Question Discussed Before Men's Forum of M. E. Church.

Attorney Moulton Speaks .- Arthur Moulton, attorney for the organizaon of jitney drivers, speaking before the men's forum of the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday noon, said that if public utility concerns do not stop their interference in public legislation and politics, they will become things of the past. Attorney Moulton referred to the activities of the Portland Railway, Light & Power ecompany in the present litney contro-

Attorney Moulton declared that the litney drivers favored regulation and had sought to secure it for the past year. He said, however, that the jitneys could not issue transfers now, however, or extend service to the extreme limits of the city. He further declared that the question had now
