

BROKEN RAIL CAUSES WRECK OF TRAIN OF FRENCH COMMISSION

Accident Is Held Due to Use of Too Heavy Equipment on Light Rail.

NO ONE HURT IN ACCIDENT

Joffre and Viviani at Dinner When Crash Came and Shaken, But Weather Shows Excitement.

Indianapolis, May 8.—(U. P.)—Governor, men aboard the French mission train definitely decided that the wreck of last night was not due to an enemy plot, but solely to a broken rail caused by heavy equipment on a light rail.

Arcoia, Ill., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—The special train bearing General Joffre, Vice Premier Viviani and other members of the French mission eastward was wrecked in the middle of a cornfield midway between Arcoia and Elmhurst, Ill., at 7:30 Monday night.

Several persons suffered slight bruises, but none of the members of the French party was injured.

Tender First Jumps Track

The train was speeding eastward at 40 miles an hour after leaving Springfield, Ill., when General Joffre and M. Viviani laid a broken rail caused by heavy equipment on a light rail.

The train was speeding eastward at 40 miles an hour after leaving Springfield, Ill., when General Joffre and M. Viviani laid a broken rail caused by heavy equipment on a light rail.

General Joffre and M. Viviani were at dinner when the crash came. The dishes on the table before them were knocked into the air.

General Joffre was thrown back in his seat, but recovered his poise in a moment and rising, peered out the window into the gathering darkness. Neither he nor M. Viviani betrayed the slightest trace of excitement.

The secret service men, scenting a plot, rushed into the dining car and escorted General Joffre and M. Viviani into the observation car in the rear. Then they leaped from the observation car platform and ran down the track to see what had happened.

The secret service men, scenting a plot, rushed into the dining car and escorted General Joffre and M. Viviani into the observation car in the rear. Then they leaped from the observation car platform and ran down the track to see what had happened.

JOFFRE AND VIVIANI PAY HONORS AT BIER OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Springfield, Ill., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—The French mission paid a silent, impressive tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln here last Monday afternoon. An immense floral wreath borne by General Joffre and former Premier Viviani, was placed in the

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

COLLUMEA

"The Theatre Beautiful"

TWO MORE DAYS
Today and Tomorrow

Charles Ray
in the
PINCH-HITTER

A REAL clever, interesting and entertaining story of college days, baseball and the love of a girl.

Charles Ray
IN THE
PINCH-HITTER

The Big Base Ball Scene

is well worth your time and the price of admission.

Also Mack Sennett's latest 2-reel Keystone Comedy, "Teddy at the Throttle," one of the funniest comedies ever screened and also one of the best of the late Keystonees.

Sixth Street Off Washington. Continuous 10:30 to 10:30
Admission 15c—Children 5c

HAVE A SPORT SUIT CHARGED

Buy One on Credit Without Waiting Any Longer.

You should be wearing a Sport Suit now. The warm days are here, and Sport Clothes are the proper attire. You see them every where. But have you the money to buy one of these jaunty suits?

Well, it really doesn't matter if you have the money or not. You can go to CHERY'S Credit Shop tomorrow and get a stunning suit. CHERY'S will have to pay a fraction of the amount, because this store allows its customers to pay for their purchases on small installments.

Yes, the credit system at CHERY'S is so simple and so convenient that even those who have no money can get a new suit. The Sport Suits which this shop is showing are made of the finest material in every respect. They're also showing some lovely silk Dresses at $25, which may be purchased on credit, too!

You can't make a mistake by looking over the Sport Suits. Just a touch is worth trying. Get a trial today. If you don't like it, you can return it for every day something new is coming in.

Our store is conveniently located at 355-31 Washington at Pittcock Bldg.

Eczema Wash

A touch of D. D. D. in any cream or soap will keep you free from eczema. It's the only thing that will cure it. It's the only thing that will cure it. It's the only thing that will cure it.

Two Americans on Board Bark Dione

London, May 8.—(U. P.)—H. K. F. Tryer, of Portsmouth, Ohio, and C. H. Edwards, of Norma, Tenn., were two Americans in the crew of the Norwegian bark Dione, sunk by gunfire of a German submarine last Wednesday, according to an announcement today. There were no casualties.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan to carry the peace movement to the German people.

Meanwhile, the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims, she is still making war and not hearkening to "peace feelers."

The result has been, according to advice here, that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against the German autocracy is sweeping over Germany.

There is absolutely no evidence, however, that the dissatisfaction and desire for peace are sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or the military aristocracy.

The "peace spies" who are now being hunted down are said to be Germans exclusively. There is no hint that Germany's enemies are engaged in her borders in such propaganda—and least of all that Americans are aiding.

Very few German newspapers are being received here now but all which do pass the censorship contain enthusiastic articles rejoicing in the success of the German war effort.

All feature widely stories from British newspapers detailing food shortage in England and discussion in the British parliament as well as of plans for American aid.

German Suspect Is Wounded in Fight

Bentonville, Ark., May 8.—(I. N. S.)—In a fight to escape arrest, John Crow, charged with being a German sympathizer, was shot and seriously wounded near Gravelle, when three members of the Arkansas National Guard took him into custody. It was declared he had made improper statements about President Wilson.

Crow snatched a revolver from the guard and in the fight that followed the gun was discharged and he was injured. Crow will be turned over to the government authorities.

PEACE MOVE STARTED BY GERMANY REACTS IN POPULAR CLAMOR

Empire-Wide Hunt for "Peace
Spies" Begun; Growth Has
Not Affected Policies.

By Arthur E. Mann.

Copenhagen, May 8.—(U. P.)—The German government started peace talks for its own ends, but it is confronted with a distinct and decidedly growing movement among its people for peace which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advice received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed an empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for arrests of peace propagandists.

Victory Claims Puzzle Germans. The German government appears determined that, if there is any peace talk, it must be the movement and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread plan