HE final meeting for the season, together with a picnic, was enjoyed Wednesday by the Y. W. C. A. chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the beautiful country home of Mrs. K. F. Wallace on Gresham Heights. A basket luncheon was taken with the hostesses and other dainties. Following the luncheon there was a business meeting, when the regent, Mrs. Edward Alden Beals, offered her resignation, which will leave soon to make her home in San Francisco. The chapter protested against its acceptance, and the vice regent, Mrs. W. H. T. Green, presided during the remainder of the year. The chapter was in receipt of a letter from the state regent advising the state chapter to adopt a trench war orphan, and it was decided to not only do the required share of this, but the members decided personally to adopt another orphan, a child of the necessary sum being at once subscribed by one member and the remainder by others. The chapter will continue the trench work throughout the summer, sewing each Thursday at Lipman & Wolfe's. The marker for the end of the old trail in Oregon City will soon be ready. The tablet, suitably engraved, has arrived, and was shown at the meeting Tuesday. The marker will be a slab of granite or a boulder.

Dallas D. A. M. Meets.—The Daughters of the American Revolution met at the home of Mrs. R. Y. Morrison. A short business meeting was held and plans were formulated to organize a Red Cross branch in connection with the Dallas auxiliary. Mrs. L. Patterson, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Oregon, was present at the meeting and gave an interesting account of her trip east in behalf of the state organization. A flag day program was given and several interesting papers were read. Late in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

Eugene Tourist Club.—The educational system of India was found very interesting by the Eugene "Tourists" when they made their weekly stop on Monday at the home of Mrs. George Bay where her sister, Miss Elizabeth Graves, was hostess. The colleges of India it was found follow closely English models. Indian education is taught in many of the schools until the high school grades where English is introduced. Coeducation exists in medical and law departments to a small extent, but very well as in the grades, education is principally for boys. Mrs. Richard Barnborn of Salem, a former club member, was a special guest. Tomorrow's journey will take the club to the home of Mrs. H. D. Sheldon, in University street.

Central W. C. T. U. Meets.—Mrs. M. T. Hadden was re-elected president Central W. C. T. U. at the meeting held Wednesday afternoon. There were 18 votes and the other candidate, Mrs. Hattie Wilson, receiving 11. Officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. T. M. Diamond; recording secretary, Mrs. Gertrude Woodard; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Daughlin; treasurer, Mrs. Edith Allen. The reports of officers and department heads were given. Mrs. Leeavenport outlined the plan for the special patriotic work which is being kept up throughout the state by the members of the union and their friends.

Portland Progress Club.—The Portland Progress club, one of the smallest study clubs of the city, has closed another pleasant and successful year. The closing meeting being in the nature of a social affair and luncheon. The club has devoted its study to music during the past year, taking up the historical, political and literary aspects of the country. Mrs. Lawrence Phillips is the president of the club.

Children's Market to Open.—Extensive plans are being made for the opening of a children's market July 1. The arrangements are in the hands of Mrs. Edson J. Steele, chairman of the market committee of the Portland Parent-Teacher council. Arrangements have been made to erect stalls on Samhill, between First and Second streets, where the children can market the products of their home and school gardens from 9 until 12 every morning. A set of rules similar to those governing the market conducted by adults has been drawn up by the market master, and the children are

WAR TIME COOKERY

Because of the peculiar food value of eggs, their relative freedom from waste, and the ease with which they may be prepared, their use as meat substitutes at least is often desirable even when a consideration of their price alone would not so indicate. This is stated in a recently published professional paper of the office of home economics of the United States department of agriculture, department bulletin 471. It is pointed out, however, that while this is true of eggs served as one of the principal dishes of a meal, it often is not true of eggs used in cakes, puddings and other desserts along with meats. It is in the latter use of eggs that the housewife who wishes to economize can try especially to curtail consumption. A fact which makes this latter practice easier is that with the present availability of baking powders, corn starch, gelatin, etc., the use of eggs to impart lightness or to thicken liquids is not now essential as it was in the past.

