BY VELLA WINNER

The departments of psychology, art and literature of the Woman's club, which met Friday afternoon in the parlor of the Hotel Multnomah, brought out a large attendance of the members. The "Master of the Inn" was read by Mrs. J. Frank. Mrs. F. J. Crawford presenting the psychological interpretation of the story. Allen H. Eaton of the University of Oregon gave the first of his series of three lectures on American Art in relation to those factors in American life which determined its beginning, have modified it and are creating its possibilities for the future. The lectures to follow will in all probability be: "The American Art in the Twentieth Century," "The American Art in the Twentieth Century," "The American Art in the Twentieth Century."

Seaside Woman's Club.—The Women's club of Seaside had an enjoyable session Tuesday, at which time the count was finished for new members, and Mrs. John Seines' lecture on "The Russian Drama," telling in a most comprehensive and delightful manner, the story of Chekhov's "Cherry Garden."

Research Club Meets.—The Portland Research club held an enjoyable all-day meeting Friday. The morning was devoted to papers on the Guiana and Yucatan, given by Mrs. G. J. Wright and Mrs. George W. Lilley. At 12:30 luncheon was served in the Y. W. C. A. tea room. In the afternoon, Brazil was studied and means were discussed by Mrs. S. M. Brooks, Mrs. Amos Moore and Mrs. H. A. Killam.

Chapter O Elects Officers.—Chapter O of the P. E. O. Sisterhood held an all-day meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. W. A. Herman. Miss Minerva Holbrook, daughter of Mrs. Laurence Holbrook, was initiated into the chapter. After luncheon Mrs. Minerva Holbrook, daughter of Mrs. Laurence Holbrook, was initiated into the chapter.

Mount Scott Club Meets.—The Mount Scott Culture club held its annual meeting Friday afternoon at which time officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. F. W. Dobbs; first vice-president, Mrs. Frederick Armstrong; second vice-president, Mrs. Jean McLaughlin; recording secretary, Mrs. Taylor Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. R. Leroy; treasurer, Mrs. Charles E. Kitching; director, Mrs. J. W. Ward. The afternoon program included a book review as follows: "The Portion of Labor," by Mary Wilkins Freeman; reviewed by Mrs. Cora H. Ward; "Cross-ties," by Robert Herrick; reviewed by Mrs. F. R. Leroy. There was a large attendance of members and one guest, Mrs. Livingston.

Lavender Club Meets.—Branch 1 of the Lavender club held an enjoyable meeting Friday afternoon in the East Side Library. Roll call was answered with questions and matters of current interest, and in itself constituted a delightful program of choice thoughts on current events. The afternoon was spent socially.

Mrs. L. W. McCaw, retiring president of Chapter E, P. E. O. Sisterhood.

Beauty Chat BY LILLIAN RUSSELL

Mysterious Charm.
WE ADMIRE the girl who is frank and easy to penetrate. We say: "She is so refreshingly sweet and frank. She has no secrets. You can read her like a book." That which is ever ready to put aside the fact that she knows not too much, and lets you have all she knows, gratis. There is no mystery about her, no shy glances, no touch of sarcasm in her smile, no thought hidden nor reserve force underlying her wide open-eyed acquiescence. Such a girl is a good fellow, always ready for a good time and never offended when left out of a party—but it is a phase, a strange phase, of nature that those who may be depended upon always are placed on the shelf of the ever-ready, and dismissed from the mind.

All the thought and effort to draw and please is concentrated on attracting the girl who is not ever ready with her smiles and confidences—the one who is surrounded with a little mystery. They say: "We can get Miss So and So and Mrs. What's-Her-Name will tell us all we want to know, but Miss So and So will be more difficult; therefore she is the one we want to win over to our cause."

It is so throughout the whole world. That which is ever ready to put aside for what is difficult to obtain. The girl who is satisfied with her lot or who is sufficiently intelligent to accept of the inevitable and make necessary forces by study and observation. They want flowers and candies, theatre tickets and taxi cabs and are almost highwaymen in their determination to get what they want. It is the survival of the boldest, and the barrier has prevented the return to home ports of many submarines that had been sent out before the ruthlessness had been announced.

Headed home for a fresh supply of petrol, it is declared many a German submarine has found it impossible to return to its home fields. Some have been sunk and some have slipped away to hide.

At more than one supply station discovered by the British, German submarines have turned up to find all supplies vanished, sometimes to be captured and sunk themselves by waiting British craft.

