

STATE IS ORGANIZED FOR BIG WAR CENSUS ORDERED FOR JUNE 5

Adjutant General Is Highly Gratified Over Perfection of Plans for Draft Registration

FULL DETAILS NOW OUT

Maps to Show Localities for Guidance of Registration—Police May Demand "Green Ticket" as Evidence.

Oregon is ready to take the war census June 5. All counties but six have officially reported to Adjutant General White that all blanks necessary for the registration have been received and distributed.

The smoothness with which the machinery for registration has gone into motion in all parts of the state has been particularly gratifying to General White and the other persons charged with the registration duties.

The officials, however, are not resting content with the prospect of quick effective registration, but are still going over all details to insure perfection in the final result.

To obtain a more complete and quickly comprehensive grasp of the state-wide situation, a 6-by-12-foot map of the state has been prepared at headquarters, showing in minute detail every phase of the registration territory.

Reports from every section indicate that the sheriffs and county registration boards seemingly have utilized every minute of their machinery of registration, and there appears to have been no detail overlooked.

The problem of registering men stationed in isolated places, such as the ranges, mines and forests, was solved Saturday in a regulation issued by General White.

The past few days have been marked by the receipt and distribution of great quantities of supplies, and regulations outlining every part of the registration work have been placed in the hands of the registrars.

The adjutant general's office is in daily telegraphic touch with the different registration boards, giving both instructions and interpretations in the census taking.

While no returns can be had at this time, reports show many thousands already registered in the state as absentees.

Any police officer of any city or county in Oregon will be entirely within his rights, after the taking of the war census, in requiring any man to show the card if he suspects that registration has been evaded.

Furthermore, if the police officer finds a man of the designated age who has not registered, it is his duty forthwith to report him to the registration board. The officer himself will be subject to imprisonment if he fails to do this.

By direction of Governor Withycombe, the adjutant general has called attention of all Oregon mayors to the fact that police officers must give every assistance in the execution of the conscription law. He has especially emphasized the following extract from the regulations:
