

Club Activities

CHICKEN DINNER with strawberry shortcake for dessert was the attraction at the meeting of the Peninsula Park Lavender club Thursday. It was the quarterly birthday meeting and instead of light refreshments in the afternoon, a sumptuous chicken pie dinner with all the trimmings, was served at 1 o'clock to 85 silver haired lavender ladies, who themselves prepared the meal. Those celebrating birthdays were: Mrs. Ida Wickham, Mrs. L. D. Johnson, Mrs. Ximena Foster, Mrs. M. C. Ford, Mrs. J. G. Chambers, Mrs. Ada Hancock, Mrs. Miss Jones, Mrs. H. A. Collins, Mrs. Belle Eaberg and Mrs. Cornelia Hansen. The tables were decorated in lavender filices and in potted lavender flowers furnished by Mrs. Edna Geiger. After enjoying the sumptuous meal, Miss Vella Winner extended congratulations to those whose birthdays the affair was to celebrate and also urged that lavender ladies do what they could in the Red Cross activities. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in social converse.

Shaver Association Elects.—Mrs. Marie Patterson was re-elected president of the Shaver Parent-Teacher association at the meeting held Thursday. Mrs. Patterson has served this organization in a most capable manner for the past two years. Other officers elected were: First vice president, Miss Margaret Williams; second vice president, Mrs. Lona Eckles; secretary, Mrs. M. Malson; treasurer, Mrs. May Haley. The attendance at the meeting was unusually large and included every teacher and the principal as well as a large number of mothers. It was decided to give a luncheon for the teachers Thursday, June 7, at 12 o'clock, when the reports for the year will be given.

Buckman Elects Officers.—One of the largest meetings of the year was held Wednesday by the Buckman Parent-Teacher association, when the work of the pupils was shown and heard. There was displayed the domestic science and art manual training work and the written work, and the pupils gave an exhibition of their reading, singing and number work. Nelson G. Pike, the new member of the school board, gave an address. The reports of the year showed much excellent work accomplished, especially along social service lines. A large amount of money has been spent and comfort has been given to many sick and needy and there is yet in the treasury a balance nearing $100. Mrs. P. G. Nealand has served the association as president in a most efficient way for the last three years and during the past year Mrs. George Seelig has been chairman of the social service work. The new officers elected were: President, Mrs. George Seelig; vice president, Miss Emma Barrett; secretary, Mrs. V. P. Ritter; treasurer, Miss Wilda Buckman.

To Entertain Ainsworth Teachers.—The principal and teachers of the Ainsworth school will be entertained Saturday evening by the women of the various committees of the Ainsworth Parent-Teacher association at the home of the president, Mrs. Helen E. Starrett, on Portland Heights, 729 Sherwood drive. A supper will be served from 7 to 8 o'clock. At 8:30 there will be an entertaining program of music and readings under the direction of the entertainment committee, Mrs. A. Keating, Mrs. H. V. Carpenter and Mrs. Z. W. Shepherd. To hear this program the husbands and the women of the committees will be invited, also Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Alderman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyer. The social committee in charge of the affair is composed of Mrs. J. D. Henry, Mrs. C. B. Simmons and Mrs. E. B. Hazen.

Progressive Woman's League Luncheon.—The Progressive Woman's league monthly luncheon, held at Hotel Multnomah Tuesday was the last of a series of luncheons by the league until September. Seventy-five guests were seated at tables that were decorated in green and white musical paper. The luncheon was given by E. M. Malvern Evans, T. R. Evans, Mrs. Alice McNaught and Mrs. Emily Duke. E. B. McNaughton spoke on the "Port of Portland." Will H. Daly, E. N. Wheeler, B. S. Josselyn and W. L. Brewster spoke. Captain McNaughton and C. M. Rynerson spoke. After luncheon a business meeting was held to nominate officers for the coming year.

Young Soldier Meets His Death in Battle
Mrs. T. W. Kirby, 801 East Broadway, has received news from the Canadian war office that her nephew, Gordon Grievs, was killed in Vimy Ridge in France on Easter Monday. The young man had enlisted in the Eastern Canada regiment last fall, and had been at the front a comparatively short time.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who will be the honor guest and speaker at the luncheon to be given tomorrow at noon by the Oregon Equal Suffrage association.

Bed Time Tales

A Belated Sunflower.
ONE fine spring day a gardener picked up a sheaf of Japanese sunflower roots.
"Where do these go?" he asked.
"Oh, let me see," said the other gardener, "we can put those here in front of the hedge and behind the golden rod—that's just the place for them."
So the sunflowers were planted.
Now the hedge grew very high and very thick so that no sun shone through it at all.
And the golden rod grew very fast and very tall and the poor little sunflower roots down in between didn't have any chance at all.
They spread out roots and sent up green stalks and leaves, but they could not get enough sun.
Finally, one day, the sunflower resolved to ask the sun about it.
"Oh, Mr. Sun," she called, "what is the matter, why don't you shine on me all day as you used to in the spring?"
"I surely am trying to, but you see with the tall thick hedge at your back and the tall golden rod in front of you, I can't even see you most of the day. But I'll tell you what to do, you keep on growing the best you can and I'll keep on shining the best I can and between us maybe we can have some flowers."
So the cheerful little Japanese sunflower smiled and set to growing.
Every day, from 10 till 2, the sun shone on the plant, and every day the roots grew stronger and the stems grew taller.
But the golden rod grew, too—never was there such tall golden rod! And the poor little sunflower was completely hidden.
One day in late September the gardener went round behind the golden rod to hunt for weeds.
"Well, well," he exclaimed, "if here isn't that sunflower plant—I'd forgotten all about it. It's had a hard time back here in the shade. I guess I'll move it next year, for it won't bloom before frost at this rate."
"Oh, dear," sighed the sunflower, "is it time for frost? I wanted so much to open my buds—they are nearly ready now."
The kind old sun heard the sunflower and said, "don't you worry a minute, I'm going to shine warmly for a few days yet and you can open your flower buds."

And the kind old sun smiled down.

So the sun shone warm and cheerful, the warm winds blew the frost away and the sunflower worked very hard.
At last, on a warm October day, the first sunny bloom opened. And then another and another, till the whole bush was covered with miniature sunflowers.
And the kind old sun smiled down and said, "Now just look at those blooms—we did that by working together."

FRATERNAL NOTES
Woodmen of the World Are Being Visited by Head Consul.
Will Meet Head Consul.—J. I. Book, head consul of the Woodmen of the World, is to be entertained tonight by a banquet at the Hotel Osborn in Eugene. R. McMurphy will preside. E. F. Martin, deputy head consul for the northwest, J. O. Wilson, clerk of Multnomah camp, V. G. Chesman, consul commander of Multnomah camp, all of Portland, went to Eugene to meet him there. There will be a large number of members from the 12 local camps in Lane county present. J. W. Kennedy, district manager, estimated that

Yes, brown and tender, too
Listen to these real fried potatoes
Of course, when you fry potatoes you want them brown. Unless a fried potato is brown it isn't a fried potato at all.
Have you ever seen and tasted potatoes fried with Cottolene?
If not, you owe yourself something. Cottolene quickly brings potatoes to a nice brown—quicker than you ever saw potatoes browned before.
The result is a nice, tender, mealy inside—and a delicious flavor, too.
Why don't you get a tin of Cottolene and enjoy real fried potatoes tomorrow?
The same tin of Cottolene will make delicious biscuits for you, too, and hot bread—and cake of all kinds. It may surprise you to hear that you can make cake without butter, but you can—delicious cake, too.

fully 300 of the 400 members in that county would attend. Mr. Book will attend a picnic at Junction City on Saturday afternoon, and a special rally in Albany that night. His itinerary includes The Dalles, May 29; Vancouver, May 30; Astoria, May 31; Portland, June 1, 2 and 3.
Patriotic W. O. W. Meeting Tonight.
Webfoot camp, 65, W. O. W., will hold a patriotic demonstration at its hall, 123 Eleventh street, tonight. The meeting will be open to the members and their friends. The camp has 25 members in the army at the present time and is one of the dues and assessments of these members. Colonels C. E. Dentler, John L. May and Carl Abrams will be present and make short addresses. The Star-Spangled Banner will be sung by Mrs. J. B. Adam, and patriotic music will be furnished by Webfoot's orchestra.

University Artisans Flourishing.
Last Wednesday night University assembly, No. 3, United Artisans, held a well-attended meeting at University Park at which a number of supreme officers were present. C. L. McKenna, supreme secretary, made the address and a class of candidates was initiated, and a campaign committee was appointed to look after the Seaside excursion on July 14 and 15. Next Wednesday there will be a bi-lingual social. O. A. Hatton, district manager, is hustling members for the University assembly with excellent results.

