REVOLUTIONS DANGEROUS

Democratization and socialization of the world is the only way to escape the war is over, even if it is not accomplished, as in Russia, while the struggle continues, was the prediction made by Hamilton Holt, editor of Independent, and a director of the League to Enforce Peace, speaking before the Jackson club at Central library last Friday night.

When the peace pact is signed and the veterans come home they will try to pick up the tangled threads of their civilian occupations and start in where they left off.

This Is the Time to Plant Onion Seed

All Sod Ground Must Be Well Disked

This is the time to plant onion seeds and sets. Those who grow onions either for their own use or for sale, will find after harvest that they have a valuable commodity.

White onions already have become so costly that they must also be classed among the luxuries, the price for seeds and sets has not become exorbitant and dealers are not anxious to increase the cost of seed because of their fear of a serious shortage next year.

After the ground has been prepared for onions, make rows about 18 inches apart and put in the seed about half an inch deep. Onion sets should be placed, with a fair amount of growing room, with the tops just above the surface.

DEALERS FORM PLAN TO OBTAIN POTATO SEED FOR GROWERS

Store at 144 Front Street Will Be Used as Exchange Headquarters for County.

As to varieties, the yellow globe dealer is rapidly becoming a standard onion for Multnomah county. The Red Waterfield and the Australian brown onion is spoken of favorably.

Who will give a sack of seed potatoes in aid of the campaign to increase the potato supply? The plan will give two sacks, five sacks, ten sacks, or more?

The overwhelming number of applications for the county's seed potatoes on a measure-for-measure basis and more than a comparative few with the county's surplus has led to a new plan.

Through the generous cooperation of a group of dealers, The Journal is able to announce that those who will be disappointed in the returns from their application for the county's seed potatoes may have another opportunity.

G. I. Davenport to Aid. G. L. Davenport, car-lot shipper, has given his store at 144 Front street as a potato exchange headquarters.

Major Phisterer has been stationed in Portland for several months as inspector-in-charge of the Oregon Coast Artillery corps.

More Than Ton of Smelt Caught in Less Than Hour

One of the biggest runs of smelt in years is reported to be swarming the Sandy river.

A chance to thwart old H. C. L. is being taken by the fishermen now. The fishermen expect to realize from $150 to $200 for their brief labors.

Proceedings to secure a right of way for a road leading from the Base Line extension road to the Wilson road just west of the Automobile clubhouse have been suspended by the board of county commissioners on the recommendation of Roadmaster Yeon.

In extending the Base Line road the county tore up an old road leading into the Wilson road, and desired to build a new approach; but it was found that the owners of the property adjacent to the road had not been notified of the proposed extension.

Mr. Wilson has a suit pending in the circuit court to recover $13,500 damages resulting from the destruction of the original approach.

The roadmaster has taken the position that no steps will be taken by the county to build new approach at the expense of the property owner forward with free deeds of right of way. Their failure to do so will leave them high and dry as far as a road is concerned.

TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE OF BENTON AROUSED

League, Which Voted Against $6,000,000 Road Bond Issue Denies Meeting Packed

Correction of statements purporting to describe the meeting of the Benton County Taxpayers' league is made in a communication to The Journal.

The league went on record in opposition to the $6,000,000 road bond issue. The letter follows:

Corvallis, Or., April 21.—To the Editor of The Journal.—The Benton County Taxpayers' league having called a meeting to discuss the $6,000,000 road proposition, having put forth every reasonable effort to procure representative speakers for both sides of the question, to the end that the people of our county might be informed of the issue so that they might vote intelligently thereon.

But having been disappointed in our efforts to secure such speakers, we have decided to receive word that two of the speakers opposed to the issuance of bonds were not sufficiently informed of the matter and the discussion with Simon Benson, Senator Olson, of Multnomah county, Washington, favoring the bonds and C. E. Spence, master of the Oregon State Grange, opposing them.

Now this meeting of the league which was open to everybody, was closed and the people urged to come out and hear the argument, there being absolutely no thought of our attempting to check the house with opponents of the bond issue.

In the Sunday Oregonian, of April 15, 1917, under the caption, "Corvallis Hears Bond Argument," the special correspondent reported that the meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Wilson, a man named Anderson and I. N. Day. It is reported that Mr. Day wanted $1500 damages for a right of way over property for which he paid only $1000 all told.

Mr. Wilson has a suit pending in the circuit court to recover $13,500 damages resulting from the destruction of the original approach.

The roadmaster has taken the position that no steps will be taken by the county to build new approach at the expense of the property owner forward with free deeds of right of way. Their failure to do so will leave them high and dry as far as a road is concerned.