For reasons of the admiralty's own, the facts of British success against the submarines are being kept within the admiralty.

Bed Time Tales BY CLARA INGRAM JUDSON

Hopi Indians.
MANY years ago, out in the country which is now known as Arizona, there once lived a tribe of Indians called the Hopi Indians.

In many ways, their habits of life differed greatly from the northern Indians about whom we more often hear.

Don't you always think of an Indian as living in a wigwam? But the Hopi Indians don't live in wigwams at all—they live in three-story stone houses—doesn't that seem queer?

Their houses are made of slabs of sandstone mortared together with clay. Then when the stone part is done, the entire interior of the house is plastered over with clay.

One very queer thing about their houses is just opposite from our way of house designing. The roof is the nicest part of the house, the top floor the next nicest, and so on down. The reason for this is that the first floor has only one very thin door or sometimes no door at all. To enter the house one must climb up a steep stairway on the outside of the house and then climb down a ladder placed in a hole in the roof, to reach the lower floors. The roof is partly covered with mud and pieces of coarse, hand-woven cloth for protection. It is not and rain. There the real work of living goes on—the rooms are only used for store rooms and for sleeping rooms.

The roof is square, of course, and has a wall two or sometimes three feet high around it.

At one side is a long, narrow stone trough divided into three parts. That is where the corn is ground. As soon as the little girls are old enough to hold a stone firmly in their hands they are taught to grind corn. The corn is put in one part of the trough and the little girl takes a big stone in

As soon as the little girls are old enough they are taught to grind corn.

Mallory Line Ships Will Act as Scouts

Galveston, March 3.—(I. N. S.)—The Mallory line steamer Concho was measured today for large-calibre guns, and she and other vessels engaged in coastwise traffic will be used as scout cruisers. The guns are said to be immediately available and only the building of bases are necessary. Beside the Concho, the Henry R. Mallory, the Santa Jacinta, Antilles, Protus and the Creole will be prepared for scout cruiser service, it is said.

U-BOATS SAID TO BE PROOVING SUCCESSFUL

Censor Prohibits Use of Figures Regarding Sinkings and Captures.

SUPPLY STATIONS FOUND

Disposition Is to Sink Divers, but Numbers Taken Makes It Difficult to Believe More Have Been Sunk.

By Lowell Mellett.
London, Feb. 12.—(U. P.)—(By Mail).—England has sunk and captured a vastly greater number of German submarines since the German submarine warfare went into effect, February 1, than at any time preceding that date.

It is known that more than one submarine supply station has been discovered and put out of business by British naval vessels.

Evidence is plentiful that the British navy, engaged in the war, has succeeded in capturing more than 100 submarines, making a success of it.

In other words, England is getting the German submarines. The fact is that to say she is capturing them and she is sinking them.

How she is doing it, where and how many she has taken, the censor does not permit one to tell—but England knows it and it is safe to believe that Germany is beginning to know it, too. The fact is that Germany is learning through the great number of undersea crews that fall to her.

"Leave It to Jellico" Is Slogan.
"Leave it to Jellico," said the British day of Germany's announcement of unrestricted submarine warfare.

That proportion of the number of German submarines mastered by the navy may be catalogued as captures and what proportion as sinkings cannot be given. The personal disposition of navy officers is to sink rather than to capture, but the size of the captive hauls stowed away in one or two British harbors makes it difficult to believe that the number has actually been sent to the bottom.

More than one reason is given for the frequent success of the navy of extermination against the submarines.

One is that the new divers are less efficient of themselves by reason of faulty construction to meet the new program and that their crews are less efficient because of hasty training for the purpose.

Whereas many naval officers anticipated meeting something new and more terrible in the way of underwater fighting when Berlin announced the new policy of ruthlessness, there is reason to believe they have found the new boats easier to combat than were their predecessors.

Another reason, which has good deal to substantiate its authenticity, is that the new and frankly announced extension of the British mine fields has not only been successful, but the departure of submarines that has successfully hemmed in a big portion of those the admiralty had hoped to capture.

The barrier has prevented the return to home ports of many submarines that had been sent out before the ruthlessness had been announced.

Headed home for a fresh supply of petrol, it is declared many a German submarine has found it impossible to return to its home fields. Some have been sunk and some have slipped away to hide.

At more than one supply station discovered by the British, German submarines have turned up to find all supplies vanished, sometimes to be captured and sunk themselves by waiting British craft.

