BEAUTIFUL Pauline Frederick is the star of "Sleepin which is the featured attraction at the Columbia theatre for the rest of the week. In this gripping photoplay Miss Frederick is Mrs. Bryce, devoted wife and mother, but able to display the claws of the primitive tiger-woman when attacked through her child.

A woman whose religion prevents her from accepting a divorce, and whose intense affection for her little son, known in the picture as "The Little Feliow," is the beautiful Zelma Bryce. Her unprincipled husband, Edward Bryce, is in love with his young secretary, Helen King, and willing to sacrifice all to marry her. Bryce has possession of the boy, and through him tries to force the wife's consent to divorce. The mother steals the child and then he is stolen back. Desperate, she goes to her husband's house, where a quarrel occurs. He is found shot dead. The wife is tried and after a hard legal fight she is freed. The story is excellently told, full of heart interest and its spectacular feature strong. The Columbia's bill is rounded out by a Tom Mix comedy, entitled "The Heart of Texas Ryan."

Powerful Russian Melodrama

"The Dancer's Peril." a powerful melodrama of Russia and France, with Alice Brady in the stellar roles, is the attraction at the Star today and for the rest of the week. The play in addition to its dramatic features is a remarkable exhibition of double exposure, in which Miss Brady, as mother and daughter, appears simultane-Another rather unusual feature is her carrying along of two entirely separate love affairs a generation apart. The story involves a Russian dancer who marries a grand duke and is forced to flee from Russia, leaving her baby daughter. A score of years after the daughter, now a famous dancer also, is admired by her own father, who is ignorant of her identity, and by an unscrupulous ballet master. The scenes shift to Paris, where the mother learns the girl's identity and has her kidnaped to save her from the ballet master. This leads to a reconciliation with her husband and, to make matters complete, the daughter and her American sweet-heart are reunited.

Doug Back at Sunset Doug Fairbanks' "bug hunter" play, "American Aristocracy," is the at-traction this week-end at the Sunset along with a comedy and a Burton Holmes travelogue. In "American Aris-