Will Receive Deputy Regent.—Portland chapter, Women of Mooseheart legion, will hold a special session Saturday afternoon in Moose hall at 3 p. m. to meet Mrs. Grace M. Hall, deputy grand regent, who is visiting the newly organized chapters on this coast. Portland chapter was organized April 23 with 75 members and now has 50 applications ready for initiation.

Will Have 75 Prizes.—The Travelers Protective association is making arrangements to give away more than 75 prizes Tuesday night at the Baker theatre, when "A Pair of Queens" will be presented for the benefit of its national convention.

Corvallis Macabees Smoker.—The smoker and open meeting of the Macabees at Corvallis was attended Monday night by J. W. Sherwood of Portland, state commander. A number of visitors came from Albany. A program of wrestling by college lads was followed by a smoker and a supper.

WAR TIME COOKERY

Half a cup of milk—whole, skimmed or sour—a seemingly trifling matter—hardly worth the trouble to keep or use.

In many households quite a little milk is wasted—left uncovered in glasses, regarded as useless because the cream has been skimmed off, allowed to sour, poured down the sink or thrown out.

Now, if every home—there are 20,000,000 of them—should waste on the average one-half cup daily, it would mean a waste of 500,000,000 cups—or $12,500,000 a year—the total product of more than 400,000 cows.

It takes a lot of grass and grain to make that much milk—and an army of people to produce it.

But every household doesn't waste a half cup of milk a day? Well, say that one-half cup is wasted only in 1 out of every 100 homes. Still in making cottage cheese, milk can be used in making nutritious soups and cereal dishes—when sour milk can be used in bread making or for cottage cheese.

Cottage cheese is one of the important meats, substituting it contains a larger percentage of protein (the chief material for body building) than most meats and furnishes this material at a lower cost. In every pound of cottage cheese there is about one-fifth of a pound of protein, usually all of which is digestible. Meats, on the other hand, usually contain less protein and besides have a certain waste, such as bone and other inedible matter, and a pound of cottage cheese daily would supply all the protein required by the ordinary adult engaged in a sedentary occupation.

The following table shows that cottage cheese, obtainable at from 12 to 17 cents a pound, is much cheaper than most meats in furnishing protein for the diet.

For supplying protein, one pound of cottage cheese equals:
1.27 pounds of sirloin steak.
1.03 pound of beefsteak (the choice)
1.37 pounds chuck rib beef.
1.52 pounds fowl.
1.46 pounds fresh ham.
1.44 pounds corned ham.
1.88 pounds loin pork chops.
1.81 pounds hind leg of lamb.
1.37 pounds breast of veal.
In addition to protein, energy for performing body work must be furnished by food. As a source of energy also cottage cheese is cheaper than most meats at present prices. The following table shows the comparison when energy is considered.

On the basis of energy supplied, one pound of cottage cheese equals:
8 1-3 ounces sirloin steak.
7 1-2 ounces beefsteak.
11 1-4 ounces chuck rib beef.
10 3-4 ounces fowl.
8 1-2 ounces fresh ham.
8 1-2 ounces corned ham.
6 ounces loin pork chops.
7 1-3 ounces hind leg of lamb.
5 3-4 ounces breast of veal.

Green foods and salads are valuable because they stimulate an appetite for the more substantial food served in the meal, and because in this shape we retain all their mineral constituents which are liable to be partly lost in cooking. The following plants are excellent for uncooked salads:
Lettuce, cabbage, celery, water cress, onions, cucumbers, radishes, carrots, kohlrabi, endive, chicory, sorrel, pepper grass and nasturtium seeds.

The roots, coarser stalks and white leaves of celery should be used in stock soup, or the leaves may be dried and used for flavoring when celery is out of season. Green onion tops are excellent for flavoring soup or may be cut into inch lengths, cooked and served with toast.

All fresh vegetables for table use should be thoroughly washed in cold water and lettuce should be separated in their natural divisions and washed through several waters.

When it is found desirable to prepare more than one serving of lettuce at a time, the coarser portions should be saved for soup or greens and the heart served in the simplest way while the remainder may be shredded for combination with other material.

Cooked lettuce greens should be prepared by cooking in salted water 10 minutes. Boil in water for two minutes, drain, chop lightly and heat in stewpan with butter, salt and pepper. Serve with lemon juice or vinegar.

The Journal Woman's Calendar

By Vella Winner.

BUSINESS GIRL AS MOTHER A business man has come forward in defense of the business woman's fitness as a homemaker. He declares that the woman who proves herself an efficient worker in the office will be equally efficient as a wife and mother, and experience has proved that this qualification is just as necessary in the home.

The girl who enters an office finds herself called upon to perform certain tasks, and if she holds her position she cannot fail her employer. The work must be done. So she sets herself to find out the best means of accomplishing it. The work may be something which calls for the exercise of judgment and discretion, or it may be a ceaseless repetition of one thing. But there is always the inexorable demand for concentration and execution without any excuse for shirking.

Call it drudgery or not, as you will, but it does one thing—it enforces thoroughness, a habit hard to relinquish. And, when a woman marries, if she knows little or nothing of house-keeping she will go about it in a systematic way and acquaint herself thoroughly with every little detail of her daily round. She will not be discouraged and grow lax because she fails at first, but will master the business of making a home just as she mastered her "job."

Then, too, the girl in the home sometimes grows self-centered; she has not always learned the lesson of forbearance and self-sacrifice of the office or the shop. And this is one of the greatest assets to take with one into the conjugal state, to cooperate, to make allowances in other words, to learn to give and take.

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN Clean, singe and cut in pieces for serving two young chickens. Plunge in cold water, drain, but do not wipe. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and coat thickly with flour and have as much flour adhere to chicken as possible. Fry out one pound of fat salt pork, cut into pieces and cook slowly in fat until tender and well browned. Serve with white sauce made of half milk and half cream.

BOILED SALT COD Put a good sized piece of salt cod cut from a whole fish into cold water and let it soak overnight, throwing off the water two or three times if convenient. Drain and dry the fish and put it on a buttered griddle to broil. Serve on a hot platter with a little butter, pepper and a tablespoonful of cream over it. Garnish with fresh cress and broiled potatoes.

CLOTHES WISDOM When buying summer clothes remember that for once the back once more. That skirts will be either barrel, straight or with Grecian drapery. That most sleeves will be full length, and many bell-shaped or with a fullness at the elbow. That most of the bodices are very simple; a few, alas! are buttoned at the back once more. That belts and girdles are being used as a trimming feature and do not draw in the figure. That plain, mannish suits will be in better style than those more elaborately trimmed.

That stocks and rolling collars with loopy neckties will be discarded. That beaded effects will be most in vogue for trimming. That in embroideries both wool and silk are used in Chinese and Indian colorings. That filet will be the most popular lace, though others will be worn. That separate coats will be fairly long, most of them seven-eighths, some full length. That pockets which stand out will be seen in every direction, as they add even though they know what is the fancy pockets will appear on sport suits.

That the simpler the costume the more it requires good cutting and material, and the more becoming and in the better taste it will be.

Beauty Chat

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL

What Is Class?
IT HAS become a common phrase of late to designate anyone or anything that stands out above the ordinary as "classy." What one means, or what one thinks he means, is a question.

In the general acceptance of the term, it means superiority, a higher personality—one to be looked up to.

In speaking of class in animals we mean a high bred, finely nurtured and perfectly trained species. That is naturally the meaning of the word in all animals, whether bipeds or quadrupeds. Yet on the race track it too often happens that the finest bred and nurtured horses lack the heart of an outsider will often come out and prove himself a high class, superior animal in every way.

Those would make allowances, however, for the expression "she has class," to my way of thinking, conveys a royal meaning. One would not consider an illbred woman classy, however elaborately or richly she might be gowned.

Therefore it is not dress that gives class. A woman may have a beautiful face and figure, dress well and possess education and yet lack class. One may be brought up in luxury, pampered and petted, surrounded by all that money can buy in the way of art and education, yet never give even the servants about her the impression that she is in any way above them in class.

Class is never the result of wealth, although wealth makes it possible to cultivate class—or imitate it. What is it then—this class that impresses people and commands admiration and respect? It is an innate, refined personality that tolerates the worst of everything and respects the best of everything as her natural right.

The woman with class does not require the richest materials to make her appear right—not jewels nor luxurious surroundings. She is right and enhances whatever place in which she may be found. She can
