

LAWYER MADE EFFORT TO PROTECT PROUTY FROM SUICIDE STIGMA

Jerry Bronaugh Says Close Friends Agreed Not to Reveal Poison Caused Death.

TWICE ATTEMPTED LIFE

Former Wife Prevented Self-Destruction in 1903, Attorney Asserted in Will Case.

The few persons who knew that H. H. Prouty, prominent Mazama, had died September 11 as the result of poison taken with suicidal intent, agreed not to breathe a word about the cause of death to anybody, today testified Jerry E. Bronaugh, one of the executors of the Prouty will, which is being contested by Prouty's son, Carl, who alleges his father was insane and improperly influenced when he willed away his $52,000 estate, leaving the son only $10,000 in 1903.

These persons were Mr. Bronaugh, Miss Edith Ellis, Mr. Prouty's fiancée, and to whom he bequeathed $5000 a few days before he died. Miss Ellis' sister Pearl, and their mother, Mr. Bronaugh admitted he requested Dr. Fisher, who attended Prouty, not to put anything more in the death certificate than was necessary, to indicate the real cause of death.

Attempted Life Before. This was the second time that Mr. Prouty had taken poison for the purpose of ending his life. It was in 1903, when he was 35 years of age, that he had returned to him with their son Carl in the hope of accomplishing a reconciliation.

The reconciliation failed and Mrs. Prouty and her son, Carl, left again for the east. Mrs. Prouty returned to Portland after she learned of Mr. Prouty's death, and visited Bronaugh October 6. She asked Mr. Bronaugh, the witness testified, if Mr. Prouty had died as the result of poisoning, and he told her no.

"At that time we had decided that not a word should be breathed about the poison," said the witness.

"Who do you mean by 'we'?" asked Attorney James G. Wilson, of counsel for Carl Prouty.

"Miss Ellis, her sister and her mother and myself. Miss Ellis asked me if she should tell Mr. Prouty's brother, Governor Prouty, when he should come, and I said, 'No, for heaven's sake, don't tell him. Let's keep it forever from everybody.'"

Came to Get Last Word. "Didn't Mr. Prouty say to you," asked the attorney, "you know he took poison; why don't you tell me?"

"I said I knew no such thing," Bronaugh testified. "I was hot, and told her she had no right to question me, she was not his wife. He hated you to his last breath," I told her.

"She then said she came out to get the last word he left for her. I told her he left no last word for her."

"Where did Mr. Prouty take the poison?" asked Wilson.

"I only know from hearsay."

"You tried to induce the doctor to make a certificate of death leaving out the cause," said the attorney.

"I may have suggested it to him," replied the witness. "I know Miss Ellis was much put out at the doctor's indifference about keeping the matter quiet. I asked him not to talk about it promiscuously."

Prouty Became Angered. The witness said Mr. Prouty took the poison August 22 and was taken to the hospital September 2, in the meantime being at the home of Miss Ellis and her mother.

Mr. Prouty took the poison a few days after his return from a trip with the Mazamas to the Three Sisters. Miss Ellis was on the trip with him and he left the party one morning in a high state of anger, and Miss Ellis followed a little later.

"On that outing, didn't Frank Branch Riley slip and fall, and in doing so grabbed Miss Ellis?" asked Attorney Wilson.

"I don't know," answered Bronaugh. "That's a fact that this made Mr. Prouty very angry?"

"I have been told so. I am not surprised, as he was moody. The morning he left our party, he had intended to climb the mountain with us, but he turned and went the other way."

"Did he consult you about his leaving?"

"I didn't dare talk to him about it."

"Did he consult Miss Ellis?"

"She wanted him not to go, but he refused."

Dead Man Not Fickle. Attorney Wilson asked if Prouty was not engaged to Miss Mary Emily Francis at the same time he was engaged to Miss Ellis, and the witness replied he did not think so. He also said, in reply to a question, that he did not believe Prouty was fickle in his love affairs.

Replying to another question, Mr. Bronaugh declared that "Miss Ellis' attitude is as friendly to Carl as mine. I am friendly to him. When this controversy is over and this will is established I will be the friend to Carl that I told his father I would be."

It was brought out that after his first attempt at suicide, Mr. Prouty made a will leaving his property to his divorced wife and son.

Incidents of the bitter divorce contest between Prouty and his wife were reviewed, showing that Prouty threatened his wife's life and she caused him to be placed in jail for a week, that he left the state of Washington to evade jurisdiction of the court, and transferred his property to his father in an effort to keep it from his wife.

FATE OF JITNEYS WILL BE DETERMINED BY COUNCIL TOMORROW

Attempt May Be Made to Overrule Daly's Stand on the For-Hire Feature.

FRANCHISE BEING DRAWN

Commissioner Hopes to Have New Measure in Shape to Present at the Hearing on Tuesday.

The fate of the jitneys is to be determined by the city council in special session tomorrow morning. It is probable that members of the council will attempt to overrule Will H. Daly, commissioner of public utilities, in his decision that the jitneys are operating within the law under the ordinance regulating for-hire vehicles.

Protests of Vincent Cook, the Portland and the Oregon Taxicab companies against Commissioner Daly's action in approving the system under which the jitneys are operating were heard by the council Friday and action postponed until tomorrow.

Commissioner Daly expects to have a proposed franchise for jitneys in shape for presentation to the council when it meets and hopes to have it met with the approval of the majority of the council and the jitneys. If an agreement is reached on this proposed franchise the jitneys will operate under it rather than under the present for-hire system. If an agreement is not reached and the council sees fit to overrule Commissioner Daly the jitneys will have to discontinue operations.

Fights Salary Reduction. Complaint of W. S. Chapman, civil engineer, of the department of public works, that the council has no legal authority to reduce his salary, is now being investigated by City Attorney Le Roche. The council several weeks ago, on recommendation of Commissioner Dieck, ordered Chapman's salary reduced. The civil service rolls as a civil engineer, and entitled to the same compensation as other engineers in the department. In recommending the Chapman's salary be reduced, Commissioner Dieck said that he was not doing the same work that others in the department were doing.

Egypt Asks Advice On Walnut Raising

Egypt is looking to Oregon for advice on the raising of walnuts.

When John M. Scott, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific company, returned to his desk today after a Canadian trip, he found awaiting him the following letter from R. Strang, of the University of Agriculture, Cairo, Egypt.

"Please send me good enough to send you your book entitled 'Oregon Walnuts.' Inasmuch as soil conditions in the valley of the Nile resembles those of the Willamette valley, the university will be supplied with several of the walnut books as well as other agricultural literature put out by the railroad."
