Milkman Is Star In Playing Role of Fire Department

San Francisco, Feb. 13.—(I. N. S.)—Patrick Doyle, a milk wagon driver, has visions of possible wealth today as the inventor of a fire extinguisher. An automobile belonging to J. C. Doyle, president of a vaporizer manufacturing company but with no relation to the milkman, caught fire near the Cliff House. There was no water at hand and the crowd which gathered was making vain efforts to fight the fire with sand when the milkman drove up, unlimbered a 20-gallon can of milk and with a milk ladle soon had the fire under control. He was rewarded for his efforts at 10 cents a quart, with an additional cash bonus.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

A Well Known Actress Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair With a Simple Home Made Mixture.

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/2 oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray haired person look 20 years younger. It makes the hair soft and glossy, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off." (Adv.)

Applying this Paste Actually Removes Hairs

Merely applying an inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. This paste is made by mixing a little water with some powdered delonite; after about two minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple method not only removes every trace of hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. To insure success with this treatment, be careful to get real delonite.

Workmen Walk Out At Columbia Plant

The entire force of bottemakers, blacksmiths and machinists in the employ of the Columbia Engineering Works walked out on strike yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, following the refusal of A. M. Mears, manager, to confer with a committee of workmen. The workmen's committee first presented its petition at 1 o'clock during Mr. Mears' absence. On his return he offered to talk to the entire body of men, refusing to confine his dealings to the committee. The men refused to hear him except through their committee. Mr. Mears announced last night that further negotiations with the men will not take place and the present policy of the open shop would continue. About 80 men are affected by the walk-out. Work in the plant will not be materially injured by the strike, according to Mr. Mears. He said that with but few exceptions none of the strikers will be placed at work again. Joseph Reed, chairman of the executive board of the Metal Trades union, said that the question of the open shop did not enter into the petition signed by employees of the plant, but that an eight-hour day and increased wages were asked.

Bed Time Tales

BY CLARA INGRAM JUDSON

All Over Nothing.
ONE bright winter morning an energetic little dog was trotting along sedately when he happened to notice he was passing near a certain place in which was a favorite bone-yard of his. All one summer he had carefully buried his choicest bones under this same bush and he remembered it was a very good place. "I'm perfectly sure I dug every one of those up," he said to himself, "and it would do no harm to look." So with a flick of his left ear and a cheerful wag of his tail he turned in to investigate. A bit of careful digging soon convinced him that there was nothing interesting there and with a final scratch at the half frozen earth he lazily turned away. Now at this very same minute a robin sat perched up in a tree near by, wondering what in the world he'd better do next. Pickings hadn't been very good that day and he was middling hungry, which means he was hungry enough to be cross, but not hungry enough to hustle around in the cold and find something. He spied the dog scratching under the bush and thought, "there must be something good to eat in that dirt he's scratching up—I guess I'll watch my chance and get some." He watched, and the very minute the dog turned to go away he was down pecking at the fresh turned earth. Mr. Dog heard a voice and turned to see the robin digging industriously in the hole he had just made. "That's queer," he growled, "I thought that hole was my very own. I guess I'll wait and see what that old robin is after." So he watched and saw the robin hunt diligently and then fly back to the tree. "Wonder what he found," mused Mr. Dog. "I'll hunt again myself." Back he went and set to digging vigorously. Now the robin really hadn't found anything at all, but when he saw the dog digging again he thought he must have missed something, so he flew down to the other side of the bush and began to dig as hard as he could. In silence they scattered the dirt for a few minutes, then the robin piped out, "What is it you are digging for, anyway, please?"
