

F. EICHENLAUB SUIT SUBMITTED TO JURY WITHOUT ARGUMENT

Plaintiff Creates Stir When He Identifies as Forgery Will Giving Him $2000.

ESTATE FIGHTS CONTEST

Ex-Treasurer of Clarke County Says the Sum Was Left Him for Service Performed.

At 2 o'clock the jury reported a verdict for Eichenlaub, granting the plaintiff $1250. H. Daniels, attorney for the estate, immediately asked that the two wills exhibited be placed under lock and key by the court until the matter can be presented to the grand jury.

Without argument by counsel, the suit brought by Frank Eichenlaub against the estate of Emily Staubandt, deceased, to recover $2000 for services rendered, was submitted to the jury today in Circuit Judge Tucker's court.

The hearing of the case Wednesday created something of a stir in the development of an apparent forged will. In suing for $2000 for services, Eichenlaub, a former treasurer of Clarke county, Wash., based his claims upon the terms of a will purported to have been executed by Mrs. Antonie Young, then widow of a Vancouver brewer, and who later married F. W. Staubandt. Following the death of Mr. Young, Eichenlaub, a friend of the family, had from 1905 to 1913 acted as an adviser in the administration of the estate.

Although the subsequent marriage of Mrs. Young abrogated the will, it was introduced in court Wednesday to substantiate his claim of $2000 for services, the will making a bequest of $2000 to Eichenlaub in consideration of his services.

The defense sprang a sensation when, after the will held by Eichenlaub was introduced, Attorney Nelson produced its exact counterpart in wording, typing, even to the covers, but with the exception that it contained no bequest to Eichenlaub. This new will was declared by Eichenlaub to be a forgery, but in the cross examination, when asked to identify the signatures of the witnesses, it was the will which had been in the possession of the witness that he emphatically announced to be the forged one.

BOMB ONLY ROOFING NAILS

Deputy Phillips Rips Open the Package With Rifle Shot.

Until Deputy Sheriff Bob Phillips had shot four steel jacketed bullets into a black, mysterious looking, cylindrical object Wednesday with no worse result than sawing Kelly Butte with roofing nails, there was a suppressed but creepy feeling intensified with the whispered word "bomb" in some quarters.

From a home on East Thirty-third street the sheriff's office received the startling information that what looked like a bomb had been found laid on a paucity shelf as quickly as an automobile could bury them, Deputies Phillips and Beckman were at the house, and the "bomb," deadly enough in its suggestive look, was taken gingerly but heroically into the possession of the deputies. Few details are given out about the trip to the sheriff's office with the bomb, neither of the deputies agreeing with any accuracy as to just how it was handled.

Its disposition was determined, however, when Kelly Butte was selected as a proving ground, and Deputy Phillips, with his high power rifle, solved the principal mystery of the bomb. It only remains for some roofer to recall the loss of a package of nails.

MOTHER BEQUEATHS HER LOVE

Mrs. Sutherland's Will Is Filed for Probate Today.

Expressing deepest love for her son and daughter and an earnest desire that there should be no partiality between them the late Adella V. Sutherland, who died April 21, made George A. Sutherland and Minnie R. S. Rice the chief and equal legatees in her will, which was filed for probate today. The estate is valued at $47,000.

Under the will Anna Barbara Sutherland, daughter-in-law, is bequeathed $5000 and jewelry, and Dr. William Gifford Rice, son-in-law, $4500 and a half interest in the launch "Caprice" on Lake Michigan. A number of small bequests are made to relatives and friends. To equalize the gift of a summer cottage at Topinabee, Mich., to the daughter during the life of the testator, a separate bequest of $2000 is made to the son, together with several lots near the Michigan town. After a specified division of valuable heirlooms, the son and daughter share equally in the estate. The love of the mother is expressed in the will's statement: "I bequeath unto my beloved son and unto my beloved daughter my most tender love and affection, and it is my earnest wish that their relationship shall always be most amicable and kindly. It is my chief wish and desire to treat my dear children without partiality. I hereby bestow upon them my best and choicest blessings."

