

SOME MOTORISTS IN DOUGLAS COUNTY ARE BOTHERING JUSTICE

G. O. McGilvray Wants Secretary of State to Straighten Out Some of the Tangles.

DRIVERS HIDE BADGES

One Man Carried New License Tags Under the Seat; Had to Be Forced to Put Them on Properly.

Salem, Or., April 28.—Up in Canyonville, in Douglas county, some of the pesky automobile owners and drivers, by their indifference to the motor vehicle laws, are about to drive G. O. McGilvray, justice of the peace at that location and he has appealed to the secretary of state.

"We have all kinds of infringements on auto business," writes Justice of the Peace McGilvray. "One man went over two months in 1917 before he would put on the new license numbers, although he had them all the time under his seat. I had to make him then."

Keep Badges Hidden.

"Some may have a chauffeur's badge, but keep it hidden. There are several carrying for hire that have no license. One, I don't know how to tell them. The father owns the car, but his car can't run it a rod, while his boy of 17 runs the car, carrying all the passengers he can get at reduced rates, while we pay our $2 can sit back and look on. As to this last case, the boy can take out a chauffeur's license. The father can't, when he never has run a car a rod, and don't intend to."

Deputy Blamed, Too.

"Even our deputy sheriff does not have his badge in sight, while I think he has one. Hardly seems right for the justice of the peace to have to do it."

"I think the deputy sheriff better be notified to take a hand in it."

Secretary of State Olcott sent him a copy of the motor vehicle law, citing the portions which relate to the carrying of peace officers in enforcing the law.

Three Fatal Accidents.

Salem, Or., April 28.—Out of 340 accidents reported this week to the state industrial accident commission, three were fatal. Victims of the fatal accidents were H. L. Aumack, killed at Mount Angel while working with an electric power line in Canyonville, killed at Kerry while logging, and L. C. Stimpson, killed at Wheeler in a sawmill.

Of the total number reported, 256 were subject to the provisions of the compensation law, 45 were from public utility corporations, 27 were from firms and corporations which have rejected the provisions of the act and two were from firms which do not employ labor in hazardous occupations.

Newport Citizens Complain.

Salem, Or., April 28.—In a lengthy petition filed today with the public service commission, citizens of Newport made complaint against the electric light and power service being given them by the Yacoma Electric company. The petition says that two years ago the company moved its plant from Newport to Toledo and ever since it has given Newport poor service.

Patrol Officer Reports.

Salem, Or., April 28.—Parole Officer Joseph Keller reports that during the month of February 24 paroled convicts earned $10,054, or an average of $41.55 each. Earnings of paroled convicts since July, 1915, he reports, amount to $128,898. At the end of March 289 men were out on parole. Of that number 119 had been released from reporting to the parole officer.

Keep Bees at Home.

Salem, Or., April 28.—Governor Emmet D. Boyle of Nevada has issued a proclamation prohibiting the importation into Nevada of bees in comb or the comb itself from any other state in the union, a copy of the proclamation having been received today at the governor's office. The quarantine is a part of the campaign to eradicate disease which is now affecting the Nevada bees.

Miss Mers Better.

Salem, Or., April 28.—Miss Margaret Mers, secretary of the state water board, was discharged from the desk again today after a long illness. She was in a Portland hospital for six weeks.

Oregon Auto Deserted.

Salem, Or., April 28.—Secretary of State Olcott today received a letter from C. L. Beckingham, chief of police at Seattle, stating that a Ford delivery automobile, carrying Oregon license number 2474, apparently had been abandoned in the streets at Seattle, where it had been standing for three days. Records of the automobile department show that the license number was issued to Charles E. Mathison, 1285 Moody street, Portland.

Motorist Had His Share of Troubles

Goldendale, Wash., April 28.—B. F. Trombley, a Pendleton automobile dealer, had had luck transporting a new car overland from The Dalles this week. Trombley left The Dalles on Wednesday and was stopped for 24 hours at the ferry on the John Day river on account of high water.

Finally having to make a detour around by the North Hill ferry across the Columbia via Goldendale to get to the ferry at Arlington.

Trombley was arrested at Goldendale Thursday while getting lunch at a local hotel, charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license and made a sensational getaway from the sheriff, leaving town at a 60-mile clip in his high-powered car. His flight availed him nothing, however, as the sheriff headed him off by telephoning to the Roosevelt ferry, and had a deputy take him into custody again.