For reasons of the admiralty's own, the facts of British success against the submarines are being kept within the admiralty.

The Journal Woman's Calendar

When it is cooked out at once into rounds with a sharp cutter, for the cookies get hard and brittle very quickly and would snap if you tried to stamp them out.

These wafers are delicious if served with ice cream or with any type of sauce or mouseline. And they are trifles for a tea table are not kisses and they are very easy to make.

APPLE PIE Here is my old recipe for a rich crust with lots of lard and a little cream of tartar and pinch of soda, sifted in flour. Slice apples, peel, place around top, fill the center full, then sprinkle a little salt over all the apple, cover with sugar and grate nutmeg or sprinkle cinnamon over the sugar, cover and rub top crust over with milk. Never fill an apple pie too full, then it won't run over. This is what causes so many soggy pies.

THE CHILDREN'S LUNCH

The basket lunch is harder to plan and also to prepare than the lunch at home. To begin with, there are many foods which can not be included in it, either because they are not good cold or because they can not be conveniently packed or easily carried. This leaves fewer foods to choose from, and so extra care is necessary to prevent sameness. Extra care is needed, too, in the preparation of foods that must be pecked in small compass and kept for several hours before being eaten.

Variety in breads, too, is more important at this time than other meals because of danger of monotony. Wheat or oatmeal breads; nut, raisin and date breads; beaten biscuit or soda crackers may be used in turn to give variety. Rolls hollowed out can be made to hold a large amount of sandwich filling, which is an advantage at times.

Packing the lunch basket put at the bottom the things least likely to crush, and wrap the sandwiches, etc., into neat parcels, not all in one. Paper cups, jelly tumblers with covers, which can now be bought in several sizes, are better than tin cups, and they are in which candy and some other foods are sold; and small jars such as those in which some goods are sold by drugists, can all be used for packing jelly, jam and honey, as well as the foods mentioned above. When clean and in good condition, empty receptacles of this kind can be saved for use in the lunch basket.

NUT WAFERS

Six tablespoonfuls of flour, one cup of chopped nuts, one cup brown flour, two eggs, vanilla.

Beat the eggs to a froth, then add the flour and sugar gradually, beating well between each admixture. Chop the nuts, which may be either mixed or of some one particular kind, and mix them with the vanilla; about a tablespoonful is the usual amount, but it is better to use the very best make, in which case one-half spoonful is sufficient.

Roll the dough into a large pan, so that it is spread out very thin, and bake for ten minutes in a hot oven.

DEMOCRATIC CLUBS JOIN IN CELEBRATING WILSON'S INCOMING

Women's Democratic and Jackson Clubs to Unite in Celebrating Inauguration.

Miss Leona L. Larrabee.

The Women's Democratic club and the Jackson club are to join forces to celebrate President Wilson's inauguration. The meeting will be held next Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the library hall and a special invitation is extended to the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, the Daughters of the Confederacy, the G. A. R., the Spanish War Veterans and the National Guard.

Dr. Eloy T. Hedlund, president of the Jackson club, and Miss Leona L. Larrabee, president of the Women's Democratic club, will be joint chairmen of the evening, and the Rev. Joshua Stansfield will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will include representatives of the army and navy and of the federal court. Governor Withycombe has been invited to represent the state, and George L. Baker to represent the city.

Dr. Eloy T. Hedlund and Mrs. Helen I. Tomlinson, president and vice-president of the Jackson club, and Miss Leona L. Larrabee and Mrs. Sarah E. Moore, president and vice-president of the Women's Democratic club, are the members of the reception committee, and Mrs. Tomlinson and Miss Larrabee are joint chairmen of the arrangements committee. The musical program is in charge of Miss Lillian Hackleman and Miss Bernarda Harry.

The idea of celebrating the president's inauguration is an innovation in the regular routine of both organizations and the motive is entirely patriotic and non-partisan, Mr. Wilson being the president, not of the Democratic party, but of the entire United States. Democrats and Wilson Republicans, and the public in general are invited to assist in the celebration.

290 Accidents Were Reported Last Week

Of This Total 212 Were Subject to Provisions of Compensation Law; None Were Fatal.

Salem, Or., March 3.—During the past week the state industrial accident commission received reports of 290 industrial accidents, but none was fatal. Of the total number reported, 212 were subject to the provisions of the compensation law, 33 were from public utilities and 39 were from firms and corporations which have rejected the provisions of the compensation law.