Food Elements in Eggs
The principal food element furnished by eggs is protein, the nitrogenous tissue-building element whose presence in considerable proportions also gives meats, fish, milk, cheese, etc., their special food value. Eggs can, therefore, be substituted in the diet for the latter foods without materially altering the proportion of protein consumed. In addition to protein eggs also furnish fat and a number of valuable mineral elements, including sulphur, phosphorus, iron, calcium and magnesium in an easily assimilable form, and are believed also to be rich in certain essential vitalizing elements called vitamins.

Wholesomeness of Eggs
Though wholesomeness when fresh and clean, eggs may be decidedly unwholesome when old or dirty. The housewife should be careful when buying, therefore, to choose eggs which are clean and fresh as possible. Similarly, the producer of eggs should keep nests clean and sanitary and should collect eggs frequently. It is also well to insure the production of eggs with good keeping qualities by producing only infertile eggs after the hatching season.

How to Select Eggs
In addition to cleanliness and freshness, the housewife when purchasing eggs should consider size and freedom from cracks. Eggs vary so in size that a dozen large and a dozen small eggs purchased at the same price per dozen may vary as much as 25 per cent in the value of the food elements furnished. Perhaps the fairest way to buy or sell eggs is by weight. Because of the wide variations in the size of eggs, it is also coming to be recognized that more accurate results in recipes can be obtained by weighing or measuring the eggs out of their shells. Cracked eggs are undesirable because the breaking of the shell makes possible the entrance of bacteria and filth.

Strong Play at Columbia
WITH settings that swing from lawyers' offices, luxurious homes and clubrooms to a well known tenderloin basement cabaret and back again to a courtroom scene, in which more than 300 persons are used, and with the well known "best" of Louise Glaum, in the stellar role, "Love or Justice" which opened today at the Columbia, made a distinct impression. The play is a strong one of love and sacrifice, of a brilliant lawyer who, from use of drugs, sinks to the lowest slums; of his redemption through the influence of a beautiful, though sullied, woman, and of her sacrifice to save him from a loadstone again to weight him down to degradation. Then there comes the woman's regeneration and her purification, after which, in later years, the lawyer and the woman meet again and the man acknowledges and pays the debt of gratitude. The play is rapid in action, sumptuous in settings and the tone is decidedly uplifting. "Whisper of Wood" and "Marriage Failure," two excellent comedies, complete the Columbia bill.

Tangle Becomes Worse Tangled
Confusion worse confounded can be the only condition of mind of those who see the tenth chapter of Fate's great serial, "The Mystery of the Double Cross," in which Mollie King is starred. Peter Hale, who is in love with the mystery girl, seems now about to solve the mystery of whether Philippa Brewster and the mystery girl are the same. Philippa has been injured and Peter decides to call and extend his condolences. When Philippa greets him she expresses surprise at his allusions to the mishap. Peter decides to watch the girl. He catches her entering the masked stranger's house and on visiting there is told Philippa has never been at the house. Going back to the Brewster home, he finds Philippa, who upbraids him for having her sweetheart, Bentley, thrown into jail. Other important happenings in this chapter are the mysterious return of Philippa's father, Bentley's efforts to secure his confession of his dastardly crime and his plan to compromise Philippa so as to compel her to marry him.

Both Chaplin and Mystery
Charlie Chaplin's "Immigrant" will be continued at the Star throughout the week. The comedy is an excellent one, by some considered the best that Chaplin has ever produced. It has drawn crowded houses and undoubtedly will continue to until it is withdrawn. The tenth episode of Fate's "Mystery of the Double Cross" will comprise the rest of this excellent bill.

Interest Held Throughout
It has been long since a more entertaining and picturesque photoplay has reached the screen than "The Captain of the Mystery Horse Troop," which is the weekend feature at the Majestic. Its entire six reels are justified and the interest does not flag for a second. The Indian types and characterizations, the acting of Antonio Moreno and Edith Storey, with others in the cast; the splendid exteriors and, withal, the well conceived and coherent story combine to make this a picture far above the average program feature. The story from the

BARGAINING AS OUR BIT
What better way to do our "bit" than by recognizing bargains when we see them and by taking advantage of them?

