RESOLUTION PROVIDES MEANS FOR FIGHT ON FOOD COST ADVANCE

Representative Lester Proposes Giving Power to Agriculture Department.

Washington, April 30 .- (I. N. S.)-The fight to keep down rising wartime prices for food took definite shape in the house today when a joint food conservation resolution was introduced by Representative Lester of South Carolina, chairman of the agricultural The same resolution will be presented in the senate by Senator Gore. The resolution empowers the department of agriculture to make a thorough survey of the food situation throughout the country, including an nvestigation into the present amount of food available, its location and the sources of production. It is also offered as a basis of consideration of final legislation to stimulate production and conservation and bring about an equitable distribution and prevent

BEAN MEASURE MEANS A BIG ANNUAL DEFICIT IF BILL IS RATIFIED

would be a nullity in case the Chamerlain-Ferris act were to be upheld. The supreme court has upheld the Chamberlain-Ferris act, and that act specifically says that title to the grant lands "shall be and hereby is revested in the United States of

It must be patent to all, even to Mr. Bean, that the Bean bill is in conflict with the United States supreme court and the Chamberlain - Ferris act, and that any attempt to enforce its provisions would be in defiance of both court and congress and would be unconstitutional and void.

If that be its status, taxes levied oursuant to its direction would be uncollectible and void and would result in the state and county deficits that have been mentioned. The Bean bill makes it mandatory upon the assessors to place the grant lands upon the tax rolls, so that, if the measure were to be ratified and attempted to be enforced, the assessment rolls of the 18 land grant countles would carry, as a basis for assessment, levy and taxation, $21,225,435 of property, upon which no taxes could be collected because its title is in the Grant Lands in Levy.

The state, in fixing the state tax levy, would be required to include the grant lands in its calculations to meet the appropriations made by the legis-lature. The bill, however, provides that tax money due from grant lands shall not be paid by the counties to the state unless and until it has been paid to the tax collectors. The state's annual share of the land grant tax money, on the basis of the tically the same as at present, should be approximately $73,500. This would give the remainder of the total $500,000 of grant land taxes or approximately $426,500 annually, to the land grant counties for county purposes.

But the assessment and levy would be void and uncollectible, resulting in the failure of the land grant counties to pay $73,500 of state taxes assessed against them each year, and it would also result in the countles falling short by $426,500 in the amount of money needed each year to conduct their county affairs.

By concrete illustration, Douglas county, according to Mr. Bean's argument in the state pamphlet, should receive $100,000 annually from taxation of the grant lands. Of this amount approximately $14,700 would be required to pay state taxes while $85,390 would go for county purposes. If these taxes could not be collected, as they could not be against the government, then Douglas county would fall short $14,700 in state and $85,300 in county taxes each year the lands are assessed upon the rolls. In the same proportion, Lane county, where Mr. Bean lives, would fall short approximately $12,495 in state and $72,505 in county axes, using Mr. Bean's estimate that the Lane county gran; lands would yield $85,000 in taxes annually.

A state deficit would saddle interestearing certificates of indebtedness
