No Diplomatic Training. With the prospect that the new sovereign may have an important bearing on the future of the war, his character and disposition have been subjects of deep study by all Europe.

Democratically inclined, very little was known of him up to the time that an assassin's bullet murdered the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir, in Sarajevo, June 28, 1914.

The man who will now become Austria's ruler is known to have had a good military education and has achieved some success as a military commander in the great war. He has lacked any training whatever in statecraft or diplomacy.

Prussian Power Expected. Moreover, he assumes the throne at a time when the strongest of men would have a task in maintaining the empire of Austria-Hungary intact and strong. Hungary has grown restive under the Hapsburg yoke. Strong leaders of men have recently appeared there. They fear swallowing up of Hungary in the Teutonic Empire, for whose fidelity and love the empress decided the body should rest with her.

But immediate results of the removal of the aged ruler of the aged emperor were believed here to mean an increase in Prussian domination of the central empire. Franz Josef, acknowledged one of the strongest rulers of modern times, is no more. A mere stripling, unversed in statecraft, succeeds him. Germany will probably find him pliant in acceding to Prussian wishes.

four centuries keepers of the Hapsburg dead. Franz Josef will be number 133 in the crypt, but more properly Hapsburg number 132—one of the 133 bodies being that of a countless, companion of the great Maria Theresa, for whose fidelity and love the empress decided the body should rest with her.

Escaping from a British prison camp where he was taken as a German army officer, Brunner came to San Francisco, and became a broker. A big deal, promising him independence, was nearly closed, when he discovered it would aid England in a small way. He immediately dropped the transaction, other reverses followed during the last four months and Monday his fiancée, Miss Vera Oliver, calling at his apartment to accept a dinner invitation, found Brunner's lifeless body with a revolver nearby, and two notes of explanation.

The local Chamber of Commerce has a supply of waste paper on hand.

The Chamber of Commerce will be filled up with waste paper if we can't find a disposition for it, soon," Mr. Brewer declared.

Woman Clairvoyant Flays Police Judge

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—(P. N. S.)—"This is one of those clairvoyant cases," remarked Police Judge Oppenheim when Estrella Olsen was arraigned in his court on a charge of vagrancy.

"I'm not a clairvoyant; I'm a divine leader," said Miss Olsen.

"You're a divine fakir, I think," commented Judge Oppenheim.

"I think you're a fakir. I know you're a fakir. You're not fit to be a judge, and I don't think you were born of a woman," responded Miss Olsen.

Whereupon the judge promptly ordered her into custody, fixed her bail at $1000 and continued the case for two days to decide what punishment should be inflicted upon her.

Direct Election of President Proposed

Washington, Nov. 22.—C. E. Spence of Oregon has submitted a resolution at the National Grange session favoring direct election of president and vice president. It was referred, to be acted on later.

Timber Co. Defendant In Tax Foreclosure

Aberdeen, Wash., Nov. 22.—Tax foreclosure suits have been started against the Weyerhaeuser Timber company. One is against the finest section owned by the company in this county. Delinquent taxes of the company amount to $250,000. The Weyerhaeusers allege over-taxation.

When writing or calling on advertisers, please mention The Journal.

Incendiaries Slug Man, Burn Building

Los Angeles, Nov. 22.—(P. N. S.)—Slugged on the head as he stood talking over the telephone, and then left to die in a burning warehouse, George Lynch, a salesman for the National Blauvelt company, was saved last night only by the timely arrival of the fire department. The building was partially destroyed, with damage estimated at $15,000. The police today are seeking two incendiaries.

Advertisement for Baker's Cocoa. Text: "In the great out of doors or at the evening reception Baker's Cocoa is equally acceptable, invigorating and delicious." Includes an illustration of a woman in a dress.

Advertisement for Fannie Ward. Text: "Starting Tomorrow a Paramount drama of powerful appeal, with a great star and a wonderful company." Includes a photograph of Fannie Ward.

Last Time Tonight—Magnetic Mae Murray and all-star cast in that stirring success, "The Plow Girl"—a splendid program tonight.

Peoples

No need to tell you these new, first-run Paramount Pictures are to be seen in Portland only at the popular Alder Street at West Park

Advertisement for Globe Theatre. Text: "The play: The Unwritten Law. The author: Edw. Milton Royle. The star: Beatriz Michelena." Includes the name of the theatre and location.

Advertisement for The Star. Text: "The story of the love of a young American for an heiress, her wooing by a count and the final triumph of the American." Includes the name of the theatre and location.

Large advertisement for Mary Pickford. Text: "COME EARLY! Playing to Delighted Thousands Mary Pickford Less Than the Dust A picturesque story of modern India, in which Miss Pickford as a little English castaway has developed a brand new characterization of intense power, mellowed by all the sweet and adorable qualities which have given her such a tremendous and devoted following among theatregoers. The new Pickford series — as its most fitting — finds a home at the THEATRE BEAUTIFUL. The Columbia" Includes a photograph of Mary Pickford.

CATARRHAL AFFECTION BELIEVED TO BE CAUSE OF EMPEROR'S DEATH

London, Nov. 22.—(U. P.)—Dispatches from Vienna via Amsterdam