

IF GERMANS WIN WAR AMERICANS WILL PAY HEAVILY, SAYS PASTOR

Buying of Liberty Bonds Is Essential if America Shall Avoid Teuton Menace.

TASK AHEAD IS HEAVY

Germans Far From Yielding and Allies Feeling Strain of War Are Crying for Aid.

At the noonday meeting in the Hippodrome theatre, Saturday, Rev. Dr. John H. Boyd presented four self-evident facts, which constitute an imperative demand upon the citizenship of the United States to subscribe, and to over-subscribe the Liberty loan.

Germany Will Hit Hard Behind the pining French lines are few reserves; Britain acknowledges the strain upon her by cries of help. Let disaster come, let France be overwhelmed, let England surrender through famine; victorious Germany in possession of captured fleets of battleships and transports can be in a few days at the gates of this unprepared, helpless country, when, as Otto Tannenbergh, in his 'Greater Germany' says, 'the war will leave nothing to the vanquished but their eyes to weep with.' Instead of sitting here being urged to buy Liberty bonds, we may sit defeated, humiliated and powerless, planning to meet the inexorable demand for billions of dollars to indemnify Germany. The citizen who does not permit his mind to honestly face this possibility is a fool. The situation demands immediate action in supplying all money needed by the government.

Government Must Have Money A second fact is this: The government, for the purpose of war, must have, and will have, money. It has adopted the legitimate, normal and undisturbing method of a bond issue to get it. It asks not that the banks, nor the capitalists alone absorb the loan, for this would disturb the finances of the whole country, and business must be kept in its normal state. The loan, as presented by the government, is highly advantageous. Three and one half per cent is a larger interest than a savings bank account offers, and these bonds will participate in any higher rate of interest at which any subsequent bonds may be issued. Within the last 30 days a 3 per cent bond of the government have sold at a premium of 106 or 108, and it is not unlikely that this present issue of bonds will soon be at a premium.

Reaction to Other Alternatives If the Liberty loan fails then the country has forced the government to resort to a direct, coercive and offensive system of taxation, when incomes, even so low as $1000, may be taxed; when a stamp may be required for all checks and official documents; when the common commodities of life are taxed; it is unthinkable that the American public cannot see how simple

ALL BUY LIBERTY BONDS

There was no division of opinion about the war in the home of Dr. A. P. Thatcher 1515 Belmont street, for to a unit the five girls and their father drove down to the First National bank Friday and each invested in a Liberty bond. The thickest of front is Alexia, and ranging upward, step by step, the others are Mary Ellen, Mildred, Elacita and Josephine. Dr. Thatcher stands in the rear.

and advantageous the method of loan is, as compared with direct taxation, and grasp the opportunity at once to supply our government with all needed revenue. A third self-evident fact is that at the present hour, there is needed an impressive expression of the spirit, the purpose and the efficiency of our country in the war situation. Count Bernstorff, since his return to Germany, has been saying that the United States is so remote, so dilatory and inefficient, that it is a negligible quantity. Mr. Balfour, in his farewell address acknowledged that free states, under democratic principles and methods, are notoriously slow in their movements at a crisis of this kind. Government More Autocratic Small Faquet describes the action of the French republic under the title 'The Cult of Incompetence.' Our present want of preparation is notorious, our inability to move with immediate rapidity is self evident in every way

AMERICAN OFFICERS LEARN WAR METHODS TO TEACH AT CAMPS

Mission Is Studying in England and France on Rapid Fire Program.

GEN. PERSHING MAKES HIT

Commander of First U. S. Contingent Shows Britons He Means Business All the Way Through

London, June 9.—(U. P.)—To learn as much as possible from England and France as quickly as possible and then return to America to instruct at officers' training camps, was the announced purpose of an American military mission which reached London today.

The personnel included Colonels Baker, Graves, Sumnerall; Lieutenant Colonel Ely, Anderson, Cheney; Major's Simonds and Ellison, Captain Quackenbush. Colonel Baker, in command, announced tonight the party expected to continue on to France just as soon as they had learned what they could in England. With the American mission here, London was thickly sprinkled with the American army khaki tonight. There was no mistaking the fact that Londoners were impressed by the appearance of the American army men. Major General Pershing has already made a hit. His first 25 hours in England showed that "Big Jack" meant business all the way through. It was generally conceded he talked war business with the king in private on the early today. He hurried from Buckingham Palace, after this audience, to keep appointments at the British war office and there again he talked business in a long series of conferences. He indicated tonight he expected to talk war business as much as possible with British officials during the brief time he will remain here before proceeding to France. Not only Pershing, but his staff are following this business like program. Pershing's headquarters in the Savoy hotel are a veritable beehive of activity. Sunday, General Pershing and his full staff will attend special services in Westminster Abbey. A big crowd of Americans is expected.

