The Deaconess home at 815 East Flanders, was finished in January 1916, and is valued at approximately $8000. The building is three stories high, with a full basement. In the basement there is the furnace, laundry, fruit room and "poor closet." The last named is used to store articles of clothing given to the deaconesses for use among the poor.

Home for Deaconesses. The first floor resembles a home.

Upon entering one sees a sun room and can smell the sweet odor from the flowers. This room is also used as the sewing room. A spacious living room with a fireplace and plano greets the eye next and then the dining room and a well arranged kitchen. A small office is also on this floor off of the front hall. The second floor has six bedrooms and the third floor three. At the rear of the home on the secand floor is a large sleeping porch.

The home is not a school but is home for the eight deaconesses who work in the Oregon conference. workers receive their schooling in the accredited schools of the church and are appointed to their work in much the same manner as a minister is to

The home was started by persons who bought the lot and gave it to the church to be used for this purpose. This first step was taken about three years ago. Donations from the membership of the church has given the building, which was built especially Alliance Will Hold for a deaconess home. The building is well lighted and has a homelike and pleasing appearance. Churches Support Deaconesses.