In other words, what better way than by continuing to live as usual, without apprehension, without undue excitement, and with the same trust in the kind providence which we have ever found ready to manage the world's affairs.

CREAM CAKES Boll together 1 cup of water and 1/2 cup of butter. Add 1 cup of flour all at once and beat vigorously. When the mixture forms a ball, cut it from the saucpan remove from the fire and break in 4 eggs, one at a time, beating for 2 minutes after each egg. Drop the mixture into a buttered pan and bake about 30 minutes in a moderate oven. When cold split and fill. Filling—Mix 1/2 of a cup of sugar, 1/4 cup of flour and 2 eggs. Pour on this 1 pint of hot milk and cook in double boiler for 10 minutes. Add 1/2 cup of lemon or vanilla extract.

Escaloped celery and eggs.—Let 1 cup or more of diced celery simmer in water until tender. Then pour off the water and add to the water 1 cup milk. Make a sauce by adding to this well known novel deals with the ill-treatment the Redskins received from unscrupulous politicians and their henchmen and details the experiences of a young officer who believes in the unfortunate Indians' good intentions. He is beset by cattlemen who seek to exterminate the remnants of the tribe, but in the end gains his point and the daughter of a scheming senator—his sworn enemy—as well. A comedy, a complete scenic and The Oregon Journal-Hearst-Pathé pictured news also are shown.

Bill Exceptionally Fine
The bill opening at the Hippodrome this afternoon was an exceptionally fine one. Van Perre and Van Perre, Belgian refugees, who made their way from Antwerp when the invading German guns were demolishing the outer forts of that city, were the favorites at the show. These entertainers appear in their native garb. They offer an excellent wooden shoe dance, and their xylophone playing is remarkable. Walters and Walters, with a ventiloquist act, are very clever. The yodeling duet by the Jay figures is a clever climax. Archie Colby presents "Coke and Butts," a thumblin' version of "Potash and Perlmutter," without the Montague Glass expertness. Rambler sisters' dances demonstrate conclusively that the familiar "sister team" still has possibilities for entertainment. Tom Patricola and Ruth Myers, who bill themselves "The Girl and the Dancing Fool," are dancers and comedy purveyors. Leon and Adline sisters, a clown and two husky young

2 tablespoons of flour creamed with 2 tablespoons of butter, and salt and pepper to taste. When thick add the egg and put a layer in the bottom of the buttered casserole. Chop two or three hard-cooked eggs and add a layer to the casserole. Alternate until dish is filled. Cover the top with coarse buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until brown. The eggs should be cooked by being in water just below the boiling point for 20 minutes. Then remove and put in cold water. The bread crumbs are more evenly buttered by crumbling the bread into one or two tablespoons of melted butter and mixing well.

PUBLIC IS WARNED AGAINST PAYING FOR GRANT FILING FEES

Secretary of Interior Says Lands Will Not Be Distributed Until Classified.

Warning that money spent by those desiring to secure filings on Oregon & California grant lands in payment of location fees would be lost and that no preference rights can be secured has again been issued by the secretary of the interior.

L. L. Sharp, special agent in charge of the Oregon & California grant land classification work, is in receipt of a notice from the secretary of the interior who asks that full publicity be given the same.

The notice says that no disposition of the grant lands can or will be made until the work of classification has been completed and the back taxes paid. It also sets out that there is no way by which preference rights may be secured under the law, and that any fees paid to so called locators will be money lost so far as the prospective settlers are concerned.

It is the policy of the department that when the lands are ready to be thrown open for settlement and entry the public is to be notified thereof so that every one will have an equal opportunity and an equal chance. This policy will be strictly adhered to, the statement concludes.

The work of classification will be again commenced within the next few days, according to Mr. Sharp. Approximately one half of the grant has already been classified.