Training Camp Takes In 'U' Men San Francisco, June 9.—(U. P.)—Fifty-five students from Western universities, appointed to the Presidio officers' training camp, reported today, this being the last increment to be added to the list of students. They will take up the course where they have been discharged from military training compensating for the loss of the first few weeks' work at the camp. Announcement was made today that even those men who have resigned or have been discharged from the camp will receive their pay for the time they were in attendance.

Charles D. Schreiter Elected by Greeters Charles D. Schreiter, president of the Oregon Greeters and employed by the Portland hotel, was elected fifth national vice president at the seventh annual convention of the Greeters of America, in Boston, Saturday. He also unanimously adopted Portland as its meeting place in 1918. R. D. MacFadden, president of the Nebraska-Iowa Greeters, was elected national president. Mr. Schreiter telegraphed R. W. Childs, manager of the Portland hotel, that the convention was enthusiastic and that the Portland delegates were all in good health.

Butter and Egg Men Plead 'Not Guilty' Chicago, June 9.—(U. P.)—The 16 men and firms of the Chicago butter and egg board indicted last Saturday for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Federal Judge Landis today. They were given 15 days in which to file demurrers or change their pleas.

Actress Gets $2000 For Sailors' Benefit Chicago, June 9.—(U. P.)—The naval benefit fund was $2000 richer today as the result of a dance and talk given by Donaldina, actress, in the wheat pit yesterday. Traders left the tickers, which were grinding the government grain report to watch her and add to the contributions. "Bulls" all agreed she was a bear.

French Deputies Uphold Admiralty Paris, June 9.—(U. P.)—Despite the fact that the French admiralty has been under fire for two days over the alleged laxity of measures taken to fight German submarines the chamber of deputies late last night voted its confidence in the present government by a vote of 310 to 173.

DANIELS PUTS STOP TO LEAK OF SECRETS OF NAVY TO ENEMY

Orders Persons in Navy to Refrain From Discussing Matters With Outsiders.

Washington, June 9.—(U. P.)—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels today tightened the screws on enemy spies when he promulgated stringent regulations which will prevent persons in the navy from discussing naval and military matters even with members of their own immediate families. Daniels insisted that new regulations are not in any way aimed at American newspapers, though the order partly closes usual legitimate news sources. His order followed a statement early in the day saying that a plot was afoot to spread stories of disaster involving the United States navy. He cited instances of "battle reports" including sinking of the Pennsylvania and Texas and killing and wounding of many American sailors. None of the stories is true, he added, and promised that if disaster comes, the navy department will not attempt to hide or minimize it. "Officers, enlisted personnel and civilian employes are directed not to discuss any question relating to the disposition, movements, or proposed movements of naval or military forces at any time except officially, either among themselves or with any person outside the naval service," the order says. "It should be clearly understood that families and relatives are to be considered as outside the naval service." The order points out that a quiet talk at home might easily be spread about the neighborhood and reach the ears of spies.

Anyone trying to obtain prohibited information "should be regarded with suspicion and reported without delay to the proper authorities," the order says.

Hanover Police Are Found to Be Robbers

Berlin, June 9.—The city of Hanover was terrified recently by an alarming increase of burglaries. Almost every night several business houses, mostly clothing and jewelry stores, were entered and stripped of goods. All efforts of the local police to catch the thieves remained futile. Berlin detectives have now succeeded in rounding up the gang. The arrest of the burglars brought an unexpected sensation because their leaders turned out to be two police patrolmen named Kaempff and Gremmel. The former confessed he took an active part in 87 burglaries. Gremmel did not enter the plundered stores and residences, but kept watch while Kaempff and the gang were at work and warned them of danger by signals when another policeman turned up.