Eugene Electorate To Register Votes

Eugene, Or., March 3.—Eugene's registration of voters began today for the annual election April 2. There is only one ticket in the field for city officers, headed by C. O. Peterson for mayor, and it is probable that there will be little if any opposition, except in the case of the candidate for member of the water board, R. M. Day, whose term expires this year, will become a candidate for reelection. There is a movement on foot to place a strong man in the field against him.

Fishermen Join Union.
Marshfield, Or., March 3.—Solomon fishermen from Rogue river state that they have formed there a local union of the United Fishermen of the Pacific. Nearly 50 men joined the union, F. J. Huntley was elected president and R. W. Hill secretary.

Survivors of Ships Sunk by German Submarines in Bay of Biscay, Among Them Women, Reach Spanish Port.

New York, March 3.—(U. P.)—One hundred and seventy-nine survivors of ships sunk by German submarines in the bay of Biscay were landed at Vigo, Spain, by the Dutch steamer Samarinda, according to the story told by their captors on the vessel's arrival here yesterday from Rotterdam.

The Samarinda picked up the 179 on February 23. They were of the British steamer Port Adelaide, the Norwegian sailing ship Waesland, the Norwegian sailing ship Sangdel, the Italian steamer Pannigina.

A number of the survivors were women and nearly all were suffering from exposure when taken from their lifeboats.

U. of C. to Establish Naval Reserve Body

Joint Resolution Is Introduced in Wisconsin Senate Asking Senator to Change His Course Regarding War.

Madison, Wis., March 3.—(U. P.)—A joint resolution asking United States Senator La Follette to change his course in the United States senate regarding the European situation, was offered in the upper house of the Wisconsin legislature yesterday by Senator Joseph P. Taylor.

Opposition to the resolution by La Follette members was indicated by the action of Senator George Skogmo, River Falls, in raising a point of order to the resolution.

Senator William Bray, Oshkosh, however, ruled that the resolution could be received and considered through a committee. The resolution will come up for action next Wednesday.

Private Applications Of Abatement Illegal

Superior Judge in San Francisco Holds Against Commercialized Vice.

San Francisco, March 3.—(P. N. S.)—The right of abatement law as applied by private individuals, including representatives of the Law Enforcement League, a local organization for suppression of commercialized vice, was declared unconstitutional today by Superior Judge Sturtevant.

The decision will be carried at once to the appellate courts, but while the act is nullified as far as the league, the most active body in prosecuting it, is concerned, or anybody else but the district attorney.

Rivers in Southern States Threatening

Knoxville, Tenn., March 3.—(I. N. S.)—The rivers in half a dozen southern states are rising as a result of heavy rains, which have reached and exceeded in southwestern Kentucky, southwestern Virginia, western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee. The Tennessee river has risen ten feet since Thursday. The government forecast was for a nine-foot stage, but 3 feet more has been reached, four feet above flood stage.

La Follette Draws Fire in Home State

Villa in Bad Health; His Plans Go Awry

Official United States Reports Say He Is No Longer to Be Considered a Factor in Mexican Affairs.

Washington, March 3.—(U. P.)—General Francisco Villa is no longer considered a factor in Mexican affairs. The state department was advised through an American official source today and likewise through a quotation in General Murguía Carranzista that the former rebel leader's physical condition has practically counted him out as a factor.

An official message said Villa's forces are scattered and that he no longer holds his once powerful grip upon northern Mexico.

As for the reports that the government has no information today that revelation of Germany's Mexican plot created any positive development south of the border.

Toadstools Kill Girl.

Los Angeles, March 3.—(P. N. S.)—Nine-year-old Ruth Emerson of Arcadia is dead and her parents and three friends are all seriously ill as a result of eating toadstools for mushrooms. Mr. and Mrs. Luther C. Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. William Espina and their son, Eddie, all under the care of physicians, are expected to recover.

FRATERNAL NOTES

Kirkpatrick Council Passes All Records for Membership Gains.
Big Class Initiated.—Kirkpatrick council, Knights and Ladies of Security, Friday night held one of the most successful member gathering meetings in its history. There were 65 applicants and 100 new members were added to a class of 30 initiated by the application of Captain L. L. Cook. It was a large audience of members and visitors from other councils that witnessed the ceremonies. Dancing followed the close of the lodge. This closes the campaign started several months ago. The council is seriously contemplating the building of a hall of its own, but as yet has not purchased a site.