George A. Sutherland and Minnie R. S. Rice are named as executors, but because of the fact that Mrs. Rice is a resident of Michigan, the court order appoints the son sole executor.

JURY ACQUITS SECKENDORF

Former Lessee of Panama Building Not Guilty of Larceny by Bailie.

William G. Seckendorf, former lessee of the Panama building, was acquitted by a jury Wednesday night of the charge of larceny by bailie of a check for $476.15, given to him by Mrs. Anna Herral as payment of her share of taxes on the building. Seckendorf was accused of having appropriated this check to his own use, substituting for it one of his own checks against which there was no funds. His defense was that while the Herral check was not exactly given to him as a loan, yet it was to dispose of as he saw fit and not specifically for the purpose of paying taxes.

Seckendorf faces a second indictment for larceny of $1849.12 arising out of the same question of payment of taxes on the Panama building.

Planks Taken From Highway.

When Ed Rothauge felt the need of a new tire in his barn he found the planking of a county road near Beth Israel cemetery handy for his purpose, and he quickly completed his complaint. He was somewhat chagrined, a little later, however, to find that in the eyes of the law he had committed larceny. Wednesday afternoon he appeared before District Judge Jones and was then ready enough to promise to pay full compensation for the road planks and also to patronize lumber yards in the future.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF MISSIONS SECOND DAY IS INTERESTING

Election of Officers Most Important Business Transacted Today.

With nearly 800 women in attendance, representing Oregon, Idaho, Washington and Alaska, the Woman's North Pacific Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions completed today the second day of its work at the Westminster church with interest unabated.

Wednesday morning was given up largely to the reports of secretaries, with addresses in the afternoon by Mrs. J. W. Aldrich, Mrs. J. S. Dunning, Mrs. Aimee Boddy Millican, Mrs. P. W. McClintock and devotional services in charge of Mrs. Rees Johnson and Mrs. D. R. McClure. At the afternoon rally the speakers were: Miss Isabel Laughlin, Mrs. P. L. McClintock, Mrs. Boudnot Seeley, Mrs. C. M. Barbee, Mrs. E. L. McCartney, Mrs. B. A. Thaxter and Mrs. Robert Campbell.

The addresses of the evening were given by Dr. John H. Boyd, who spoke on "The Modern Approach to the Missionary Enterprise."

Today's meetings began with an address by Mrs. C. A. Park of Salem, who has traveled extensively in the Holy Land and is the teacher of one of the largest Bible study classes in the state.

The election of officers and routine work of the convention took up this afternoon when the conference ended. "Democracy and Missions" will be discussed by Dr. E. H. Pence at the closing service.

Mrs. C. J. Mathis, who has charge of the young people's work, reported that 177 societies were all active. Children's work, reported by Mrs. George Youell, showed equal results, while the individual report of Mrs. Fletcher Linn showed that Westminster Guild had 76 chapters enrolled with 2251 members.

An exhibition of the handwork of some of the children's band attracted much attention.

The statistical reports for the year showed receipts amounting to $13,094.80, which included a balance of $718.00 held over from the year before. The expenditures showed that Siam has benefited $250, Latin America, $500; war emergency, $344, while $274.83 was spent in regular work.

Lunch was served to the delegates by the women of the church.

A sister-in-law and also daughter-in-law of the mother-in-law, family ties became tangled and snarled. This was the explanation given by Jenny Wednesday before District Judge Gatens in a suit brought against him by the mother-in-law, Margaret ilk, to recover $700.

Fifteen years ago Mike Jenny had married a girl of his country, and in 1906 had brought her mother and brother from Austria to live with them. After the wife's death in 1910 the mother-in-law had kept the house, but after Mike took to himself the new wife, the widow of Mrs. ilk's son, trouble brewed. Mrs. ilk, Jenny said, had plainly told him that the new wife could not enter the home, but when she did Mrs. ilk brought suit for $700 as compensation as housekeeper.