Los Angeles Man Is Farm Loan Official

Los Angeles, June 9.—(P. N. S.)—William H. Joyce, manager of the San Francisco Mission Land company, and university graduate, has been appointed secretary of the federal farm loan bank. Mr. Joyce was notified of his appointment in a telegram from United States Senator Phelan. This position will require Mr. Joyce to make his permanent headquarters in Berkeley, Cal. The new secretary will take his oath of office within a few days.

Stanford Will Quit Raising of Stock

Palo Alto, Cal., June 9.—(P. N. S.)—The trustees of Stanford university announced today that the school has decided to quit the stock raising business, and will lease its two big ranches at Vina and Durham, in Butte county. The property which totals 78,000 acres will be divided into small tracts and farm houses will be built. The famous herd of 300 Hereford-Friesian cattle has already been sold for $37,000, and 48 Holstein steers were sold for $4700. Need of money is given by the trustees as the reason for their decision.

GERMAN APPEALS FOR PEACE ARE SPURNED BY RUSSIAN COUNCIL

Efforts Being Made by Wireless From German Commanders Called Plot.

U. S. MISSION INTERESTS

Dispatches Say Root and Fellow Commissioners Are Being Accorded Enthusiastic Receptions.

By William G. Shepherd Petrograd, June 9.—(U. P.)—Germany is changing her peace tactics. The Stockholm peace conference having failed, she is now working direct with Russian soldiers on the eastern front.

Dispatches today revealed the amazing story of how Austrian General Rohr had instructed each of his regiments to attempt a separate peace agreement with the opposing Russian fighters. Tonight the soldiers and workmen's council made public details of a wireless message picked up by Russian field stations, sent by German troop commanders at the instance of their commanders-in-chief, and urging Russian troops to agree to a separate and secret armistice agreement. The message suggested a meeting between Russian and German delegates to arrange an agreement for a cessation of all fighting.

The resolution of the soldiers' and workmen's council spurning the German wireless appeals for peace declassified. "The German commander-in-chief wireless our troops a proposal for an armistice in order that secret negotiations for peace might be held. It was argued that such an armistice did not offer Germany advantage. This is untrue. The German general forgets that Russia knows the overthrow of the allies would mean the overthrow of Russia and the end of her political liberty."

Junior Naval Reserve Is Seeking Recruits

The Oregon Junior Naval reserve, formed a little more than a week ago with Lieutenant Hart, recruiting officer for the United States navy, in charge, is looking for recruits. Boys between the ages of 12 and 16 and not less than 5 feet tall will be admitted and given an opportunity to get acquainted with the life of Uncle Sam's sailors. The reserve has its headquarters at the navy recruiting station in the Dekum building, Jack Foley being the youthful recruiting officer.

Portland Woman Dies on S. P. Train

San Francisco, June 9.—(P. N. S.)—Mrs. Jolly Gieslepe of Portland, 63 years old, who was on her way to visit relatives in Los Angeles, died suddenly Friday night after she had boarded a Southern Pacific train at the Oakland mole. She had been advised by physicians that a trip south might benefit a chronic case of asthma, with which she was afflicted, and she was making the journey in company with her husband when stricken. The body is at the morgue.

The Man Who Cheats His Patient Cheats Himself. Many Dentists Who Find Business Dull Can Find the Cause in High Prices and Poor Work. My offices might well be termed "A Dental Clearing House"—sooner or later patients from Dentists of high and low degree come to me. I have become so familiar with the "style of work" turned out by various Dentists that I can frequently tell a patient who did his work, after an examination. And right here I might say that the genius who wrote "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" must have had some Poor Dentist in mind—for I have seen such evidence of incompetence, neglect and downright dishonesty covered up by gold crowns that I have wondered how a man who places the symbols "D. D. S." after his name can be guilty of such arrant quackery. I have removed crowns from aching teeth and found open cavities filled with pus. I have found others with the filling loose, and even exposed nerves—and some of these cases were former patients of well known Dentists. I PRIDE MYSELF ON THE FACT that my examinations and advice are entirely honest and based on the actual requirements of the patient. If a tooth can be saved, we save it. If a small filling is sufficient, that is all we advise. If a crown or bridge work is necessary, I personally guarantee that the tooth will be placed in an absolutely perfect condition before it is crowned, and the cost will be less than the same work can be done for elsewhere. Open Nights. We are always busy, because our success is due to the fact that we do the very best at very lowest prices.
