Allied Land Victory, or Means to Minimize Divers' Utility Before Shipping Is Crippled, Is Anticipated.

Washington, May 14.—(WASHING-TON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)— The broad aspects of the submarine problem, as it affects the world's shipping and the feeding of Europe, do no justify the recent German claims that at the present rate of destruction the enemies of Germany can be starved out before a decision is reached on the western front.

Until recently the power of the submarine was generally underestimated. Now, unless the best figures available are wrong, it is being overestimated. leaving aside the question as to whether the enemies of Germany are able to reduce its destructiveness. Construction Speed Important.

If this figure were maintained, an assumption which does violence to the opinion of many authorities, 1,200,000 tons a month, or 14,400,000 tons a year would be added to the submarine toll.

So, if the shippards are able to add 5,000,000 tons to the supply in the next 12 months, and 5,000,000 tons more are added by the German merchant ships, 10,000,000 tons would be the output, and the net loss to the world's shipping would be 4,400,000

That loss would be serious, almost one-tenth of the total tonnage, but it would not carry the import of Ger-man victory that has at times been Continued for two or three years it would become increasingly