Sheriff Henderson brought him back to Goldendale after he had unsuccessfully tried to telephone to his wife, Sheriff Til Taylor of Pendleton got him released at Roosevelt. Trombley was fined $25 and costs, amounting in all to $36.50, and in addition had to pay $5 for a Washington license to move his car from the garage at Roosevelt to the ferry boat, a distance of about one half mile.

PROCLAMATION CALLS UPON BOYS OF STATE TO DO THEIR DUTY

Governor Withycombe Urges That All Hold Themselves Ready to Answer Call.

WORKING RESERVE ASKED

Secretary of Labor Wilson Requests Action; Efforts Will Be Used Under Federal Protection.

Salem, Or., April 28.—Complying with a request from Secretary of Labor Wilson, Governor Withycombe tonight issued a proclamation urging school boys throughout the state to be prepared to enlist in a boys' working reserve, which is being organized throughout the United States.

The boys may be called upon to work in this or other states. Such a reserve will be organized in this state as soon as the detailed plans which are on their way, are received from Washington. The purpose is to organize the boys under state and federal direction so their services may be utilized in food production. Boys who are experienced or educated in farm work are wanted.

Proclamation as Issued.

"The governor's proclamation, which closely follows the suggestions presented in Secretary Wilson's telegram to the chief executive, is as follows: 'To the Boys of Oregon, and their parents:

"The United States government, through the department of labor, is organizing a Boys' Working Reserve, throughout the country. It is desired to enroll in this reserve all school boys who are not experienced nor educated in farm work, so that the services of these boys may be utilized where they will do the most good, in aiding food production."

"Complying with Secretary Wilson's personal request, I am issuing this proclamation, asking the school boys of Oregon who are not specially qualified for farm work to hold themselves in readiness to enlist in this reserve as soon as it can be organized."

"Their patriotic services will be utilized, in Secretary Wilson's words, 'Primarily in their own states or elsewhere as may be needed, under state and federal protection.'

Plans on Way.

Detailed plans are now on their way from Washington. As soon as they are received the county school superintendents of the state will be placed in charge of the work in each county and the general state organization will be supervised by the Oregon State Council of Defense.

"Oregon is doing her share splendidly in contributing to the military forces of the country. Here is a chance for our boys to weld their individual energies into efficient organization, called for and directed by the federal government. I am confident that our boys will respond and that their part-

Commencement at Normal June 9-13

Professor Norman Coleman of Reed College Will Deliver Commencement Address; Rev. Poling to Give Sermon.

Monmouth, Or., April 28.—The commencement week exercises for this year of the Oregon Normal school have been announced for June 9-13.

Professor Norman Coleman of Reed college will deliver the commencement address and Rev. D. V. Poling of Dallas will preach the baccalaureate sermon. About 200 teachers will be graduated this June, there being about 150 June seniors and 55 members of the February graduating class who also receive diplomas with the June class. This will be the largest class ever to be graduated from the normal school.

The commencement week program announced as follows: June 9, president's breakfast for the graduates and the junior prom; June 10, baccalaureate sermon by Rev. D. V. Poling of Dallas; June 11, faculty reception and the senior class play; June 12, last chapel exercises, senior class day and the alumni banquet and picnic; June 13, graduating exercises with address by Professor Norman Coleman of Reed college.

ents will encourage them to such a degree that Oregon may find a place among the leaders in this new utilization of our youth-power.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State of Oregon to be hereunto affixed this 11th day of April, 1917."

Secretary Wilson's Message.

Secretary Wilson's message to the governor was as follows:

"May the United States department of labor have your assistance in securing immediate enrollment of all boys of proper age not experienced nor educated in farm work, who reside in your state? As unity of effort is extremely important in the present emergency it is hoped that you will cooperate with the department of labor along the following lines:

"First—By issuing a proclamation requesting boys of the type indicated above to enroll in the United States boys working reserve, which this department has organized; second—by accepting membership either personally or by gubernatorial representatives on the national committee of reserve; third—by commissioning each of your county superintendents as county organizers and having their addresses promptly sent to me."

Will Aid Production.

"The members grouped in this reserve will aid in food production primarily in their own states, and elsewhere as may be needed, under state and federal protection. Tentative plans going by mail.

"They should be revised consistently with the work of your state council of defense or similar committee and will be discussed in detail at the national defense conference of state representatives in Washington May 2. A response by wire will be appreciated."

Will Start Hospital.

Salem, Or., April 28.—Announcement was made today that work will be started Monday on Salem's new hospital, which is to cost $115,000. It will be a fireproof building, three stories with capacity for 75 beds.
